Three large gray hoot owls shown in the window of the Hauser Brothers store aroused much interest Saturday afternoon. The night flyers were captured by S. Earl Taylor, superintendent of the county farm and were members of a family of four that have made the district north of this city their headquarters for several weeks. Two of the owls were youngsters, not yet a year old but nearly full grown. Mr. Taylor plans to give the birds to some park. One nature lover observed that it would be a good plan to give the silent hunters their liberty as this species of owls is given credit for being efficient rodent graders.

Notice of firm name and underwriting were filed with County Clerk Poyer, Monday, by the Real Printer Company, having headquarters in Salem, Incorporated of the firm are Chas. H. Vick, W. H. Lerchen and Esther E. Lerchen. The new firm will manufacture, sell and patent printing devices.

Mrs. M. L. Fulkerson, rural supervisor, and Mrs. Blanche M. Jones, editor of the Oregon Teachers Monthly, were judges.

Walter L. Toozee, Sr., who for the past week has been traveling with Dow V. Walker, Oregon manager for General Wood, returned to Salem Saturday evening. Mr. Toozee, who is the western Oregon organizer of Wood for president clubs has been traveling in the interest of the campaign.

Because of dates formerly agreed upon conflicting with the junior week end at the University of Oregon in which a great many club members are interested, the older boys conference of the Marion county Hi-Yi clubs was postponed indefinitely. It had been the intention of the boys to hold the conference on May 14, 15 and 16.

Following a week of active propaganda in the various schools of the city, the directors of the floral society will meet this evening in the Commercial club at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of making more definite plans toward making Salem a City Beautiful. As a result of the campaign carried on in the schools a number of them have already begun activities toward beautifying the park strips and cleaning the alleys, while another is planting shrubbery along the banks of the streams and mill races that run thru the town. Men who spoke in the schools last week were Reverend James Elvin, at the Lincoln and Richmond; William McGuffee, at the Garfield; W. M. Hamilton, at the Washington; B. W. Macy, at the High Park; Dr. F. L. Utter, at the Highland. Mrs. C. H. Chapel, secretary of the local Red Cross, was the only woman who spoke. She addressed the children at the Englewood school.

The Marion county grand jury returned Monday morning. At the present time the jury is supposed to be working on the investigation of the state treasurer's office. Last week several accountants were called before the jury, this indicating that the anticipated expiring of the books had been accomplished. A return on the matter is looked for within the next few days.

Cleveland, O., Apr. 19.—One hundred and thirty-five Pennsylvanian railroad men this afternoon voted to return to work Wednesday morning. At another meeting of 200 striking Pennsylvania employees no vote was taken but 150 yardmen attending decided to return to work tomorrow morning, according to those attending the meeting.

New Law Embodies Difficulties For Veterans, Claim

Ex-service men who are citizens of this county and state are taking advantage of the new law which provides that all county clerks shall record service certificates without charge.

Mrs. M. R. Brooks, recorder for Marion county, states that the new law relieves crowded recording departments of one line of instruments. The Marion county recorder points out a possible short-coming of the statute, however, in that it separates the instruments into two collections, as a great number of Marion county ex-service men have already had their release documents recorded. These are held in the

from this date will be retained in the clerks' offices, giving a chance for great confusion in future years when the veterans' discharge papers are needed in various matters.

Several ex-service men have also pointed out that the new law discriminates between those who safeguarded their certificates immediately and who were obliged to pay the regular fee before the passage of the law. The following discharges have been filed with Clerk Boyer:

Paul C. Maurer, 1st sergeant, infantry; enlisted March 16, 1917, served in France December 11, 1917, to June 16, 1918; discharged June 31, 1918; present address, 291 North Commercial St., Salem.

Eugene Eckeloff, 605 North Liberty street, Salem, corporal, infantry; enlisted March 26, 1917; in France December 11, 1917, to June 19, 1918; discharged June 30, 1919.

Private Daniel Tarpley, 37th engineers; enlisted July 4, 1917; with A. E. F., September 10, 1918, to February 2, 1919; discharged February 27, 1919.

Old Moody Home Bought Thursday By Thomas Kay

The old home of Ex-Governor Moody skirting by Court, Winter and Chemeketa streets, has been bought by Thomas B. Kay, owner of the T. B. Kay woolen mills, for $25,000, it became known today. Contract for purchase of the property was signed last Thursday.

Mr. Kay said today that he plans to remove the present building from the site and to erect four or five other residences on the property. This property is held one of the most desirable residential sites in the city. Mr. Kay said that he has not yet decided when to begin work in removing the old home of Ex-Governor Moody, and that his plans for building are now only tentative.

Benton County Sheriff Buried

The funeral of C. W. Taylor, deputy sheriff of Benton county, who died in Corvallis last Friday, was held from the Church of the Good Samaritan Sunday, April 18, Rev. Edmund T. Simpson officiating.

Mr. Taylor was born in New York, October 28, 1863, but has been a resident of Oregon for a great many years. He is survived by his widow, a member of the pioneer Beeson family of Oregon, and four daughters and one son. He leaves also his mother, Mrs. William Taylor, a sister, Miss Grace Taylor, both of Salem, and a sister, Mrs. Bertha Hallow of Evanston, Illinois.

Carrying Liquor Over State Lines By Auto Illegal

Washington, Apr. 19.—In deciding a belated appeal, the supreme court today held that transportation by the owner of intoxicating liquors into a dry state by means of his own automobile was a violation of the Reed "bone dry" amendment. The opinion was rendered in government appeals from federal court decrees quashing part of an indictment against Everett L. Simpson, who was charged with carrying intoxicants from Wyoming into Colorado.

Associated Justice Van Devanter, in rendering the opinion, said the taking of intoxicants from one state to another was interstate commerce, no matter how transported.

Grand Jury Frees Lund And Wife Of Bootleg Charges

Vancouver, Wash., Apr. 19.—Oscar Lund and his wife Bertha, who were bound over to the United States district court from here on charges of illegal transportation of liquor and attempting to smuggle it from one state to another, have been set free by a federal grand jury. The Clarke county officers begin a battle proper definitely that the 150 quarts of liquor alleged to have been in their possession prior to their arrest actually belonged to them.

The Lunds were arrested on the Columbia river interstate bridge early in the morning of January 30, after an all-night chase which began at Kalama, thirty miles from here and ended

Hurt Once Drove Portland Jitneys

Portland, Or., Apr. 19.—Richard Hurt, arch-bigamist suspect under arrest in Los Angeles, operated two jitneys in Portland during 1915 under the name of A. R. Maurice, according to Joseph Hutchinson, city license inspector. Hutchinson said today that a jitney license was issued to Maurice February 3, 1915.

In the list of aliases used by Hurt, Hutchinson saw the name Maurice and said he remembered the man because of his peculiar pronunciation of the name and also because the bureau had much trouble with Maurice.

In addition Hurt is said to have a maimed hand and Hutchinson for a time withheld granting the license because Maurice had a bad hand.
