AN ALLAN garden setting, with its gleaming balustrades and potted plants, will be one of the many magnificent touches which will make the "Awakening of Spring" pageant, to be given by the pupils of Mrs. Ralph White for the benefit of the new hospital, one of the choicest bits of entertainment ever presented in Salem.

The second act of the pageant will be in the form of a garden party. It will open with a vocal solo, by one of the city's most gifted and best loved singers, Miss Ada Miller. This will be followed by a domino dance by the senior pupils, and the dance of the witches by Marie Patton, Jeannette Patton, Katherine Sheldon, Eleanor Wright, Jane Harrison, Katherine Gouley, Mildred Schmidt, Helen Ralph, Isabel Mathews, Maxine Clark and Marjorie Webb.

The vocal solo by William Harris, assisted by the chorus, which is next in order, promises to be exceptionally pleasant, as does the Spanish dance by Wilma Coursey, Clara Cornell, Lucille Downing, Henrietta Dishon, Leone Davidson and Elizabeth Waters.

Frances Ward, who is becoming recognized as a singer of talent, will also appear on the program as soloist, with the chorus. One of the daintiest samples of terpsichorean art on the entire program will be the Japanese dance by the following:

Elizabeth Waters, Dorothy Stafford, Eloise Wright, Dorothy Belle, Elaine Browne, Doris Kirk, Louise Schmidt, Velma Coursey, Francis Martin, Loretta Fischer, Leone Davidson and Hazel Martin.

This will be followed by one almost as clever, "The Clown Dance," by Chandler Brown, Jack Harrison, Howard Wilson, Tommy Livesey and Bert Hoff.

Cynthia Delano and Maxine Myers will render the Juneteenth duet, followed by a similar one by Sherman Pimpton and Mildred Roberts. The "Coppertie" by Henry Thielson and Jeannette Sykes, will be supplemented by a performance by the dancing dolls: Marjorie Webb, Margaret Belle, Eloise Wright, Jeannette Patton, Frederick Thielson and Marie Patton.

Miss Johanna James, a popular favorite in musical and social circles in the city, will sing the Goodnight waltz, accompanied by the chorus.

The entire production promises to come up to the excellent standard by which Mrs. White's affairs are always judged. The principal performance will take place Friday evening, April 23, followed by a children's matinee Saturday afternoon, May 1. Both performances will be identical, but because of the limited seating capacity of the Opera house it was considered advisable to give a special matinee for the children.

Miss Carol S. Dibble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dibble of 723 North Liberty street, has returned home after spending the winter in Seattle. Miss Dibble has been attending the Cornish School of Music where she studied under Mrs. Margaret Prendergast McLean, in the dramatic expression department of the Cornish school. She plans to spend the summer in the capital city.

Saturday evening the Junior Epworth league of the Leslie Memorial church was delightfully entertained at a taffy pull sponsored by the senior league. The hosts, dressed as children, helped make merry by joining heartily in the juvenile games.

As a social compliment to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schmidt, Mrs. Harry Wiedner entertained a coterie of intimate friends at a well appointed dinner on Friday evening. A glowing bouquet of forget-me-nots, lilies of the valley and other dainty spring flowers centered the table at which covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. John Brophy, Mr. and Mrs. George Riches, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wenderoth, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Glover and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wiedner.

Thursday evening, April 15, at the home of her brother L. W. Wise, 1071 East Ninth Street North, Miss Frances H. Wise, was married to L. J. Matthews of Portland, Judge George H. Burnett of this city, performing the ceremony. The ring service was used. The bride was beautiful in a gown of pale blue silk, tastefully combined with cream silk lace. She carried a bridal bouquet of pink Ophelia roses. Eugene Wise, aged two years, dressed as cupid, carried the ring in a lovely basket; Mrs. Burnett played the wedding march.

The house was beautifully decorated in green and white, the ceremony being performed under a huge white wedding bell. The table at which a delicious dinner was served was centered with a great bouquet of pink and white carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. L. W. Wise of this city. She has a number of years here, and was for a number of years employed in Meyer's store. After May 1 the young couple will be at home to their friends at 1614 Rodney Avenue, Portland.

A temporary county organization of women's clubs was formed Friday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. rooms, when delegates from seven clubs assembled. At the meeting Miss Matty Beatty was elected temporary chairman, and Mrs. F. H. Thompson of Willard, was chosen secretary. A convention was planned for May 20, at which the organization will be completed, and at which the Salem Women's club will be known to the visiting delegates.

Delegates attending were Mrs. J. W. Baker, of Aurora, Mrs. D. H. Looney of Jefferson, Mrs. Hiram Overton of Woodburn, Mrs. Hugh B. Lathen of Woodburn, Mrs. F. L. Purvine of the North Salem Women's club, and Miss Matty Beatty of the Salem Women's club.

Miss Joy Turner will present a group of her violin and piano pupils recital on Friday evening, April 23, at the home of Mrs. M. E. Church, Miss Turner has arranged a very attractive program which is open to the public. An optional feature will be a violin concert which is composed of the following: "March," Charles Hagenman, George Harris, Martha Hill, Lois Sharpe, Josephine, Gerald Rubin, Robert Johnson, Maxine Roth, Carroll Smith, Harold Rupert, Noble...

ening by the superintendent of that institution, it being the close of their first year's service there, as well as their birthday anniversary.

Remembering they were from Salem, the Cherry City, the house was decorated in cherry red mingled with green, the centerpieces being a handsome basket of red carnations with red streamers connecting to the cherry-decorated place cards, the menus as well as flowers also being in most effective combination of the prevailing colors. The crowning decoration of the table was a huge birthday cake with the appropriate number of candles, also in cherry red. At the close of the dinner hour, a presentation was made to Mr. and Mrs. Lynch of two handsome rockers as gifts of appreciation from the officers and girls of the Institution for their faithful services during the past year, as well as birthday remembrances. The evening was spent with music and delightfully otherwise, at the conclusion of which the recipients of the evening favors expressed their appreciation and fresh interest and enthusiasm in the work of the institution.

Mr. and Mrs. George Riches opened their lovely home Saturday evening, when they entertained a coterie of friends in a farewell attention to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schmidt who leave soon for Brighton, Ontario, Canada. Five Hundred was the diversion of the evening. Art baskets of spring flowers, placed about the rooms added a cheerful note to the party. Guests at the delightful affair Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wenderoth, Mr. and Mrs. John Brophy, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Glover, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wiedner, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Riches.

Mrs. R. C. Magee entertained the members of the Jolly club at their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon. White carnations were used as clever decorations for the house and a delicious luncheon was served at the close of the afternoon. Guests in attendance were Mrs. C. C. Crowe, Mrs. I. D. Goodman, Mrs. A. B. Browning, Mrs. F. J. Boehringer, Mrs. C. H. Peterson, Mrs. J. P. Van Oetrol and Miss W. L. Hatch.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. C. H. Peterson.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lettenmaier moved to Oregon City from this place a year ago and were prominently connected in the section north of Hubbard.

A legless woman, who has been an attraction with a circus in the east is married now, and a contemporary remarks that this is a case wherein her husband won't have to worry about her running around.

Miss Cora J. Cooley of Portland was united in marriage to John J. Rose of Panama on Thursday, April 15, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cooley near Harrisburg. The wedding song, "I Love You Truly," was sung by Mrs. Lester McKullips, accompanied by Miss Arnolds. The wedding march played by Miss Anna Brown. Simplicity of detail was performed by Rev. Appleburg, pastor of the Christian church of Harrisburg. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The house was charmingly decorated in evergreen with draperies of shell pink and Nile green ribbons, and baskets of pink carnations. The ceremony was performed under a large white wedding bell.

The bride was gowned in ivory charmeuse and georgette crepe. The full wedding veil with coronet head dress of rose-pointed lace and orange blossoms was worn. Her flowers were pink orchids, with bridal roses and white sweet peas.

The bridesmaids attending were Miss Lucille Wyatt of Amity, who wore a smart frock of pink georgette crepe, and her only sister, Miss Verna wearing a stunning frock of silver-net-rose Nile green satin. Both carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas. Warren and Lee Cooley, brothers of the bride were best men. The mother of the bride wore a purple colored satin dress and a corsage bouquet of violets and roses.

A banquet followed the ceremony the table being draped in shell pink and Nile green ribbons which hung from the ceiling to the place cards of the guests, and the centerpiece of ferns, and kewpies dressed to represent bride and groom.

Many lovely and costly presents were given the happy couple by their relatives and friends. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cooley, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Simpson, of Salem, Mrs. Brown, Mr. Cotton, Dr. and Mrs. Clark and Earl Monroe and Marcel Cooley, Will Morse and Cecil McKeerber.

Letter Tells of Good Wages and Low Prices-1792

A letter received recently by County Recorder Mildred Robertson Brooks from her son, Russell Brooks, who is vice consul at Rotterdam, Holland, tells of conditions in the Dutch monarchy. Strikes have progressed to such an extent that ocean travel from Holland ports is seriously hampered. Mr. Brooks states that passengers who had secured reserved bookings on passenger vessels from Rotterdam are being compelled to wait for indefinite periods, the next possible sailing being promised for the latter part of April.

The following letter may be of interest to Salem readers who are wondering about the H. C. L. "New York, Oct. 9th, 1792. "Dearest beloved Mama, We arrived here the 3rd of this month at 11 p. m. after having had a very happy crossing as far as time is concerned. The journey was very short as we came in sight of the American coast the 23rd day after we had left. Then the sea became dead calm, after that we had three thunder storms, two were very fierce and the third, a real gale, proved to be almost fatal to our ship as we were amid such very thick mist that we could not see any further than the ship. The next day we saw a brig which had been capsized on the coast. We arrived the 6th day into this town's harbour. We only left the ship next day at twelve. One has to follow the river Hudson for 30 miles before entering the New York harbour. On one side is what is called Long Island, very beautiful country, very well cultivated, as well as the State of New York; many hills but no mountains. The town is much like that of Haarlem (Holland). The houses are mostly built with bricks and painted in the Dutch fashion, everything looks clean. There is nothing magnificent though, no palaces which would make one envious, but no shack which would inspire pity. There are no more haughty rich people than there are miserably poor ones who are in need of everything.

Humanitarian and charitable institutions relieve and feed the lame and poor. "My husband went to the custom House for the inspection of our luggage and there he met one of his former American companions of war, Colonel Stevens, who acted very gallantly during the war in this country. Col. Stevens was very happy to meet my La Roche again and came the same day to pay me a visit. I believe we will have to spend the winter in New York town, the season is too much advanced to look for a place this winter. My husband is going to explore the country with friends to purchase a place that would suit us.

"The renting of houses as well as the wages paid to servants is very high, but the living quite cheap. The large market, which is open each morning is a fine place. All kinds of meat, poultry, river and sea-fish, oysters and big lobsters. A large choice of the best vegetables, fine fruit, such as peaches, pears, apples, to secure the day's supplies. These chestnuts, melons, etc. It is customary here that the Mr. or the Mrs. of a house come in the morning, followed by a servant carrying a basket are displayed in the market in the greatest order and cleanliness. There are many Dutch and French families here and they and Americans talk French well."

Perhaps the reader overlooked the date of the foregoing epistle, but the letter was written a few years after Revolutionary times and aptly illustrates the sympathy of the French people for Americans at that time.

This is a translation of the original, written by the Baroness E. de Franck de La Roche and is preserved as a family heirloom in family of Madame E. Luang, friends of Vice-Counsel Brooks, and forwarded by him in the Baroness La Roche, with their three children had just arrived from France. Being of the Hugonot faith they had fled from that country in order to escape the merciless persecution waged against the French Protestants of that time.

Body Of Hubbard Boy Drowned In River Unrecovered

Hubbard, Or., Apr. 24.—The body of Albert Lettenmaier, a former Hubbard boy who was drowned in the Willamette river below the falls at Oregon City last Monday afternoon, has not been recovered to date. The young man and a fellow workman from the Crown-Willamette mills were fishing after they had gone off shift. The boat from which they were trolling capsized when it struck a submerged piling and young Lettenmaier was unable to keep afloat in the seething water.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lettenmaier moved to Oregon City from this place a year ago and were prominently connected in the section north of Hubbard.

"THE COPPERHEAD"

To his country and Lincoln he had secretly given his all. Had accepted a task that could not be explained. Even his wife believed him a traitor.

Sneered at, hated, falsely convicted of murder, he uttered never a word. Only he and Lincoln knew how great was the things he had done.

Mighty Moments! The "Copperhead's" oath to President Lincoln. His secret intrigues with foes of the union. His fight in the clash of "Copperheads" and "Yanks." His false imprisonment for murder. His sacrifice when spurned by his wife and soldier son. The inspiring, wonderful end!

A picture you'll never forget!
