At what talent, training and effort can produce, the "The Awakening of Spring" at the Grand theater last evening was unequaled by any previous affair of the kind in the history of the city.

Under the direction of Mrs. Ralph White, sponsored by the Salem Women's club, and generously supported by the ladies of the Millier Country club the pageant fulfilled the generous promises had made about it.

Stage settings, costumes, every individual feature was a triumph of artistic endeavor. To give any particular dancer or set of dancers any mention above the others would be scarcely fair as each in its own sphere was a gem of terpsichorean art. No soloist or chorus could rightfully claim superiority over another, and it was this perfect equality of detail that made the "Awakening of Spring" the marvellous success that it proved to be.

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Douglas, of Tecumseh, Nebraska, who are touring the Pacific coast, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steele entertained a party of friends at a well appointed dinner at their home Sunday. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Douglas, Miss Corn Douglas, Lewis Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sherman, John Sherman, of Dayton, and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Clark, of Dayton, and the host and hostess. Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Kraemer of Independence, and Mrs. J. Richardson of Springfield, joined the party in the afternoon.

Mrs. Carl Wood went to Portland last Sunday to meet her sister Mrs. Harvey L. Newcomb (Beatrice Crawford) and small daughter, Joan L. Verne, of Cleveland, Ohio, who arrived here this week to visit with Mrs. Newcomb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Crawford. This is little Miss Joan's second trip across the continent before her first birthday anniversary. Mrs. Newcomb reports a very pleasant trip and says that Oregon looks better to her every time she returns. There are, she says, very few signs of spring in Cleveland.

Unique in every way was the party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bones of Turner, Friday evening, when they entertained a number of the Junior young people. The invitations were written backward and the guests were received at the back door. When the photographs of the guests were taken the hostess found that she had turned the camera backward, the result being that the pictures, when developed, proved to be the actual photographs of the guests as babies. May baskets containing individual lunches were distributed, the baskets being retained as favors. Tin cups were used to serve the fruitade, and the extra cookies and cake were served from large paper baskets. Thirty-five guests were in attendance.

The home of Mrs. George E. Terwilliger, on Chemeketa street, was the scene last evening of a large reception held in honor of Mrs. Jennie Bentley of Hood River, department commander of the Woman's Relief Corps, who came to Salem for the presentation of the flag to the Marines Wednesday evening in McCormick hall. Mrs. Terwilliger is patriotic instructor of the local organization of W. R. C.

The Terwilliger residence was beautifully decorated with a wealth of spring flowers, and light refreshments were served during the course of the evening. In the receiving line were Mrs. Terwilliger, Mrs. Mary Enten, president of Sedwick post, Mrs. H. M. Babcock, Mrs. Lizzie Smith, Mrs. A. E. Blum, Mrs. Lumonie Clark, Miss Edith Hendrick, Mrs. Hattie Cameron, Mrs. Helen Southwick, Mrs. Sarah Peterson and Mrs. Alice Davis. Mrs. Mary Knafory, Mrs. Bess Hagerdorn and Mrs. Jennie Miller assisted about the rooms.

evening, the pupils of Miss Joy Turner were presented in recital, the feature of the evening being a violin ensemble of 25 pupils. The affair was largely attended, the pupils being greeted with enthusiastic applause. The numbers were well rendered showing exceptional training and talent. Members of the ensemble are: Ross Harris, Robert Ramsden, Glenn Shedeck, Lois Sharp, Madeline Marlele, Merle Sikam, Nellie Simmons, Victor Hicks, Gordon Thomason, Carol Smith, Martha Hill, Margaret Eddy, Gailine Curry, Jacob Lindner, Lenora Meyers, Grace Stevens, Claudine Gerth, Edward Hersekson, Marvin Roth, Harold Rupert, Ernest Agenter, Charles G. Hagerman, George Stone, Gerald Kubin and Silas Coates.

Mr. and Mrs. George Elgin and daughter Helene, left today for a fortnight's visit in Seattle and Canada. While in the latter place they will be the guests of Mrs. Elgin's sister, Mrs. K. S. Bartlett.

turned from a several days visit with Mrs. William Burghardt has relatives and friends in Portland.

Miss Elizabeth Levy announces a recital of her violin students to take place Wednesday evening, her recitals are always large and interesting affairs. Features of the program will be Miss Levy's Violin Ensemble, which has appeared at the state fair for the past two years and was officially acknowledged as the leading musical attraction. This ensemble has now increased its membership to forty violinists, who are selected from Miss Levy's class, and is considered the largest organization of its kind in the state.

The Girl Reserves of the Washington Junior High school, a comparatively new organization in the city, sponsored by the national Y. W. C. A., was entertained delightfully by Mrs. R. E. Pomeroy at her new home on Marion street recently. Initiations occupied the early part of the evening, and were followed by an enjoyable social time. A delicious supper culminated the evening festivities. Mrs. Pomeroy is leader of this corps of the reserves.

The beautiful home of Mrs. Frederick Thielson, on Nob Hill, was the scene of the regular meeting of the music section of the Salem Arts League Tuesday evening. An abundance of gay spring flowers was used artistically about the rooms. The study hour was in charge of Miss Dorothy Pearce.

One of the prettiest affairs of the kind during the present season was the farewell party for Mrs. Charles Miller, given by Mrs. James Linn, of the Hotel Marion recently. Spring flowers were used as a dainty decorative motif for the affair, and the guests were Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Armin Steiner, Mrs. Arthur Rahn, Mrs. T. A. Roberts, Mrs. E. V. McMechen, Mrs. George Pendle, Mrs. Louis Joesse, of Portland, and Mrs. Clifford Farmer.

The Drama section of the Salem Arts League was graciously entertained at the lovely home of Mrs. William Hamilton Tuesday afternoon. It was the regular study hour of the class. At the close of the business session tea was served to ten guests.

The Three Link Needle Club held another of its enjoyable meetings on Friday afternoon at the Odd Fellow's hall. A very interesting program was given, consisting of music, readings and dialogues. At the close of the afternoon the hostesses, Mrs. Oren Noyes, Mrs. Ray Simmer, Mrs. Stanley Culver, Mrs. Richard Carlson and Mrs. Homer Ingrey served dainty refreshments to the sixty-two guests present. The next club meeting will be held May 7 at the hall.

I saw in the papers about Vegetable Compound so I tried it. Now I feel all right and can work better. You have my permission to publish this letter."

in order that it may be given a place on the November ballot.

The measure not only proposes that the state cede all rights in the reservation as set apart by executive order of President Roosevelt, to be federal government but proposes "That the people of Oregon request the national government change the name of said reservation and to designate it as 'The Roosevelt Bird Refuge' in memory of the president who set it apart as a reservation especially to preserve Oregon native waterfowl by protecting their nests and breeding grounds."

North Bend Mill Damaged By Fire

Marshfield, Or., April 30.—Fire resulting from an explosion in the engine room of the mill of Buchner Lumber company plant at North Bend Thursday, did damage estimated at $125,000. The loss to the plant is said to be fully covered by insurance, but further loss will be entailed because of a forced shut down of the plant for approximately thirty days.

The damage was confined to the engine and boiler rooms of the mill. No one was injured.

Clouds Make View Of Light Signals Possible Here

Only the presence of clouds above Portland last night enabled watchers here to detect the rays of light from the giant searchlight which was being tried out in Portland by the forest service. State Forester F. A. Elliott and C. C. Scott, deputy forester, observed the rays from the vantage point of the capitol dome. Because of intervening mountains it was not possible to direct the shaft of light over Salem. Another experiment will be made tonight when the searchlight will be taken to the top of Mount Tabor in Portland.

Extra Width Gives Extra Wear

The tread of a Horse-Shoe 5-inch Cord Tire is four inches wide, considerably wider than that of the average cord tire.

This extra wide tread adds greatly to the anti-skid qualities of the tire and gives longer life by distributing the wear over a larger surface. The unusual design of the edge of the tread overcomes any tendency of the tire to "climb" out of ruts.

You will note that this distinctive Horse-Shoe Tread is almost solid rubber throughout most of its 4-inch width.

Those who have used the Horse-Shoe Cord Tire tell us that a better cord tire has never been built. That is why we take pride in recommending it to you without any reservation whatsoever.
