

Poindexter's Name May Yet Go On Ballots

The ability of Senator Miles Poindexter to withdraw from the primary race for the republican nomination as a candidate for president of the United States in Oregon, will depend altogether upon the condition of the ballots in the various counties. If the ballots have been printed with the senator's name thereon it will remain there. If they have not been printed the county clerk will omit Poindexter's name and number therefrom, according to his personal request registered here today.

This is the instruction being sent to county clerks throughout the state by Sam A. Koser, deputy secretary of state upon the advice of Attorney General Brown.

In any event, however, there is no possibility of the senator receiving a refund of the three hundred dollars which he has paid into the coffers of the state for the privilege of occupying three pages of the voters pamphlet with his presidential propaganda. The pamphlet is already printed and, to a large extent, in circulation. The state has been put to the expense incident thereto and therefore the attorney general holds the senator is not entitled to any refund.

Poindexter in his request for a withdrawal of his name from the Oregon primaries states that pending legislation of vital importance makes immediate return to Washington imperative and will prevent the conduct of an active campaign in this state.

The advice of the attorney general to Koser today relative to the treatment of Poindexter's request is similar to that given in the case of S. B. Hughes of Portland who two years ago withdrew from the race for United States senator just before the primary date.

* BERRIES SEEN FROM THE *
* JOURNAL WINDOW *
* (By the Country Editor.) *

Seventy tons of berries rotting on the vines because of no market, at an approximate loss of $25,000, would discourage the ordinary grower in the valley, be he expert or novice. Such was the experience of W. L. Bentley, of Woodburn, during the season of 1915; but today he finds the present joys of his new industry better than any picture of a future paradise that was ever painted from a pulpit. All of the difficulties met by the experienced grower have been forgotten, so to speak, even to the immense loss sustained last winter when the vines of his big berry farm were frozen, and he has dropped gracefully into the responsibilities of the great industry, which means so much for the future of Oregon. A man who can plunge into the industry in the face of these conditions and stake his future on the efficiency of the same, is so full of faith that he ought to be talking from behind a pulpit instead of prancing around in a berry field giving orders to a bunch of helpers.

"It's a great game, this berry business," said Mr. Bentley, "and the people of Oregon only see it today in its infancy." His faith is so great in the loganberry possibilities that his yards have been expanded to include sixty-seven acres of highly cultivated berry land. His system of fertilizing between the rows, which he plows under the ground at this time of the year, and it has proven a great success.

Starting a few years ago with small capital, Mr. Bentley has developed a farm near Woodburn of immense value. His faith in this vocation has also made for him a reputation enjoyed by many. One thousand dollars per acre is said by persons familiar with the property, to be a nominal consideration—but the farm is not for sale at any price. What Mr. Bentley has achieved can be accomplished by others, and in years to come the husbandmen of Oregon will take hold of the industry like women take to religion.

"Top notch or nothing" should be the battle cry of every agriculturist in pursuing the industry, and with this slogan followed to the letter the farmers have found something that will exceed anything ever undertaken in the Willamette valley, if Mr. Bentley pictured it correctly—and from general appearances and previous results, he did.

Bentley is a mighty likable sort of a chap and has a way about him that always gets right in under your vest. An example of this characteristic in the man is seen in the fact that he is making plans just now to convert a beautiful grove on his farm adjacent to the Pacific highway into a beautiful and convenient camping ground for the use of tourists and all who find need of it.

Mr. Bentley is not only an extensive berry producer, but is an extensive voter. He is buying for the Puyallup Packing company at present, more than three hundred acres of berry lands between Woodburn and Hubbard. Last year he established a receiving station at Hubbard, erecting a building for that purpose, and this season he is erecting one at Carby where a receiving station will also be established.

"We are not afraid of the berry industry," said Mr. Bentley. "We haven't commenced to see the results in the valley as yet." This testimony in the face of his many discouragements, is worthy of consideration on the part of every farmer for he has a complete knowledge of the game from every angle. From twenty acres of berries last year he paid an income tax, and you know what that means. Had his crop not been damaged last winter, he said, he would have paid out approximately $9000 for labor this season. Mr. Bentley has just purchased a new tractor and a berry gang plow which he is operating in the yards at present.

"A great game" is right and deserves all manner of encouragement on the part of buyers, consumers and growers. It means the making of the Willamette valley. It means that the world, in future years, will recognize this as the most productive berry section that God gave to his people.

State Law Does Away With Annual Silverton Vote

Silverton, Or., May 4.—Yesterday, according to the city charter of Silverton, was the regular municipal election day, but owing to an opinion of the district attorney the state election law supersedes the charter and the matter of electing officers did not create the usual annual disturbance in this city. After the population has been officially pronounced Silverton will hold the primary elections at the time of the state primary election, but this year they will have to make the ticket and vote at the time of the state election.

Because a car driven in Portland Sunday night developed more speed in Portland than the law permits, Banker J. W. Hyett, according to reports received here last evening, was detained long enough to make the customary deposit to the police judge.

Today is "clean-up" day in Silverton and people are busy in all parts of the city. The chief of police has notified people that the matter of cleaning up will include old vehicles that have been standing on back street for a long time and become a public eyesore.

About twenty-five people of Silverton drove out to the Mike Zeis farm on the Abiqua Sunday and enjoyed a picnic.

A great leakage in the water reservoir has been discovered and the city of Silverton is now confronted with

I'll Show You How Housewives of America are Saving Thousands of Dollars!

We want every housewife in SALEM to know what Calumet Baking Powder is—how much it means in economy and better baking. We have gone to great expense to introduce Calumet to the ladies of this city and trust you were home when our lady representative called. If you have missed her do what millions of others have done—give Calumet a trial. All the housewives who have learned of Calumet have welcomed it, and all feel many times repaid for giving it a trial on account of the splendid results they now obtain from their bakings.

Calumet has proved itself of immense value in saving money—in saving materials and in producing the most tempting and wholesome bakings.

If You are Not Familiar with Calumet Learn the True Facts and decide for yourself. If Calumet is what we say it is—if it is what millions of housewives say it is, you want it. If it is not exactly what we claim, you won't use it. We leave the decision entirely to you, but don't allow anything to prevent your giving Calumet a trial.

Many housewives buy cheap brands with the idea they are saving money. They don't appreciate that uncertain baking powders are expensive at any price and waste vastly more than they cost. Others pay exorbitant prices supposing they are getting higher quality—when, in fact, they are paying more than the best baking powder in the world is worth.

To both classes of buyers Calumet reveals true baking powder economy. Its uniformity of quality—the highest quality that can be put into baking powder—prevents bake-day failures, spoiled materials and loss of time. Protecting you against rising food prices by insuring light, sweet, tasty pastry. It is the best baking powder that can be had—still it is moderate in price—costs less than Trust brands and but little more than cheap, unreliable brands. Calumet is economical in both cost and use.

Galumet Baking Powder is Used in Millions of Homes by leading Domestic Science Teachers, in Domestic Science Schools, Hotels, Restaurants and Railroads. It is preferred where standards of purity and economy are highest.
