Benham Falls Site For Reservoir To Be Favored, Belief

A favorable report on the feasibility of the Benham Falls reservoir site by W. O. Crosby, geological engineer, who was employed to make a survey of the site, is forecast in a telegram received by State Engineer Copper this morning from the United States reclamation service at Washington, D. C., which states that the report will be completed by May 14.

This means that construction work on the immense Benham Falls reservoir, the largest project of its kind ever attempted in Oregon, will be started this summer, according to members of the engineering department here. The proposed reservoir covers some 23,000 acres and will involve the construction of a dam 60 feet high. The reservoir will have a capacity of 550,000 acre feet, sufficient water, it is said to irrigate the 200,000 acres included in the big Deschutes irrigation project.

The construction of the reservoir will involve the expenditure of approximately $1,321,000.

Poster For Elks' Convention From Salem Man's Pen

An attractive poster, the work of Murray Wade, well known cartoonist, has been released by local lodge No. 336, B. P. O. E., and distributed throughout the country in advertising the convention to be held here, July 22, 23 and 24.

The poster is panel shaped and printed in the Elks' colors, all central figures being lightly toned in purple, accentuating the background of white. The figure of the elk's head is superimposed against the outlined capital building while the lower portion of the panel shows the Wilson Park fountain garlanded in festal style flanked right and left by the familiar "Salem cluster" lamps.

Mr. Wade and a New York artist submitted designs for the convention advertising, the Salem man being fortunate in having the winning poster.

Scout Drive For Funds Not Ended

Contrary to a statement published this morning, the Boy Scouts drive in Salem for $500 is not ended, and will be continued until the sum is raised, according to Harold Cook, scout executive, this afternoon.

As funds in the general campaign are coming in slowly the scouts have adopted another plan whereby they hope to increase their receipts. Beginning Monday they will gather all of the old paper in the city and sell it, converting the receipts to the council's treasury, it was announced.

Salvation Army Figure At $1600; More Held Need

Several hundred dollars more were reported at Salvation Army campaign headquarters in the Commercial club today, bringing the total receipts in the city's campaign to $1600, it was announced this afternoon. Solicitation is coming slow, due, it is said, to the lack of workers.

"I am confident that we will be able to put it over by the end of the week if we have more workers," A. C. Bohmstedt, chairman of the county campaign said. "Everywhere people seem in sympathy with the movement and I feel certain that if we had dress, looseness in social relations,

Spotlight Part Of Law To Change

That the ordinance might be more similar to that of the state law and the one in effect in Portland, the city council police committee, after a conference this afternoon with Chief of Police Welsh, announced that the city traffic ordinance clause making it prohibitive to use a spotlight in the city will be amended at the next meeting of the council.

The amendment will change the ordinance making it permissible to use a spotlight on an automobile so long as the rays of the light points in line with the right fender of the car and no farther ahead than 50 feet. This, it is claimed, will eliminate glaring rays from the eyes of the approaching motorist.

Folk Dancing Is Taught Football Players In East

Amherst, May 6.—Folk dancing as training for football is being given candidates for the Massachusetts Agricultural college eleven this spring.

Instead of lancing and charging against a tackling dummy, husky candidates for places on the "Aggies" line are being taught the intricacies and graces of the English folk dances.

Thirty men, with the broadness of shoulder and bulk of frame necessary to the efficient football lineman, are learning to do gracefully the handkerchief folk dance known as "Laudium Bunches" and to trip lightly through other steps of the old dancing school. For a time they were embarrassed as, waving handkerchiefs in the air they prouted on one toe with an arm and hand extended, but they have since taken to the dance and appear to enjoy it.

The object of the dancing instruction to the football men is to improve the co-ordination of mind and muscle and to keep the players constantly "on their toes."

England Starts Probe Of Trusts Born During War

London, May 6.—England has started an investigation of the post-war growth of alleged trusts and monopolies.

A profiteering committee which has been looking into the activity of electric light companies and lamp bulb manufacturers, in a report recently made public, says that "a trade combination does exist among electric light manufacturers in this country and exercises a powerful influence over the conduct and development of the industry."

It is known as the Electric Light Manufacturers association, the report says, and has been created primarily in the interests of three firms—the British Thomson-Houston company, the General Electric company and Messrs. Siemens Brothers. It is reported to include from 28 to 35 per cent of the industry, to fix prices and regulate output, says the profiteering committee.

The prices fixed by the association, the report says, became the standard for all lamps sold in this country, whether made by association or non-association manufacturers, or imported from abroad. Because of this standard price policy the general public reap no benefit from lamps of cheaper manufacture, the advantage going directly to distributors.

Standard vacuum lamps, now sold to the public for three shillings, states the report, could be sold for two shillings at which price the manufacturer and distributor would still have a satisfactory working profit.
