Madame Fahey and Apollo Club Win Applause at Grand

"Comin' Through the Rye." The old Scotch lyric was never better presented to a Salem audience than when rendered at the Apollo concert, Wednesday night by Madame Winifred Lugin Fahey. This song was given as an encore, following the five splendid solos on her program and by her generous response to repeated encores, Madame Fahey endeared herself with the audience that more than comfortably filled the Grand.

Those who have heard the soloist during her previous appearances in this city are united in declaring that her voice is even better than ever, her rich and vibrant tones winning her hearers from the very start.

Madame Fahey's accompanist, Mrs. A. J. Gibson, elicited much praise for her sympathetic interpretation of the soloist's repertoire. Among the numbers by Madame Fahey were "The Song of the Robin", Cadman; "Aria de Salome", Massenet; and "At the Well" by Hageman.

The Apollo club was at its best in all numbers. "Swing Alone," "The Bugle Song" and other musical bits were well received.

Miss Dorothy Pearce, accompanied numbers at the piano. Miss Mary Talmadge and C. J. Kurth, violins; W. H. Mills, viola and cornet; Prof. John R. Sikes with the cello; Prof. T. S. Roberts, organ; Miller Bevier, flute were the accompanying support to John Hyatt Brewer's "The Bugle Song."

The program is repeated at the Grand, Thursday night, May 27, in order to accommodate the many music lovers of Salem, who are following the Apollo concerts.

Silver Trophy Donated For Tennis Event

Adding fuel to the fire of tennis enthusiasm Hartman Bros. have donated a beautiful silver trophy as the prize for men's singles in the all city tennis tournament to be held at the Asylum avenue courts next week. Trophies for the other events are also promised.

The entry list is now swelled to over 40 single entries, but the tournament management says the entrants are slow in lining up they double partners. All are urged to speed up on this point, for if the entries are not in by Saturday night a number are going to miss a lot of good fun.

"Above all," said K. B. Palmer, tournament manager this morning, "we don't want the word tournament to scare anyone. In the men's singles there are only four players entered who are what you might call first class players. That leaves 36 all about in the same boat, and we want to see 50 there, for the more the merrier. Ladies singles is coming right along! So far there are 8 entered, and the entries do not close for two days yet, so we expect at least that many more."

Entries may be phoned or brought in to Hauser Bros. store or to Dr. Burdette at Hartman Bros. any time up to Saturday night at 8 p. m.
