Fairmount Project Seeks Approval Of State Engineer

Approval of the Fairmount Irrigation district, comprising some 300 acres, or land adjoining Ontario, Or., has been requested of the state engineer's office here. The project which will use water from Snake river has just recently been organized and proposes to construct a pumping plant at a cost of approximately $15,000.

Applications for water rights have been filed with the engineer's office as follows:

By T. C. Dearinger, Daisy E. Dearinger, Perry S. Burkhead, S. B. Colt, Frank Colt, S. B. Colt Jr., Mary B. Colt, Mary B. Colt Jr., and Lella Colt of Heiferd, Oregon, covering the appropriation of water from the north fork Burnt river for irrigation of approximately 1100 acres of land in Baker county.

By Aaron F. Morris of Placida, Oregon, covering the appropriation of water from Willow creek for irrigation of a small area in Malheur county.

By D. M. Clark of Madras, Oregon, covering the construction of a reservoir and the appropriation of the water from Willow creek for the irrigation of 292 acres of land in Jefferson county.

By Ralph Moore of Hay Creek, Oregon, covering the appropriation of water from springs for stock watering purposes.

By H. C. McGinnis and A. D. Kendall of Troutdale, Oregon, covering the appropriation of water from a spring for the irrigation of a small tract in Multnomah county.

By Ralph M. Knight, Canyonville, Oregon, covering the appropriation of water from South Umpqua river for irrigation of forty acres in Douglas county.

By Max Gehlbar of Salem, Oregon, covering the appropriation of water from a small spring for domestic and irrigation purposes.

By L. C. Hartzell of Freewater, Oregon, covering the appropriation of water from Sterling Branch of Crockett creek for the irrigation of a small tract of land in Umatilla county.

Schools In Waldo Hills Hold Joint Picnic Festival

Victor Point, Or., May 28.—A school picnic will be held in the grove near the school house here tomorrow. A unique feature of the function is a program to be rendered by seven different schools in the Waldo Hills. The program will start at 10:30 in the forenoon. H. C. Seymour, state industrial club leader, and several of the Marion county school officials will be in attendance. The Standard Sewing club of the Victor Point school will give an exhibition of their work. A community lunch basket dinner will be served at the noon hour. Next in interest to the Pioneer association picnic are the Victor Point school picnic and this year's picnic promises to surpass all previous undertakings.

John W. who sold his herd of Jersey cattle a few weeks ago at public auction held at the state fair grounds, received word from a party in British Columbia, who purchased one of the cows at a big price, to the effect that the animal died in transit. The cow was insured for full value through the agency of Henry Schroeder of Silverton.

M. M. Sawyer is in Salem this week receiving medical treatment at a private sanatorium. Mr. Sawyer has been in poor health since he was injured in the mill several years ago.

partment of the Enterprise high school during the past school year, has finished her work and returned to her home west of the city the fore part of the week.

George W. Hubbs has purchased George Russell's interest in the farm of Russell Brothers located north of town near the Abiqua river. Rex Russell owns that portion of the place containing the buildings and it is understood that Mr. Hubbs intends to build on his property during the summer.

The personal property belonging to the estate of Mrs. C. M. Amundson, who committed suicide a short time ago by hanging in a woodshed at the Peterson farm near here, will be sold at auction next Tuesday.

Memorial Day To Be Observed In Silverton

Silverton, May 25.—Memorial day will be fittingly observed in Silverton next Monday. Stores will close for the day and the schools and several orders will participate in the program, which starts with a parade from the school house at 10 a. m., and marching to the cemetery. Memorial services will be held in the several churches Sunday.

Pile Of Pennies Puzzles Prophets

"How many pennies?" The large pile of coppers last week displayed in the window of a local business place, attracted much attention and more than 2800 persons took part in the contest for best guesser.

One little boy wrote "six million" on his card, while another guess accounted for only 60 of the new "clackers."

Prizes offered for winning estimates were, a five dollar box of candy as a first award and other special sweets for second, third and fourth best. Oscar Wilde of 1202 Commercial street, Portland, made the winning guess of 4131. The other winners are as follows: J. A. Pruner 4115, M. Collins 4113, Mrs. Paula Johnson 4150, Meyer Samuel 4150, Carl W. Nelson 4158.

The guess cards bear addresses from many western states; while traveling men and showpeople have given New York, Chicago, New Zealand, Canada and Australia as their residence in "forwarding that box of candy."

Memorable Home of Dewey Being Made Into Store

Washington.—Admiral Dewey's former home, gift of the American people for his victory at Manila Bay, is being remodeled into a store, having given away, as have a number of other historical residences, to the spreading commercial sections of the city. The Dewey home, at 1747 Rhode Island avenue, just off Connecticut avenue, was disposed of some years before the Admiral's death.

is literally dispensed in hales. The old fashioned jacket book no longer is sufficiently large to carry one's daily or weekly supply of rubles, of which one American dollar will buy about 4,000. In normal times the ruble has an exchange value of about half a dollar.

There is a colony of millionaire refugees in Yalta, a Black Sea port, who have to keep their currency in trunks, boxes and barrels.

The kopek has long since disappeared as a standard unit in Russian money. In Yalta, smaller denominations of rubles scarcely exist. People hoard 5,000 and 10,000 ruble notes as though they represented only a few farthings.

A correspondent of the Associated Press who has just made a tour of the Black Sea towns on board the American destroyer, Smith-Thompson, found Yalta to be unique among all the cities in the Black Sea. It is the only place in southern Russia where one does not see hunger nor distress.

There were upward of 20,000 Russian refugees in Yalta when the correspondent visited the city but the majority of these were well-to-do and able to take care of themselves.

Those who were temporarily short of money were peddling their diamonds and jewels at a fraction of their cost. Every second hand store in the town was a clearing house for valuable furs, rugs, trinkets and other personal possessions.

Armies of Insects In Future Wars Is Scientist's Plan

London.—Mobilization of the warlike, the housefly, the louse and various other insects carrying pests for the dissemination of deadly germs in enemy territory is a possibility of "the next war" pictured by Professor Maxwell Lefroy a scientist.

"I can force the mosquito from Brazil starting yellow fever in new lands, the house-fly, duly infested with cholera, dysentery or enteric and the typhus-laden louse doing their deadly work much more effectively than the spies in poisoning wells," said the professor.

"This would be part of the work of a war office of entomologists—the work out of strategic plans for the distribution of these pests by airplane. It seems that the world is intent upon furnishing an airplane service for these pests, many of which are now held somewhat in check by natural enemies in their native climes. This will give them just the means of transit they have required. It will be a peace-time danger as well as one that could be used very offensively in war. The danger from these "winged battalions of death" is more serious than one dare estimate."

EXTREMES OF SPRING FASHIONS

In Frozen North Calico And Cap At Palm Beach Parasol And Fur

Ladies of Arctic Circle Now To Blossom Forth In Gay Prints and Move Into Summer Sod Homes

This is how Eskimos look without the aid of fur clothes and snow igloos. There isn't the slightest suggestion of perpetual winter or chasing polar bears across the ice in this picture of a spring sun bath in Alaska. Mop caps, calico gowns and bandannas are Eskimo spring fashions, and certainly do not suggest the frigid North. Down at Palm Beach they are wearing furs and carrying parasols.

Eskimo sod houses are damp and unhealthy, and the members of this usually hardy race living at Nauyasagak fell easy victims to the influenza epidemic in the winter of 1918-1919 when two-thirds of the adults died. Practically the only available modern medical attention the dwellers in remote Alaskan communities have is furnished by the mission physicians and hospitals maintained in the far northern territory by the thirty evangelical churches co-operating under the name of the Inter-church World Movement which will seek to raise in all parts of the United States the week of April 25 a fund of $30,777.52 to back a new program of religious effort for the world.

With this change has come another—the custom of having family names.

A year ago the Persian government made it compulsory for people to adopt a surname. Before that only peasants had any common name in the family, the upper classes possessing only one. A man, for instance, might

A Good Neighbor

Barbara Eaton was plainly upset about something, for it was most unusual for Barbara to scowl.

She had baked a cake to take over to the Randalls—the bride and groom who had moved next door. And the cake had been a failure!

"There's no use," she thought hopelessly. "I just can't bake. I've never made a decent cake in my life." With a snatched sigh she ran over to the next house.

"I'm Mrs. Eaton—your next-door neighbor," she explained cheerfully to the sweet-looking bride. "I just ran over to see if I could do anything to help you." In a few minutes they were chatting away like old friends. As Barbara was leaving, she said apologetically, "Mrs. Randall, I baked a cake to bring over to you—but it was a failure. I do get so discouraged sometimes, for Alan loves home-made cake."

Mrs. Randall interrupted. "But do you use Ryzon?" she asked, "and the Ryzon Baking Book? Wait a minute, I'm going to get mine for you." She returned, thrusting a book and a can of Ryzon into Mrs. Eaton's hands.

"Try these," she said, "following exactly the recipe particularly in regard to level measurements, and you'll never have any more trouble. Let me know how you make out."

"She's a darling," Barbara confided to Alan later in the evening as he helped himself to his second piece of chocolate cake. "And to think that I could ever make such wonderful cake as this—why, it seems too good to be true."

The new Ryzon Baking Book (retail price $1.00), containing 250 practical recipes, will be mailed, postpaid, upon receipt of 39 cents in stamps or coin. Or if you will purchase two or more pounds of Ryzon at once from your grocer, sending us his name and address promptly, we will mail you a Ryzon Baking Book free of charge.
