Prune and Cherry Prospects Good

Portland, Or., May 28 .- Special re ports received by the Journal indicate that while there has been a very heav dropping of cherries in practically al ribuary sections, the outlook for bumper crop could scarcely be more favorable in the Portland territory. Not only was the bloom of cherries heavier than normal this season, but the percentage that "stayed" is greater than usual, and it would take rec ord dropping to bring the crop down o the normal basis.

Prune crop outlook is also indicating very heavy output in the Willamette Reports received here during the last few days state that the outlook is for one of the greatest crops the val ey has produced.

Continued pessimistic reports con Washington. It is not now believed that the northwest crop will be 25 per cent-of the normal. The output last season was the greatest known in this territory.

Reports from Hood River indicate that much more damage was done to apple trees during the winter than had been generally believed. It is stated that, while the blossoming was up to the normal, or above, the "setting was not as good, although in the upper valley the indications are excellent. lower valley.

Pear crop reports indicate nearly normal output in this territory.
