

Gas Situation Tightens; More Due Next Week

Retail gasoline stations in Salem are without gasoline this afternoon and pleasure drivers are pleading in vain for the juice necessary for their regular week-end trips.

The Associated Oil company, which upto today has been making regular deliveries to their retail dealers had to shut off on deliveries because of the failure of a car of gasoline to arrive. They will resume regular deliveries on Monday, R. O. Saelling, manager of the company announced.

Trucks are being cared for today at the plants and at the filling stations of the various companies.

During the present emergency the entire supply of the Standard Oil company will be diverted to essential industries, according to the announcement of Manager Campbell today. Mr. Campbell announced that the needs of the berry growers in hauling their product to market would be supplied to the extent of his ability. The Standard today received word that it would receive another carload of gasoline sometime next week, and announced that this would be used entirely in caring for the ripening berry crop.

Commenting on the situation and its causes Mr. Campbell submitted the following data compiled by the Standard Oil company:

The production of crude oil has not kept pace with the consumption of gasoline.

There remains in the tanks of the different oil companies on the Pacific coast at the present time less than two days normal supply.

At a meeting recently held in San Francisco by the different oil companies, the railroad officials and the Automobile club of California, it was decided that if conservation was affected by autoists in the next ten weeks, we could again return to the normal use of gasoline.

This condition is only a temporary shortage. It is not permanent.

We are expending $10,000,000 at our Richmond refinery installing a new process which will give a larger yield of gasoline from a given gallon of crude oil. This will take from the market in the fall over 20,000 barrels of fuel oil per day which we are now selling. This will increase the yield of gasoline and relieve the present acute situation.

All Events Are Leaders In City Tennis Tourney

The tennis tournament now under way at the state hospital grounds is furnishing a definite demonstration that local talent is capable of furnishing good exhibitions in the athletic branch.

During the men's singles, Friday, Knickerbocker lost to McDougall, 7-5, 8-6, although Knick's last play was of commendable type. Doney defeated Moodhe in their first set, but lost the remainder, 6-2, 6-2.

In the endurance event, Collins won from Quisenberry 8-6, 1-6, 6-1. In the doubles, Palmer and Moodhe finally conquered Bates and Knickerbocker in a hard fought series.

An unlooked for result of the ladies singles was Mrs. Frank O. Andrus's winning score of 8-6, 7-5 over Miss Elizabeth Ford.

Other results follow, the winner being given first respective mention.

Second Round, Men's Singles.

Thibsen vs. Davis, 6-1, 6-4.
Bates vs. Steiner, 6-0, 6-2.
Young vs. Foster, 6-2, 6-3.

Third Round.

Palmer vs. Thibsen 6-4, 6-0.

Women's Singles.

Mrs. Jacobs vs. Miss Bowen, 6-0, 6-2.

Mixed Doubles.

Mrs. Jacobs and Lantis vs. Miss Bowen and Dr. Down, 6-3, 6-4.

Saturday's schedule includes many good events, mention of which will be made later. Miss Marjorie Kay playing her semi-final match at 4:30, McDougall and Palmer meeting at 3 p. m., and Moodhe and Young meeting in the late afternoon.

The tournament will see the windup of all men's events except the doubles on Sunday.

The finals in the ladies' singles will be played at 2 p. m. The finals in the men's singles will start at 3 p. m. Adequate seating facilities will be provided for spectators to the series.

Final in the mixed doubles will be played following the men's singles. The University of Oregon team, of which Mort Brown is a member, will be present and take part in some of the feature plays.

The games are free to the public and the Salem Tennis club extends a cordial invitation to all who desire to witness the games.

Sabbath Observed At Big Camp Meet; Assembly Growing

The increasing attendance at the Seventh Day Adventist camp meeting at the fair grounds in causing much perplexity to the committees in charge of reception. All the tents and camping space, originally allotted has been occupied and numbers of new families are arriving daily. However, more tents have been obtained and the announcement is made that all will be accommodated.

The camp members and those affiliated with the local church are observing the Biblical Sabbath, Saturday, in accordance with Adventist belief. A visitor to the camp is reminded of the old song "Jehovah's Army." And it is certainly a well arranged encampment. Orderliness and quiet are the most impressive features, while all of the old time gospel songs reminds one of the days when "camp meeting time" was the big event of the year.

Sunday has been announced as a "special observance day" and will be devoted to attractive religious services to which the public is cordially invited.

Sunday morning, Elder and Mrs. F. F. Oster, who as Seventh Day Adventist missionaries spent several years in Armenia, will give a special lecture pertaining to actual conditions in Armenia. They have special reason to be familiar with the "starvation scenes" depicted in Armenia, having passed the war period in that country and massive during Turkish and Kurdish raids. This lecture is at 11 a. m.

Rev. A. R. Bell of Salem will deliver an address "Will the World Cry for Peace Be Realized," at 2:30 in the afternoon. Another lecture is scheduled for 8 p. m., a special choir furnishes music for each service.

Delegates Pay Own Expenses At Convention

Oregon delegates to the national conventions of their respective political parties must enjoy the distinction and honor which attaches to that position wholly at their own expense—unless some charitably inclined friend feels disposed to contribute to his expense account.

At least the delegate can not hope for any reimbursement from the state as was once provided for under the act of 1911, which, according to an opinion prepared this morning by Attorney General Brown was repealed by the act of 1915.

Brown's opinion is given in reply to an inquiry from John H. Stevenson of Portland, delegate to the Democratic national convention whose interest in the matter was aroused through the publication in a Portland newspaper of a story to the effect that delegates to the national conventions would be reimbursed by the state for their actual expenses to the amount of not to exceed $200.

"There can be no question at this time as to the fact that the statute providing pay for delegates to the national conventions has been wholly repealed . . . and there is no other provision of law known to the writer," Brown's opinion reads.

Battle Against Pneumonia Futile

Miss Marilla Jane Marshall, age 24, an employe of the Southern Pacific railroad offices in Los Angeles who came to Salem 17 days ago to recover from an attack of pneumonia, died at 1305 North 16th street Saturday morning. The body is being held at the parlors of the Rigdon & Son funeral establishment pending arrangements for the funeral.

Miss Marshall is the daughter of George R. Marshall of Salem, and is survived by he and two brothers and one sister. They are Grace Marshall, Los Angeles; George Leroy Marshall, Los Angeles and Floyd Marshall, residing in Montana. Miss Marshall's mother died in 1915.

Pioneer Asks Ashes Be Cast On Willamette

Woodburn, Or., June 5.—The late P. A. Cochran, having lived near the Willamette most of his life, left a request that his body be cremated and the ashes cast on the water of that river.

Last night closed a six-day chautauque in this city. The brown tent was filled at nearly every performance and it was enjoyed by the country as well as town people.

There is a great deal of complaint about the robins in this section, and it is the opinion of the residents of this city and vicinity that there should be a bounty on them instead of a law protecting them. They take a delight in eating strawberries and it is hard to tell what they will do to the cherries. The statement was made in the Salem Statesman that Woodburn was going to import some players to take to Salem Sunday for the ball game. That is erroneous, the team couldn't import any players who would improve it. Woodburn will have its regular lineup.

Salem Floral Group Gains Members For "City Beautiful"

Call 95 and a member of the Salem Floral society will call and receive the membership of any who are unable to place their application with the Hartman Brothers or Gardner & Keene jewelry stores.

The society is appealing to every one who is interested in a brighter and more attractive Salem to join the ranks of the organization that has accomplished much in its efforts to "clean up" the city.

The membership fee is one dollar and covers initiation and dues for an entire year.

During the past week the following have enrolled with the society: Robert C. Paulus, Henry L. Benson, Mrs. T. W. Jenks, Dr. C. B. O'Neil, W. D. Evans, Endy Purdy, Mrs. C. B. O'Neil, Mrs. Geo. G. Brown and Mrs. C. J. Kurth.

Fatal Accidents Nil During Week

Not a single fatality is included in the report of 428 accidents in Oregon industries compiled by the state the week ending June 3. Of the accidents reported for the week, 481 were subject to the provisions of the workmen's compensation act, 29 were from firms and corporations that have rejected the provisions of the act and seven were from public utility corporations not subject to the provisions of the act.

Everybody Knows That Monkeys
Try as they would to imitate, can not quite equal man. This is nothing against the monkey. They are a curious animal and everlastingly trying to imitate man and indeed are very interesting to watch.
It's the same way with some would-be competitors, they attempt to speak in the language of men, viz: 76c, $1.23, 67c, etc. But what are they offering you for that price? Stuff that has been hoarded at some warehouse at Kalamazoo and distributed at intervals of every seven years?
We offer you quality merchandise at prices that are as low as is consistent with good merchandising methods and not because the OTHER FELLOW LEADS US TO IT.
