June as a month of brides is upholding her reputation in the matter of weddings and wedding announcements. Tuesday, June 1, set the record with the weddings of four prominent young Salem couples, and from present appearances the rest of the month will follow its example.

Chief among the nuptial events was the wedding, on June 1, of Eugene Eckerlin, Jr., and Inez Evelyn Stege, at the lovely residence of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Eckerlin, 695 North Liberty street. The marriage of Robert Howard Woodburn of Portland, and Doris Sawyer of Salem, route 3, also created a stir among the younger set. Equally important was the wedding of Ralph Lindsay and Miss Opal May George, and that of John J. Hayes, local baseball player and Miss Ruby Welsh, daughter of the chief of police.

A beautiful home wedding was that of C. Cyrus Price and Miss Emogene Ellis, which occurred at the home of the groom's brother, O. C. Price June 2. Mr. Price is a merchant of Eugene, and plays a large part in the civic affairs of the University city. C. L. McDonald and Miss Margaret Crocker, both of this city, were united in marriage Wednesday at a simple ceremony. Carl Brantner of Black Rock and Pearl G. Harold of Salem surprised their friends Thursday and Fred Hammack, Jr., and Margaret Wing, of 325 Union street also chose that date for their wedding day. Miss Minnie Dimick of this city, and Howard R. Channing of Yakima, Washington, were another pair of young folk who fell the prey of the wife of Dan Cupid during the past week.

A special program with conferences and exhibits will be held at the biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs at Des Moines June 16-23. Philander P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education will be one of the principal speakers and will discuss the necessity of making kindergartens a part in every school in the United States. The growth of the kindergarten in this country in the last ten years has been greater than in the forty preceding, but still only one-tenth of the children of kindergarten age are given such instruction. Only about one fourth of the children in cities and towns have opportunity to attend such schools.

Under the direction of Mrs. George Turrance, Dallas, Texas, a campaign to reach rural communities is also in progress. Investigation has shown that many children in the country live starved lives so far as the growth of the imagination and powers of observation is concerned; this too, among surroundings that need only the magic touch of a kindergarten to make every bird, flower, insect and animal take on new meaning and of such interest as to color their whole lives with greater understanding and appreciation. The education department of the General Federation of Women's clubs is making an active campaign to make the kindergarten a possibility a reality in all country communities, and it is for this reason that the special program and conferences will be held at the convention.

Artistic vases of vari-colored flowers were used as the decorations at the lovely E. T. Busselle residence Friday afternoon, when the Daughters of the veterans held a silver tea. An afternoon of music and social converse was passed, and the guests were regaled with a short but beautifully rendered program. Mrs. F. L. Waters graciously consented to render a number of lovely vocal solos and her daughter, Miss Elizabeth pleased the assembly with a pretty solo dance. Fortune telling concluded the afternoon's program of entertainment. A delicious cafeteria lunch was served, during which Mrs. H. H. Corey, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Fred Cooke assisted at the table.

A number of additional guests were present, each daughter having been asked to bring a friend. The committee in charge of the afternoon, who share honors with the hostess for making it such a complete success, was composed of Mrs. T. W. Davies, Mrs. Ben F. West, Mrs. H. H. Corey and Mrs. F. L. Waters.

The Woman's Missionary society of the First Congregational church met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. Olson, 1498 McCoy street. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. H. W. The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Cummings was celebrated last week at their home, 1395 North 4th street. The affair was in the manner of a surprise to the guests of honor, who had been given no inkling of the intentions of their friends to celebrate the occasion. William L. Cummings, brother of Mr. Cummings, was host in the afternoon for a dinner in their honor, and W. A. Cummings entertained them with an automobile sight-seeing ride later in the day. Upon arriving home they found the house beautifully decorated with a wealth of snowballs, sweet peas and rose buds, and lit with a myriad of early colored lights. Thirty friends were waiting to greet them. A pleasant evening of social converse was spent, and a delicious lunch culminated the day's enjoyment. The honor guests were presented with a dozen beautiful silver spoons in honor of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummings were married in Northfield, Wisconsin, twenty five years ago. Three years ago they came to Salem from North Dakota, and have resided at their present home since that time. Clubs throughout the entire state were represented at the meeting, over which Mrs. Ida Callahan, state president, presided.
