

Country Must Drive Wilson

...scheme exist, would disappear under this scheme and nothing would be left to the people except the duty of paying taxes to support the roads.

Over 600 Americans have been murdered in Mexico. Carranza insulted the American government in every possible way and still nothing was done. We fell so low that when an American was seized by one of the many bands of brigands and held for ransom, all that the government of the United States would do, was to offer to be the channel for conveying the ransom of their citizens to the highway men who had seized them.

Watched Long Enough

"We have watched and waited long enough. We need a firm hand at the helm. The time has come to put an end to this Mexican situation, which is a shame to the United States and a disgrace to civilization. If we are to take part in pacifying and helping the world, let us begin here at home in Mexico.

Let the Mexicans choose as their president some strong and upright man who is friendly to the United States and determined to establish order and then the United States give him a real and cordial support, and so strengthen and uphold him that he will be able to exterminate the bandits and put an end to the unceasing civil war.

Never Accept Treaty

"The republicans of the senate, perceiving the dangers of the league, determined to resist Mr. Wilson's demand. The American people will never accept that alliance with foreign nations proposed by the president. The president meantime has remained inflexible. He is determined to have that treaty as he brought it back or nothing, and to that imperious demand, the people will reply in tones which cannot be misunderstood.

"We have stopped Mr. Wilson's treaty and the question goes to the people in 1918 Mr. Wilson won on the cry that he had kept us out of the war, he now demands the approval of the American people for his party and his administration on the ground that he has kept us out of peace.

"The league must be discussed in every district and in every state and we desire to have the verdict so clearly given that no man who seeks to represent the people in the senate, in the house or in any place or in any degree, can have the slightest doubt as to his duty.

League the Issue

"We make the issue; we ask approval for what we have done. The people will now tell us what they think of Mr. Wilson's league and its sacrifice of America.

"They (the people) will tear aside the veil of words woven to blind and deceive and come down to the essential and vital point—Mr. Wilson's plan on one side and the independence and safety of the United States on the other.

"All Americans must join together in their own way and with their own arguments defeat Mr. Wilson's league as he desires it, whether amended by him or in its pristine simplicity."

Senator Lodge charged the democratic party with responsibility for the "perilous conditions of the hour" and said, if the republican party fails to grapple it effectively, "the Russian descent into barbarism will begin to draw near."

A beginning had been made, he said, by a republican congress in restoring economic conditions "working under all the difficulties and opposition imposed by a hostile executive." He enumerated various beneficial measures, adding that the estimates had been reduced over a billion dollars.

Peace Treaty Course

"When the armistice with Germany was signed the course to be pursued was clear. That course was to make the peace with Germany at once and then take up for reasonable consideration the question of establishing such future relations with associates in the war as would make for the future peace of the world. This Mr. Wilson prevented. He went to Europe.

"He had apparently only one aim, to be the maker of a league of which he should be the head. He was determined that there should be a league of nations then and there and in order to nullify the powers of the senate given by the constitution of the United States, he decided to make the league an integral part of the treaty of peace with Germany. Thus he presented to the senate, and intended to present, a dilemma from which he believed there was no escape."

their heads together for several minutes.

Roosevelt Arrives

Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was among the early platform arrivals. At 11 o'clock the hour set for the opening, the band was playing the "Sunshine of Your Smile", but very few people were smiling.

New Generation Predominates

On every hand there were evidences of the newer generation in politics. They included sons of Theodore Roosevelt, Leonard Wood, the late Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island, and a grandson of James G. Blaine, who was wearing the badge of a sergeant at arms.

When Senator Wadsworth joined the New York delegates, he had a conference with Charles D. Hilles, the new national committeeman from the state. Former Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson also arrived and joined the New York delegation. Chauncey Depew, veteran of more than a dozen conventions, was in his usual seat.

Colonel George Harvey and Senator Brandegee met on the platform and had a little talk. It was understood that Colonel Harvey was busy all morning, trying to harmonize some of the literary quirks of the prospective platform.

A half hour after the time set for the opening, there was still no sign of the convention coming to order.

At that time, Nicholas Murray Butler of New York was the only candidate seen on the floor. He was chatting with the delegates from New York.

than two hundred fifty pieces of baggage were unloaded on the platform of the station and the students left in a body on the train going north shortly after eight o'clock.

Woodburn Game Is Now Set For June 13; Team Is O.K.

After Jupiter Pluvs's intervention of June 6, the Senators had nearly despaired of having a game with Woodburn next Sunday, due to the fact that the Tigers have a full playing schedule. However, after much frantic phoning, the two managers have decided that the honor of the northern Marion county is at stake and so the first Woodburn-Salem game of 1920 will be played here, Sunday June 13.

The following Sunday will mark the first absence of the Senators from Oxford field, as they will journey to the Tigers' lair and show the Woodburnites how to play ball. A large delegation of Salem fans is planning to make the jaunt to the smaller city and witness the fun.

"Let me emphasize the statement that Woodburn is coming here with a mighty good team and will make every effort to cart away Salem's nannym," is Eddie Bishop's sum up of the situation.

"We need the support and confidence of every Salem fan," and it is time that everyone realized that we have a sterling crew of players who get little enough from the game, except to know that they are putting Salem men the baseball chart," says Eddie.

And the fans are beginning to realize that the Salem Senators do look good to Coast league managers. During the past four Sunday games, there have been a quartet of minor league scouts here. There is a great demand for young material and this is the main reason why Overall, Los Angeles scout, spent two Sundays here getting acquainted with the work of Kracke, Hayes, Miller and Proctor.

Cole Asked to Sign

Jimmy Richardson of the Pacific International, with one of McCredis prospectors was here Decoration day and the "Mac" scout lost no time in sending Cole a contract form, filled in for $250 per month, to work with the Beavers during the 1921 season.

The big right hander could work into larger and better paid ball at the present time but owing to business interests and a desire to see Salem head the list in the 1920 semi-pro class, will remain here during the present season.

Club Is Strong

Other men on the local club are proving their right to travel in first company. One of Bishop's newest acquisitions is Blanchard, who plays first base with a snappy, eccentric style of his own. Billie Stepp's work always appeals to the fans and the writer comedian is regarded as an asset in keeping the crew's spirits up to winning pitch.

Summed up in a paragraph: the Senators are now in such trim that local fans are confident that Moose-

COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. (adv)

Advocates of two different organizations continued to wage their fight, however, and National Committeeman Hayes was understood to favor Senator McCormick.
