

Airplane Patrol To Start June 25 States Elliott

Airplane patrol of Oregon forests will be started about June 25 according to information received this morning by State Forester Elliott from Col. H. H. Arnold in command of the western department of the air service, San Francisco. It is impossible to begin the patrol at an earlier date Arnold states, because of the lack of personnel necessary in assembling and equipping the planes. It is expected that four planes will be started in the service this month with as many more to follow later.

Thieves Visit Farm And Steal Fleeces

Thieves of discriminating nature visited the Harrison Jones farm near Gervais, sometime Tuesday or Wednesday night. Out of a lot of 65 fleeces laying in the barn, 17 of the woolly overcoats were taken. Sixteen of the stolen fleeces were of the Delano-Merino variety, while the seventeenth is a Cootswold clip. Five empty woolmacks were also taken, presumably to aid in carrying away the stolen wool, which is valued at about $50.

The theft was reported to Sheriff Needham, Wednesday.

Our Code of Principles
We have one, and only one, code of principles.
Our Farm Mortgage Investments are created by one and the same process
Our Service is equally thorough and thoughtful to small and large clients.
Since the inception of our business, seven years ago, we have loaned over three million dollars to the Willamette Valley farmers. Hundreds of investors have placed their funds in these mortgages.
No interest payment has been delayed, not a dollar has been lost.
This record assures safety, a steady income, and peace of mind to our clients.

We Have Never Held A CLOTHING SALE
Our policy has always been to sell all goods at the lowest price ALL THE TIME, Without Resorting to Frequent so-called "Sales."
We PROTECT our customers 365 days in the year.
We have no old, out-of-date, unsalable merchandise, nor do we buy merchandise for sale purposes.
If our merchandise were marked at the prevailing prices of today, we could certainly offer our goods at 20 per cent reduction, as is now being done where mark-ups are exorbitant and beyond all reason.
The public will notice in reading the advertisements of these so-called "sales" that standard goods of known value are always "excepted." No store gives good merchandise away. The discount offered at these so-called "sales" is beyond all reason. No legitimate store makes enough profit to offer 20, 50 and 75 per cent discounts on reasonable and up-to-date merchandise.
The increasing public favor with which our policy is meeting is the best evidence of the correctness of our method of doing business. It would be folly on our part at this time to reduce our prices. In most instances it would be impossible to buy goods at wholesale at the prices at which we are selling them today. The high cost of living cannot be reduced by artificial means, we must speed up production, work and save; be less extravagant, less speculative, and as time goes on if production is not too much slowed down and if the situation is flexible and competitive, we may expect to meet the reaction of gradual deflation without disaster. The year 1920 will be a prosperous year for everybody, particularly in this community. The farmers will command good prices for all products they have to sell, owing to the world's shortage and underproduction.
When wholesale clothing prices commence to decrease, this store will be among the first to reduce prices. We are now offering the season's latest models in

The Master-Thought Here
It is to do everything possible to deepen and strengthen your allegiance to the store. We want more than your trade—more than just your dollars and cents. We are striving for your appreciation—your good will. That's the main thing. Everything else follows. We'd rather create a fine impression and miss a sale, than make a sale and create a poor impression. Our policy is in control of that principle.
Remember, we are in business to do all we can for customers. Every rule is made with your good will in mind.
