

Wool Growers Of Polk County Organize Pool

Dallas, Or., June 19.—At a meeting of Polk county wool growers, held in the office of the county agent recently, it was voted to form a pool and store the wool that the growers have for sale in Dallas and Airle. The reason for this action is that for the coarse wool there is practically no demand, the buyers claiming they do not want it. They will pay in the neighborhood of twenty cents a pound, which does not meet the cost of production. As to the fine qualities there is also little demand, with but from thirty to forty cents offered.

The repair work upon the Chalmers church, which was recently damaged by fire, has just been started. The work is in charge of O. R. Holman.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Mortimer, who have been residents of Salt Creek district left for Hoskins where Mr. Mortimer will act as fire warden this summer. They will be in charge of the lookout station in that vicinity.

James McLoughlin, of the Spruce Valley country who was recently arrested for possessing intoxicating liquor, was fined $20 and costs with the promise of the limit should he be convicted again.

The photographic studio in the Wilson block, commonly known as the Coffey studio, was sold by the owner, Mrs. Rebecca O. Smith of Vancouver, Washington, to Mrs. Amy Van Ciere of Newberg, Oregon, who will take charge July 1. The studio was run for about two years by Paul Smith, son of Mrs. R. O. Smith, who moved to California for his health. Since that time B. P. Skeewis of Marion county has had charge of it.

A committee meeting was held in the Commercial club rooms last night by the committee appointed to assist in getting the Pacific highway to go through Dallas and Independence, as was voted on by the people. Attorney Oscar Hayer of Dallas and John W. Kaste of Portland have been employed by the Dallas-Independence people to bring suit against the highway commission. One suit will be a mandamus proceeding to compel the commission to follow the highway outline as was located by the legislature and an injunction suit to stop them from building the highway over the route they are working on now.

Polk County Auto Dealers Organize

Dallas, June 19.—At a meeting held in the salesrooms of the Salem Automobile company last night, an organization was formed by the local dealers and those of Independence, Robert E. Magner, field secretary of the national automobile dealers association, presided. Temporary officers were elected as follows: Claud G. Skinner of Independence, chairman; C. W. Fox, secretary pro tem.

The organization will be known as the Polk County Automobile Dealers association. Mr. Magner spoke upon the evils of federal confiscation laws, which provide that in the event of an innocent party being caught with moonshine liquor in his automobile the auto can be confiscated by federal authorities without redress. He also spoke on the gasoline situation, saying it was quite probable that in the very near future a 75 per cent of normal supply will be available.

A committee composed of P. A. Trofzer, D. M. Shattuck and C. J. Schreeve was appointed to draw by-laws for the organization to be submitted June 15 at the next meeting. The following signed as members of the Polk County association: C. W. Fox, Salem Automobile Co.; D. M. Shattuck, Shattuck Motor Co.; J. D. Naylor, Fuller Garage; C. J. Schreeve

Schreeve & Son garage; G. H. Carl, Auto Utilities Co.; P. J. Wallen, Dallas Garage; P. A. Trofzer and S. C. Kinney, City Garage; J. M. Hart, Hart Motor Co.; Claud Skinner and Emmerson Groves of Independence.

Turner Signs Up For Chautauqua Again Next Year

Turner, Or., June 19.—Notwithstanding the fact that the sixteen guarantors of the Turner chautauqua will have to pay something more than $8 each out of their individual pockets, contract was signed a few days ago for a meeting next year, and it will be held under similar conditions as the one which closed a week ago. The meeting was highly pleasing to Turner citizens, and it is believed that the next chautauqua will be more successful from a standpoint of attendance.

At any rate the guarantors have manifested the right kind of nerve to make the undertaking an ultimate success. J. A. Bardick will have an auction sale at his farm near here tomorrow and included in the stock to be sold is the highest bidder are some grade cows of great value. The sale is attracting wide attention.

Miss Cox of Beaslie has been engaged to teach the seventh and eighth grades of the Turner school next year, and Miss Goyett Davis will teach the intermediate department. Miss Florence Smith of this city has also been employed as one of the faculty for the coming school year. The principal and assistant principal are yet to be employed, and it is probable that no further effort will be made to fill the vacancies until after the annual school meeting. Miss Davis is the only one of the old faculty to be retained.

Notice to Ice Users
As our employees would like one day of the week for rest we will be closed on Sunday hereafter.

On week days our office closes at 5 p. m. except Saturdays, when it closes at 6 p. m.
