

Bates Head of Reorganized Tennis Club

Realizing that the immense popularity of tennis as a sport everywhere is also the center of much interest and enthusiasm in Salem, local devotees of the game and those who belonged to the informal tennis club which fathered tennis here previous to the war, gathered at the Commercial club last evening to effect a permanent organization for the purpose of encouraging and helping the present and future players of Salem and to also sponsor tournaments which will bring good players to our courts and incidentally prominence to Salem as a tennis center.

The meeting was called to order by Fred Thielsen, who gave a summary of the finances of the club that existed before, and also explained how the Asylum Avenue Courts had come to be built and who the life members of the club were that had made the courts possible. Mr. Thielsen then called upon K. B. Palmer to be temporary chairman and to explain to the meeting what plans he thought should be worked out. If a few brief words Mr. Palmer said that with the revival of tennis interest throughout the country again, that locally there should be a recognized club, which younger generations of Salem could look forward to for help and encouragement in developing their ability as tennis players, and that with a recognized club, tournaments could be held that would draw players from all parts of the northwest, enabling local players to develop their ability so that in competition with players from other cities Salem would eventually shine as the center of tennis cracks and champions.

The election of officers of what will be known as the Salem Tennis club for the year 1929 was then held. Dr. Olinger, one of the deans of local tennis was nominated for the president's chair, and would have been the unanimous choice of all, had he not declined the office saying that he thought it was time younger blood took over this active management of the club. Dr. Bates and James Young were then nominated, but the latter declined the nomination in favor of Dr. Bates who he said was in far more active touch with local players. John Harbison nominated Frederick Thielsen for the office of vice-president, making an earnest plea for a comfortable and easy berth for Salem's "old tennis men here". The sympathies of everyone were greatly aroused, and between tears and laughter, Mr. Thielsen was unanimously elected. Mr. Young then told the club that there was a new man in their midst who had done much to revive the interest and enthusiasm in tennis in Salem, and was responsible for the success of the recent local city tournament and that he wished to put the name of Mr. Palmer before the meeting for the office of secretary. Carl Gabrielson made a motion that the vote should be made unanimous and Palmer was elected. Chester Cox was then elected treasurer by unanimous consent.

Plans or revival of the Willamette Valley tournament were immediately taken up and if possible this event will be held the week previous to the state tournament at Portland. Definite announcement will be made later.

Aliens Of Polk County Apply For Citizenship

Dallas, Or., June 17.—Judge H. H. Belt has set October 1 as the time for hearing naturalizations, but many are about 15 petitions, but many are of the alien enemy class who must get presidential exception from the attorney general, department of justice, Washington, D. C., before they can be heard. This a few are doing but are somewhat dilatory about it.

Four have filed in the last week as follows: Joseph Eisele, German, of Buell, Oregon; William Fenton Ross, Canadian, of Dallas; Samuel Henry Edge, Canadian, of Independence, and Walter Vivian Acocks of Independence, also Canadian.

The last three petitioners have been in the United States for more than 20 years but as they had the privilege of voting never proceeded with their petition.

Artisan Lodge Dies

Because of a lack of interest on the part of the members and an inability to secure any one to properly care for the duties of secretary, the grand lodge of Artisans has revoked the charter of the Dallas assembly of that order. Local members who desire to keep up their membership and insurance, will here after remit their dues and assessments direct to the grand assembly. Some are contemplating joining Salem Lodge.

At half past twelve the fire alarm was sounded and the fire wagon rushed to the Call hotel. It proved to be a fire in the back part of the hotel, but was put out before any serious damage was done.
