navy and company. It was reported that the demands of the navy were not resisted and that loading started immediately.

The navy was taking the oil at its own price of $1.72 a barrel, navy authorities, announced. The oil company was notified that it may resort to the courts if it wishes to get its own price, which ranges around $2.

The commanders of the destroyers were ordered to use all means within the power of the navy to secure the oil, and two of the war vessels which were in the van, berthed at the company's wharf. After a brief parley the company connected the vessels up with its tanks.

The destroyers expected to depart for Astoria tonight with full tanks. There are at present no fires in the Cascade national forest, according to reports to the headquarters at Eugene.

Polish-American Girls Put Duty Before Everything Else

Y. W. C. A. workers at tea-time in their villa in Warsaw. This house was turned over by the government to the Y. W. C. A. unit of reconstruction workers at the request of Mme. Paderewska.
 These girls, all of them of Polish birth or parentage, direct work in children's hospitals, visit the homes of soldiers' families to report cases of want, manage soup kitchens and work in the refugee camps.
 Several girls in the unit have not seen their families since before the war. Some of them have received no word from their relatives and others expect, after serving six months, to receive a short leave of absence when they can travel to distant parts of Poland and visit the remaining members of their families.
 They will soon be joined by a second unit of workers who are now on their way across Europe. The Y. W. C. A. will send other Polish Grey Samaritan units as soon as arrangements can be made.
