Mt. Angel Having Prosperous Year

Mt. Angel, Or., July 31.—The progressive little city of Mt. Angel is experiencing what seems to be the most prosperous year in its history. With the harvest of excellent crops already begun, business activities is at a high tide, and many changes for the better may be seen. Through the efforts of citizens of Mt. Angel, and members of the Catholic church, a fine new public school building is nearing completion and will be ready for dedication soon.

Farmers say that the 1920 wheat crop in this vicinity is the greatest that Mt. Angel has ever known, and the hay crop is above the average in quality and quantity. Generally speaking crops of all kinds are superior to previous crops for several years past.

Eastern Oregon Group Wins In Normal Stunts

Monmouth, Or., July 31.—The annual normal summer school event known as the stunt contest developed a well balanced program this year. The contest which was held in the normal school Wednesday evening was between six groups representing different sections of the state. The honor of holding a flag for a year is the laurel offered. Last year the eastern Oregon counties won the flag and the same group was a close contender for the honors this year. "The Hand of the Whiteman" was the title of this group's stunt, a picturesque presentation of Indians, cowboys and tenderfeet winding up with a feature song emblematic of the wheat harvest which was very pretty.

As usual Multnomah county representatives were in the front rank with a series of moving tableaux, representing the attractions of Portland, the beauty of which was enhanced with colored lights.

Perhaps the most original of all was the stunt which the coast counties presented. They took as emblems, fish, lumber and cheese and cleverly brought out advertising features of the section from which they came.

Two of the stunts were based on southern plantation events, in which colored people predominated, one for the Marion and Lane group and the other by the Polk and Yamhill group. Their antics brought out much laughter.

The regulation satire on normal life was presented by the northwestern counties, "The Rise and Fall of a Normal King," detailing the tribulations of the only young man in a group of girls and the conclusion of events ten years hence.

Judges of the contest were Miss Marvin, Salem; D. E. Fletcher, Independence, and R. S. Kreson, Dallas. The winner is to be announced in chapel this morning.

Dell Tedrow, who has spent the past month and a half in the east, returned to Monmouth Tuesday evening. He has been in attendance at the international session of the Older Boys' Council in Sunday school work which lasted four weeks and was held on the shore of Lake Geneva, Wis. There two other young men present from Oregon. But little time presented itself for sightseeing. The boys were kept constantly at work on the course which deals with Sunday school methods and activity. The organization of the school, the chance to get information and instruction as well as the experience of a trip from home combined to make the trip for Dell a very pleasant one.

SELF RELIANT HOME DOCTORS is what women are called who all over this broad land make their annual collections of roots and herbs, and rely upon recipes which our pioneer mothers found dependable for different family ailments. In one of these recipes, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had its origin and so successful has it proved that there is hardly a city, town or hamlet in America where some woman who has been restored to health by its use does not reside. Today's Dallas News

Dallas, Or., July 31.—Notwithstanding the prospects for an unusually good crop of prunes in this vicinity this year, few if any purchases have yet been made by the local buyers. In previous years contracts have nearly all been closed by this time. The lack of bidding this year is due to the unsettled market conditions, eastern and foreign buyers having not yet determined on the prices they will be willing to pay for the 1920 crop. Overproduction last year, is said to be responsible, in part, for the present uncertain conditions of the market.

REPUBLIC GRANDE CORD TIRES

One of the reasons for the instant acceptance of Republic Grande Cord Tires is the wonderfully improved and strengthened cord construction of the inner body.

Another is the outer body of tremendously tough, slow-wearing Prodiuum Rubber which literally sells Republic Tires to thousands year after year.

Combined, they offer a tire value which, we believe, is unapproached by any other tire.
