Fire Destroys Warehouse on Mt. Angel Farm

Mt. Angel, Or., Sept. 14.—Fire Thursday night destroyed a granary and machine shed on the Frank Kerach farm near here. In the machine shed was a clover huller belonging to Mr. Kerach, and most of his harvested grain was in the warehouse. It is understood that no insurance was carried on the grain and only a small policy was held on the buildings.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have been caused by a spark from the engine, which smoldered in the clover huller for several hours before starting the blaze. Mr. Kerach was hulling clover the day before the fire, using an engine which stood not far from the machine shed. The Mt. Angel chemical truck responded to a call by telephone and only by this assistance the barn and residence were saved.

The Kerach farm is located one and one-half miles south of the city and the fire company made the run to the scene of conflagration in a very few minutes. The fire company is very much pleased with the manner in which this machine responds. In speaking of the new equipment Mr. Kerach says that he was on the ground early declared that the barn was certain to be destroyed. It was believed that nothing could save it, but when the chemical began its work the flames were soon extinguished. Dozens of sparks, he said, were put out on the roof of the barn after the fire department had saved the building.

Emil Scharbach, chief of the Mt. Angel fire department, went to Portland Sunday to purchase a new whistle for the chemical engine and also to make arrangements for transportation to Buffalo, N. Y., by way of California. He expects to start the first of October on the journey and will be accompanied by John Freisan.

Others have made application and will start in this week or next. Everything points to a record year at the college this term.

Wind and Rain Do Big Damage Near Silverton

Silverton, Ore., Sept. 14.—Wind and rain did considerable damage to property in this county. The wind Sunday night blew down telephone and telegraph poles southwest of the city for some distance, and the rain is said to have been injurious to the prune crop. Growers near here say that many prunes are falling from the trees by reason of the rain. Hop-picking, which was about two-thirds finished, was hindered for a day or two, but the hops are not injured.

Gilbert B. Moser, who just returned from Mt. Hood where he had been after huckleberries, says that the cold weather did not injure the huckleberry crop as it did cultivated fruits. There are bushes and bushes of berries taken out of the hills every day, and hundreds of people from different parts of the state are there picking the much cherished fruit. Mr. Moser has gathered berries in that vicinity every season for a number of years, and his success this year, he says, is better than in previous seasons.

The Shell company's truck was stalled in the mud at that point more than three hours Sunday, and was unable to get through to Silverton to deliver gasoline. Monday the road was not improved and car after car stopped in the mud here. The county commissioners made a big fill where a culvert was built, and this, with the rain pouring out on the clap, has become a stopping place for nearly every car that undertakes to pass.

A car without a driver, license number or buck wheel, stands by the roadside east of here. During the night it skidded in a ditch and broke the rear wheel. No one seems to know who the machine belongs to. The fact that the license number is missing, it is said, leads people in that vicinity to believe that there is some mystery about the matter.

River Steamer Hits Rock and Sinks Saturday

Mt. Angel, Or., Sept. 14.—A steamer, Northwest, operating on the Willamette between Portland and up river points hauling grain for the Fred Schwab Commission company of Mt. Angel, hit a rock Saturday afternoon and sank under the load of grain. The grain, however, was saved. Mr. Schwab has warehouses at St. Paul, Newberg and other points on the river where grain is delivered by the farmers in different parts of the valley. The steamer had taken on a load from these depots and was running to Portland when it hit a rock not far out from Newberg.

According to telephone information received by Mr. Schwab yesterday at his Mt. Angel office, the captain had been at the wheel almost constantly for thirty-six hours and was relieved by his first mate, who had been holding the wheel only a short time when the accident occurred. Mr. Schwab says the boat was pretty badly damaged. It was taken out on dry dock for repairs yesterday.
