Cops Make Good As Play Censors

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 21.—You got to hand it to the cops! Some member found out that a play, "Come Up in the Haymow," had some lines that were somewhat broad.

Police Inspector Graul headed an official party on a tour of inspection. "The lines must be changed," said the inspector, sadly shaking his head.

The script was brought to him. "Now take this," he said, pointing an accusing finger to where Edna Markley says: "I'm going to be compromised."

"That won't do at all." "All right, chief," was the worried response. "What shall we do?"

Thereupon Graul took a stub of pencil from his vest pocket and re-wrote the offending lines. Instead of the words deleted he made the actress say:

"I'm going to be talked about." Now members of the police force may visit the show without having their sense of decency shocked.

"Mild as milk and just as sweet," say they.

Irish Town Is Wrecked After Police Killed

Dublin, Sept. 21.—Auxiliary police forces last night wrecked the town of Balbriggan, near here in retaliation for the shooting of two police officers there earlier in the evening.
