

Wives Dive for Liquor at Hawaiian Dock

San Francisco.—Hawaiian wives have a new thrill for them, a thrill that exceeds that of the far-famed surf. It is a thrill that rarely comes these days.

Weeks ago a steamer, with sugar, went on the harbor and brought to the ship of its cargo officials found whiskey and cases in large numbers, scattered among the cargo. The entire cargo of sugar, its traveling companion, was making the journey in a dry dock is no place for sugar. Overboard went the sugar.

Scramble then began, with small boats cruising in vicinity and swimmers from the ship, all feverishly swimming for the whiskey and the sugar. It is reported that several cases of the valuable sugar were rescued from the ship and placed at the disposal of prohibition subjects.

Light Lights Blind Drivers, Autos Smashed

—An accident on collision which resulted in the destruction of a West Salem Sunday night car was caused by the driver of a car bearing down on him failed to "dime" his lights. H. D. Buckner, 1232 N. Commercial street, told Sunday night.

The machine, which he was piloting by one Mr. ... had on light, he said.

Buckner said he was moving in West Salem when the car which was traveling the other way, he said, was injured.

Only slightly damaged. No other accident which, Earnest, 1390 Waller street, was also caused by a glare of headlights near Eola.

Brundage told police he was driving west when another car approached with headlights so glare blinded. An accident followed in which his surrey, driven by Smith, and Mr. Brundage's car were damaged, he said.

Grange of Ohio Wants State to Build New Hall

Columbus, O.—Although it has its annual summer reunions for 70 years on the fair grounds, the state fair here, the State Grange has adopted a plan announcing that the reunions will not meet at the state fair grounds unless the state provides with a suitable hall.

"What the state ought to do is erect a community house for all of our organization meetings during the week," stated L. J. Taber, president of the grange. "If this is provided, nearly all the organizations that meet during farm-land hold their summer sessions at Ohio State university fair grounds."

The grange, with a membership of 100,000, is willing to raise $50,000 with which to build its own hall. It provided the state legislature to build the ground, stated Taber.

Ohio Court Asked to Decide Unique Compensation Mix

Columbus, O.—Here's a nut the supreme court has been asked to crack.

A workman, leaving his work to a nearby saloon to get a drink of beer. Returning, he is struck by lightning.

Question: Did the accident occur in the course of his employment?

It did, the widow, Mrs. Eleanor Hartman, of Dayton, Ohio, requested compensation in the case of a financial award from the state insurance fund, maintained under provisions of the Workmen's Compensation act.

The state industrial commission had supervised operation of the fund, however, has answered the question in the negative.

Mrs. Hartman has appealed to the state supreme court from the commission's ruling.

Hartman's death occurred in 1917.

Premier Hungry, Scribe Has Story But No Interview

Switzerland.—When Premier Lloyd George arrived here to Lucerne for a few days, and a conversation with the scribe, no officials met at the station and none of the scribe's entourage knew where to find a good hotel.

The scribe was standing at the station when a Swiss newspaperman approached and said:

"Good morning, sir," he said, "I am the British prime minister. Would you be good enough to give me a short interview?"

"Interview," replied Lloyd George, "but I'll tell you what I'll give you a news article. You can come in and see how a hungry British minister is treated."

Big Gambling Season Is Over At French City

Paris.—The season just closing at Deauville, the world's greatest money-spending summer resort, has seen the wildest, most reckless game of gold squandering in the history of the gay little town by the sea.

"No wonder they pronounce it 'Doughville,'" Mortimer Schiff is credited with saying, as he watched the croupiers pulling in great flocks of thousand-franc notes at the Casino.

On this banner day of the season the day of the Grand Prix, more than $110,000 passed over the bicentennial tables alone, and the croupiers and money-changers received more than $20,000 in tips. No figures were available for the rooms where "la boule" and other games of chance were played, but it is estimated that for the entire season only a little less than $10,000,000 was played.

Thousands of Americans and Englishmen left their tributes at the Casino tables, but this year French multi-millionaires were some of the heaviest players. M. Vagliano, a French shipbuilder, is credited with winning over $200,000, and James Henney, the French cognac king and racehorse owner, is said to have come away about $150,000 "ahead of the game."

An unknown Syrian and a quaint old Englishwoman, who always wore a handkerchief around her left wrist for luck, were also big winners.

Banner Night Horse Show at Fair Planned

Plans for the night horse show to be held in connection with the Oregon state fair, at Salem, on the nights of September 23, 29, 30 and October 1 are well under way and from all indications the show will be a most successful one. J. D. Farrell, the director in charge, has been able to interest all the owners of high grade saddle and harness horses in this vicinity and they are daily getting their mounts and entries in shape for the state fair show.

In addition to all of the local entries there will be stables from Spokane and Tacoma, Wash., represented.

The classes are so arranged that each night of the show should make a most interesting program for the spectators, as there will be light and heavy harness, saddle horses and jumping classes at all performances.

The prize money offered is as liberal as has been put up in former years and judging from the high class number of entries already received by H. M. Kerron, manager of the Portland Riding academy, who has had charge of the entries for the show, the contests for the coveted ribbons and honors in all of the classes will be most interesting to the lovers of horses.

Of particular interest, the hunting and jumping classes always seem to be the most attractive. The hunters that will be shown at the Oregon state fair, are the very best to be had in the country and among the entries are a number of horses that could compete in any of the big eastern horse shows and easily be in the prize winning.

Among the jumpers from Portland that will be shown at Salem are: Flying Fox, owned by W. J. Sanderson, which won so many of the jumping classes at the horse show held during the Shrine week on Multnomah field where he made a record of twenty three feet in the graton long jump, defeating Revel English's famous Bounder, who has always been a winner in all jumping contests on the Pacific coast; Princess Pat, owned by Oswald West; Beno, the fastest of the Portland Hunt club gallopers, owned by Fred A. Martin; Spider, owned by Claude Starr; Buster, owned by Walter Honeyman; Daisy, owned by Nat McDougall; Killarney, the heavy weight hunter, owned by James A. Nicol; four splendid jumping horses owned by H. M. Kerron; Vagabond, owned by Ralph Jenkins; and Ducal Crown, former star of the Drumheller racing stable and who has been developed into a most remarkable jumper, now owned by Charles G. Ferguson.

The hunter classes to be shown at the Salem state fair horse show will be for green hunters, that is, for horses that have never won in a horse show, light weight hunters, heavy weight hunters, ladies hunters, lady and gentleman pair of hunters, hunting teams in which two horses are ridden by gentlemen and one by a lady, and a number of open jumping contests, as well as the high jump championship.

The entries for the horse show close on the 23d of September and should be sent to H. M. Kerron, manager of the Portland Riding academy, 437 Johnson street.

Two local women entering horses in the show will be Mrs. Z. J. Riggs and Mrs. Frank S. Andrea. Mrs. Riggs will ride "Bon D," entering him in the green hunter class. Mrs. Andrea will enter two horses, "King Pat" and "Monte Cristo," the latter animal to be ridden by Mr. Andrea.

Honeymen and Salem Split Doubleheader

The sensational play of Sunday's game at Oxford park was registered by "Cack" Blanchard, who shattered a three-three tie in the eighth inning of the second game by lifting a homer over the head of the Honeyman right fielder. Bishop had Kracke were roosting on the sacks, raising the score to six-three in Salem's favor.

As play throughout the game was of the airtight variety, the fans registered feverish excitement and when "Cack" crossed the plate a shower of silver splattered him. The dependable first baseman bowed his thanks for the offering which totaled $24.60, and was right behind the team.

Take Second Game.

After taking a full inning in which to work out kinks and reunite the organization after a month's inactivity, the Senators took the second story of Sunday's double-header by a score of 6 to 4.

Both games with the Honeyman inter-city leaders of Portland demonstrated that that team is a Class-1 club. They had migrated to Salem for some purpose only, and that to win the state semi-pro championship and the $500 purse put up for this series of three games.

Through ragged playing, Salem lost the first of Sunday's clashes, permitting the Honeymen to stack up six runs to a forlorn two.

Plays Win Crowd.

Those fans who waited for the second game were rewarded, for this contest was replete with interest for eight good innings. Blanchard made his first of two homers in the second inning, tacking up the first score for Salem.

"Speck" Keene returned to Salem's fold Sunday after an absence of six months with the Idaho league. With Whitney Gill at the receiving end, Keene struck out eight men and kept the visitors nervous with his corner-trimming breaks.

During this second game every man in the organization buckled in and made heavy sledding for the much-vaunted Quizenbury, landing on him frequently. In this connection the Honeyman team gave their twirler very good support, pickling many promising drives.

Proctor made a neat play in the second canto when he held Quizenbury's hero, Hinkie who was trying a first-to-second steal. In the fifth inning, Bishop replaced Sturart.

Game summaries are as follows:

First Game. Salem, two runs, seven hits, two errors; Honeyman club, six runs, six hits, two errors. Batteries: Bishop and Kracke for Salem; Reed and Helmke for Honeyman. Home runs by Bishop, Steppe and Rockaway.

Second Game. Salem, six runs, ten hits, one error; Honeyman, four runs, six hits, one error. Batteries: Keen and Gill for Salem; Quizenbury and Helmke for Honeyman. Umpires for both games, "Red" Rankin and Hendricks.

At the conclusion of the game it was announced that the deciding contest of the series will be played at Oxford park, Sunday afternoon, September 26.

Denver Boxer Seeks Contest With Leonard

Denver.—Harry Schuman, Denver lightweight, wants to substitute for Eddie Fitzsimmons, the New York lightweight, who recently decided that he needed more ring experience before tackling the champion, Benny Leonard.

Jack Kanner, widely known boxing promoter and manager, who counts Schuman as the best bet of his "stable" of boxers, wired Tex Rickard, New York promoter, immediately upon receipt of word here that Fitzsimmons had taken a "run out powder," that he was prepared to match Schuman against Leonard in a championship bout in Madison Square Garden under any conditions that the champion might name.

Schuman was formerly the lightweight champion of the United States navy, in which he served during the world war. He has been polishing off many of the topnotchers of the lightweight division in bouts on the Pacific coast and throughout the Rocky mountain region during the past months and Manager Kanner declares that he is the logical contender for Champion Leonard's crown.

Hero Role Is Irksome For W. U. Athlete

Paul Wapato, all star athlete for Willamette university, is loath to admit that it always pays to be a hero.

Just as Coach Mathews is getting his eleven in good preliminary training order, a telegram Saturday summoned Wapato to Washington to appear as a witness in a civil suit. As "Wappy" plays right end on the team this season will break into his fall training.

The "hero" part of the story occurred about two years ago at Chelan, Wapato's home town. The big athlete was spending his vacation there and was on hand at a bathing resort when a 14 year old lad, Richard Kelsey, swam into a grounded electric wire. According to the Chelan account, Wapato turned off the current at a nearby switch and pulled young Kelsey out of the water. Kelsey's brother had attempted rescue and had nearly been electrocuted before the current was cut off.

As young Kelsey died as result of injuries, his parents have been conducting a two years' legal battle against the Chelan Power company, claiming damages.

"This is the third time I have been dragged into this case," sighed Wapato as he boarded a north-bound train, Sunday evening.

Boston Child Sees Terror of War In Russia

Boston.—Mildred Preuss, aged eleven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Preuss, of Jamaica Plain, has just been brought back to her home in Boston after seven years in Russia. She spent the last two years among strangers and earned her livelihood by washing dishes, sweeping floors and gathered camp PoK em mfw mfw gathering eggs.

For four years her parents have striven to have the girl returned to America. Finally, Mrs. Preuss journeyed to Goldingen, thirty miles from Libau, in Russia, and got her daughter.

The little girl, who has never been to school, has seen the terrors of war.

Portland.—Nearly 22,000,000 bushels of wheat will be produced in Oregon this year. All cereal crops will be larger than in 1919, according to government figures, which estimate an increase of 5,490,000 bushels on this particular grain alone. The potato yield will be close to 5,000,000 bushels. Other increases over last season will be in oats, barley and rye.

THAT Heating Stove

We want to tell you a little about the Heating Stoves and Ranges we offer for sale.

They are manufactured in Portland, Oregon; a home product; none better for service and wear made anywhere. This is a strong assertion but we stand right back of it and will not budge an inch.

The freight on one of these Heaters is about sixty-five cents. The freight on one from St. Louis or Chicago, the great "stove centers of the east", is from three fifty to four fifty each; we save you just that amount on every Heater purchased from us. Come in and let us prove this to you.

Prices are $21.00, $24.00, $28.50, $31.50. This $24.00 one is a specially good one—is size 19—cheerful with cast lining to tip of stove; a splendid buy while they last. We regret to state—but its a fact just the same—all Heaters and Ranges advance 10 per cent on October 1. Our advice is buy before that date.

RANGES

We carry the same manufacturers Ranges

Colonial Jr. and Colonial Sr.

The only difference is in the size; one being quite larger than the other, both made of Avmcro Iron, polished top, good big ovens, and will bake to the queen's taste.

The Juniors start at $79 and up to $95, according to finish and trimmings. The Seniors start at $106 and up to $125; no earthly necessity of paying more than this for a good first-class range. These prices are from $9 to $14 less than the same quality made in the east. Don't forget we save you that freight.

For that well-to-do farmer whose wife will have nothing but a Mallable Range, would say we can supply her needs, as we handle the celebrated Copper Clad Mallable—can not rust out as its lined with copper and will last a life time. The price, while these last we have on hand, $147.50. Ask to see this really wonderful range.

Do not buy anything in the Furniture or Floor Covering line before first looking thru our stock.
