Varsity Men Make Merry at Big Stag Mix

The men of Willamette university were entertained by the varsity mix Saturday night in the gymnasium. The chief athletic event of the evening was a mounted pillow fight, engaged in by representatives of the various classes. John Moody, sophomore, by virtue of being an ex-gov, won this through his ability to stay upright on the pole on which the contest was staged. He defeated Ralph Barnes the junior representative, in the final match. Some of the contests to decide who should represent the classes were as hard fought as the finals. Gansons, of the sophomore class, heard the better of a glove bout with Bird, freshman, in spite of the fact that he was greatly outweighed. Music by an impromptu jazz orchestra and a clogging exhibition by Everett Lisle filled in before the elder and pie were ready for consumption. There was no formality about the rush for the refreshment counter. Following the refreshments a number of clever stunts were en-

County Traffic Officer Arrests Six Violators

As a result of his patrol upon the Pacific Highway north of Salem, S. S. Steward, special traffic officer for Marion county, bagged six speedsters, Saturday and Sunday. Saturday's traffic violators were George Rouslow, of Astoria and G. W. Fenn, of Salem. Three who fell in the traffic cop's net, Sunday, were A. M. Fanning, of Salem, and H. A. Hamrock, L. H. Kombrod and Mr. Russell whose addresses are not given. All persons arrested were ordered to appear in Justice Court in Salem or Woodburn within ten days time.

Six Apply For Water Permits

Z. F. Ankrin of Payette, Idaho, has filed with the state engineer's office here an application for permission to construct a reservoir on Becker creek in Malheur county for the storage of water for irrigation purposes. Other applications covering water rights have been filed as follows: By Z. T. Keys of Fossil, Oregon, covering the appropriation of water from John Day river for the irrigation of a small tract in Wheeler county. By J. T. Baldwin of Unity, Oregon, covering the appropriation of water from Happy Camp, and Copper creeks for irrigation of 100 acres in Baker county. By H. W. Herman of Myrtle Creek covering the appropriation of water from North Myrtle creek for irrigation of 160 acres in Douglas county. By Sarah E. Stewart of Dayville, Oregon, covering the appropriation of water from Cabin Creek for irrigation of forty acres, and by Wayne Stewart of Dayville, covering the appropriation of water from Todd creek for irrigation of forty acres in Grant county. By Elmer S. Graves of Silver Lake covering the appropriation of water from Buck lake for irrigation of 160 acres in Lake county.

Drainage Land Values Fixed

Based on a report submitted by Joe McAllister of the state engineer's office the state land board at a special meeting Monday afternoon fixed $10 an acre as the price which the state is willing to accept for the lands included in the beds of Whitaker and Fairview lakes in Multnomah county. The two lakes which cover an area of 228.72 acres are located within the boundaries of Multnomah drainage district No. 1, which has expressed a desire to purchase the lakes for drainage and reclamation. If the district is willing to accept the offer of the state a contract will be entered into and deed will be given when the land is reclaimed. It is estimated that the drainage of the lakes will cost the district $135.50 per acre in addition to the state's price for the land.

Park Director To Be Present At Conference

Stephen T. Hather, director of national parks will attend the conference of members of the Crater Lake hotel committee, to be held here Friday, according to a telegram received by Governor Olcott Monday. Hather, who is now visiting the national parks of the west, is now at Yosemite, Calif., and states in his telegram that he will probably be accompanied on his visit on his visit to Salem by Mr. McCormick of the Southern Pacific, Mr. Dohman, head of Yosemite National Park company, and Mr. Whitecom, head of the Rainier concession.

Eugene during the week experienced the heaviest rainfall in its history when 1.11 inches fell in 48 hours.

Salem Rotarians Host to Visitors

Two banquets in honor of Estes Snidow of Portland, international president of Rotary, and visiting Rotarians are on the Booster day program of the Salem Rotary club. The first banquet was held at the Leslie Methodist church at noon when the Rotarians were guests of Rev. H. N. Aldrich and ladies of the Leslie church, an appetizing luncheon being served. Mr. Snidow and Richard E. Carruthers of Astoria were the principal speakers. With other Rotarian guests were Peter G. Smith of Olympia, Wash., J. M. Hill, H. E. Weed and E. B. Hyatt of Portland. Members of the Vancouver Pruanarians were also invited guests, being J. W. Shaw, R. E. Dunbar, E. M. Andrews, H. E. Short, W. S. Short, Louis Shattuck, J. E. Lee, W. J. Knapp, W. J. Kinney, L. Clark and George A. Prigman, a Portland visitor. An evening repast will be served at the fair grounds at 5:30 o'clock today, the Salem club being host to the visitors. All Rotarians are invited to visit headquarters at the fair grounds and to attend the evening banquet.

Annual Hazing Sees Freshman Ducked and Tied

Freshmen and sophomores of Willamette university met Monday night in conflict on the corner of Mill and Winter streets, the sophomores by strength of numbers succeeding in tying up twenty of the new men. Some of the unfortunate freshmen were marooned on the island across the slough, some were given a long ride into the country and forced to walk back, while four being football men whom it was deemed bad policy to keep up late, were summarily initiated to the icy water of the mill stream which flows by the campus. Four cars full of captives and one or two of appreciated witnesses boldly paraded through town.

Social Events At Willamette 'Are Curtailed'

The number of student social functions at Willamette university will be curtailed this year, according to an announcement by Dean E. M. Richards, chairman of the social dates committee. The literary societies will have only three dates allowed a semester instead of four as last year, and the Washingtonian society will have only one during the year, instead of one a semester.

Cook county will put on a big live stock exhibit at the state fair. Silverside salmon are reported in considerable numbers as far south as Tillamook. Ground has been broken for the erection of the Anderson training school at Beaverton. Prune growers at Forest Grove stand to suffer because the fruit is rotting for want of pickers. High schools of Jefferson, Deschutes and Crook counties plan a football league for the fall season. Six dozen Chinese pheasants, males and females have been leased on Clatsop Plains and Nehalem valley. Ira Harrington of Prineville, Dallas, cut his foot while splitting wood and bled to death before help came.
