Armistice Day Celebration at Dallas Planned

Dallas, Nov. 5.—Armistice day will start off with a bang, and everyone in Dallas will live over again the joyous days of November 11, 1918. The dwelling owners and business men are asked to bedeck their homes and places of business with the stars and stripes and assist in every way possible in making the celebration one to be remembered. As governor has declared the day a state holiday all the local business houses will be closed the entire day.

The celebration will start off with a parade promptly at 2 o'clock. The ex-service men and veterans of the world war will wear their uniforms, and the parade will be led by company L. O. N. G., which was recently federalized. According to Colonel Staffin, if enough members of the Dallas band can be called together, the procession will be headed by the band boys. After marching through the main streets of Dallas, the procession will be adjourned.

A banquet will be served cafeteria style at the armory in honor of the ex-service men and their families and invited guests. The refreshments and plans for the banquet are in charge of committee selected from the American Legion auxiliary, and extensive plans are being made as to the table decorations and refreshments. A meeting will be held Friday evening at the armory, and final plans will be made. All those wishing to become charter members of the organization are requested to be there.

Colonel Staffin who is chairman of the program committee stated: "We will complete arrangements for the program Friday evening at the legion meeting. I have a program outlined and we will have to vote on it Friday night. It is quite possible that we will call an ex-service men for extemporaneous speeches on their overseas experiences. Musical numbers and readings are also included."

The finale of the evening will be a grand ball, to which the entire public and service men and their families are invited. The ball will be held at the armory and is in charge of Robert S. Kresson of the dance committee. Mr. Kresson has secured the Ho-Lo-Bo orchestra of Corvallis for the evening. Cards will be played in one of the reception rooms for those who do not participate in dancing.

The Independence legion has agreed to attend the celebration and the commander of the legion said that they would be here "full force."

Dr. and Mrs. O. E. Dennis of Oak Dale received a telegram Saturday night from the government authorities at Hoboken, stating that the body of Sergeant Newman Dennis had arrived at that place, and was immediately being shipped to his home at Dallas.

Mrs. Dennis stated that the body would possibly arrive within the next ten days and the immediate arrangements would be made for this funeral. Sergeant Dennis died from ptomaine poisoning while in France and his death was one of the first in the old company L, 162d Infantry.

The foreman of the Huber Construction Co., who supervised the work of moving the paving plant from Eola to this place, expects to put up the plant soon and get it in readiness for operation. The Huber Co. had the contract of building the road between Salem and Dallas and the work was abandoned when the road controversy sprung up some time ago. It now seems as if the work is going to continue, but probably not before spring. The roads from Dallas to Brunk's corners is in a very bad condition since the wet weather commenced, and is getting worse every day it is used.
