Great Future Predicted for Fireproof Lumber Industry Being Developed at Mt. Angel

Mt. Angel, Or., Nov. 22.—That the Mt. Angel Fireproof Lumber company is destined to become one of the great industries of the northwest is the belief of many persons who have been investigating the new feature recently discovered, which is intended for use in manufacturing waterproofed rubber. The company has just installed a new weaving machine at the plant here, and the Silverton planing machine at the plant here, and the Silverton Planing Pipe company is building an air separator plant which will be installed within a few days. By the time these are in condition to resume hauling from the mines the company will be well equipped to handle the business.

They have applied for a patent on the "Tuffite" and while this is pending little is said of the possibilities of the future, but several people parties who have examined samples of the material speak very highly of it. Samples have been sent to many of the rubber manufacturing concerns in the country, it is said, and as yet not one objective feature has been received. Already it has been used in the manufacture of automobile tires and some of these are in service in Mt. Angel.

Tuffite, which is manufactured at the mill here for different purposes, is a soft porous rock found in great quantity on the St. Benedictine farm east of Mt. Angel in the Abiqua basin. When the discovery was first made a house was built from the rock upon this farm some 35 years ago and the building is yet standing. The industry was not developed until quite recently when parties became interested in its possibilities and since the mill was erected in Mt. Angel the lumber has been shipped to different parts of the northwest to be used in the construction of fireplaces and other things where such material is required. Since it has developed that the material is of great value in the manufacture of hardened rubber those interested in the industry look forward to its future development with much anticipation.

Polk County Couples Married

Falls City, Or., Nov. 22.—A wedding took place at the Methodist parsonage last Friday, the participants of which were two of the best known young people of the Falls City country. The bride was Miss Grace LaVern Wooden, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wooden of the Gold Creek school house, about five miles north and west of Willamina. Miss Wooden has been active in the social activities in her community and is recognized as a capable and earnest worker for the benefit of all social functions. She received her education at the Gold Creek public school. The bridegroom, Fred Ernest Werth, owns a farm adjoining property of the Valley Junction school house, about five miles north and east of Grand Ronde. Mr. Werth comes from one of the best-known families of Polk county. The wedding was a culmination of a romance of some period of time. They will be at home after a honeymoon trip and will be glad to welcome their friends.

Ralph W. Ray of Falls City and Muriel Cooper of Airlie, were married in the court rooms at the court house Saturday afternoon by Rev. James of the Methodist church.

France Paces Prohibition

"We know very well that women consider alcohol and would cast their votes for young and strong men.

"One instance to prove that we need women in the Senate. A few months ago the Deputies and Senators voted themselves large increases in salary. They increased the salary of the President of the republic from 1,200,000 francs a year to 2,000,000. At the same time they passed a number of laws to encourage French women to have more children. They also pay women who fed their babies themselves a pension of fifteen francs a month (a little more than one dollar, at the present rate of exchange). Yet there been one woman in Parliament to have laughed down such a ridiculous proposition.

"I am sure all the women of the world get the ballot they will finally cease, says Madame Verone.

"War, of course, applies to offensive war," she added. "Women have to face another defensive war, as the women of France will take the same stand they did last time."

Woodburn Holds Fine Corn Show All of Itself

Woodburn, Or., Nov. 22.—At this time of the year, when the country is full of corn and corn shows the Bank of Woodburn has a real corn show all of its own, and it is attracting no little attention on the part of growers in this vicinity. In different parts of the building excellent specimens of Oregon-grown products are displayed.

If premiums were to be awarded for the corn exhibits taken from the products of Woodburn fields, probably L. M. Bitney would claim a large portion of them. He has produced some fine corn this season on his farm near town from seed he obtained while on a visit to the Black Hills of South Dakota. It is a soft, early corn and the kernels are blue and white. It is an excellent yielding corn, he says.

Farmers in this section are taking more interest in the production of corn year after year and Woodburn has already come to be a great corn-producing section.

License, Medic Voucher and Fee for Judge, $8.50

"How much does it cost to get married?" This was the question asked Saturday of Ruth Wallace, deputy county clerk. The questioner was only one of many who attempt to estimate costs before surrendering to Daniel Cupid and company.

At the present time, according to information secured at the county courthouse, the legal proceedings incident to the embarkation upon the more or less untroubled seas of matrimony will aggregate about $8.25. Detailede items of these expenditures follow: Medical certificate $2.50; marraige license $3.25, magistrates fee, $2.50.

County Judge W. M. Busbey states that his usual fee is $2.50, but asserts that "anything from ten cents to ten dollars," is acceptable.

Of course, wedding jewelry such as the marriage band, is not included in this list. During the month of October, 32 couples obtained marriage licenses from the office of County Clerk U. G. Boyer.
