Brakes Fail to Hold; Cars Clash

Silverton, Dec. 7.—Riding in his new car on North Water street a few days ago, Charles Seaman, of Marquam, learned too late that his brakes were defective and collided with the rear end of George Kirk's auto truck. With both lights broken and the radiator bent and broken, the situation looked serious to Mr. Seaman, and it was for the "Baby Grand" was no longer grand. After some time and considerable expense was laid out on the machine, he managed to drive it home.

Schaefer Wins Car at Bazaar; Which One Puzzle

Mt. Angel, Ore., Dec. 7.—Because there happened to be several George Schaefer's in this vicinity the management of the bazaar found some difficulty in finding the right George Schaefer to claim here during the sale. Not one of them seemed to be timid about accepting the machine, but the idea was to get the right person with the right number, and he was finally located.

Wife Wants Decree On Cruelty Charge

Charging that her husband made her do menial work in a rooming house in Los Angeles owned by his brother and that he visited another woman when she was ill from overwork, Mrs. Phebe Ann Payne, of Brooks, filed suit for divorce yesterday.

The Paynes were married in Canada in January 1873, according to the application for divorce, which was filed by Carson and Brown, attorneys, and eleven children were born of the marriage.

Mrs. Payne charges that her husband, knowing she was ill sent her to Oregon with three of the children and remained in California. For some time, she said, he sent her $25 monthly and then finally dropped off all together. He has treated her cruelly, she alleges, and has not supported her since three years ago.

Immortal Writers of American Literature

Mr. Harris has been accorded the recognition of being one of the immortal writers of American literature, and his Uncle Remus stories have been translated into many foreign languages.

Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, president of the Uncle Remus Memorial association, originated the idea of observing the birthday of Mr. Harris and has appointed chairmen in every state to provide programs and stimulate interest in the occasion.

Mr. Harris has been accorded the recognition of being one of the immortal writers of American literature, and his Uncle Remus stories have been translated into many foreign languages.
