There is no better "home town" on the whole Pacific coast than Salem. She will keep on growing, and those who buy now, will be the ones to profit most. As for any serious decline in prices! You know the story of the youngster who asked his little friend for a bite of her apple, and when refused plaintively begged for the core, and was told in reply 'there ain't going to be no core!" That is just about the situation in regard to a serious decline.

If you want terms, what do you think of these?
