Bids On State Supplies Opened

The opening of bids for the semi annual supplies for the various state institutions under the jurisdiction of the state board of control, Thursday, was attended by more than the usual spirit of rivalry, indicating a board of control members declared, a keener desire for new business than has been displayed at any time during the past few years. While it will require several days to check over the bids in order to arrive at any accurate comparisons with former prices, a general trend toward reductions was noticeable in most lines. This is especially true in the case of wool blankets which show a material decline from their former high plane. The bids opened Thursday cover the needs of the state institutions in the line of groceries, clothing, drugs and miscellaneous supplies for the six months period from January 1 to June 30.
