Kills His Wife Drinks Poison at Dallas Today

George F. West of Fellows, Cal., entered the home of John G. Brown in Dallas shortly before 11:30 o'clock Monday morning and shot to death his wife, who had been employed as housekeeper for Mr. Brown, and then himself drank two ounces of carbolic acid. Brown is in an unconscious condition but Dallas physicians think he will recover.

West had driven in a taxi from Salem to Dallas Friday, Saturday and Sunday in search of his wife and today shortly before 11 o'clock drove to the Brown house in a taxi and entered shooting twice. The first bullet entered his wife's right temple and the second has not yet been located. Immediately afterwards he rushed out to the taxi and asked for his bag re-entering the house and then drinking the poison.

The taxi driver whose name could not be learned in Salem immediately notified the Polk county sheriff and upon the return to the Brown house found Mrs. West dead and Mr. Brown in an unconscious condition. He was taken to the Dallas hospital and physicians think he will recover. West formerly lived at Perrydale and at one time worked for Frank Lyman. Over a year he went to California and came north again just at week in search of his wife.

The inquest over the body of Mrs. West will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the R. L. Chapman funeral parlors in Dallas.

West is over 60 years old and his wife was about 50 years old.

Given, a perfect mechanism so constructed that with ordinary care it would last a lifetime. If presented to you with the only obligation on your part of giving it ordinary care, you would gladly accept it, assuming of course, that it would be highly useful to you. Such a gift you already have. Your vision is such a mechanism, designed to last and to serve you a lifetime, with ordinary care. The upkeep of no man-made machine is more important than the upkeep of the wonder mechanism of vision, if for no other reason than that vision is a "once given gift." Our eye examinations are made with the most modern equipment, insuring you the greatest accuracy.
