

Capital Journal

Salem, Oregon
An Independent Newspaper
Published evenings except Sunday by Capital Journal Printing Co., 135 South Commercial.
Telephone 81—Circulation and Business; 82—Editorial, 83.
G. Putnam, Editor and Publisher
Entered as second class mail matter at Salem, Oregon.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
By carrier, 55 cents a month. By mail, in Oregon and Polk counties, 50 cents a month. Elsewhere $7 a year, $3.50 for 6 months $1.75 for three months. Mail subscriptions payable in advance.

Advertising representatives—W. D. Ward, Tribune Bldg., New York—W. H. Stockwell, Peoples Gas Bldg., Chicago.

MEMBER ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also local news published herein.

Loganberry Laughs

By Robert Quillen

Can it be possible that Villi is Mexican for virtue?

A girl must choose between dressing modestly and attracting attention.

She is a clever wife who doesn't keep all of her good clothes to wear away from home.

The man who would appear wise must acquire a few ideas or learn a few Latin phrases.

Happiness is largely a matter of refusing to worry about what may happen tomorrow.

The American plan of standardization takes the romance out of industry and complexities.

Once more you can ask for a dime's worth of something without being considered a humorist.

It wasn't the closed shop or the open shop that brought on this depression, but the don't shop.

If that sales tax goes through, perhaps one-half of us can get jobs checking up the other half.

Germany will find it difficult to win back the respect of the world until she has money to spend.

Brief history of 1929: "Regarding cost." Brief forecast for 1931: "This account is long overdue."

In the jungle every creature thinks of its rights, and none of its duty. That is the reason it is a jungle.

There should be some sort of medal for the hero who pays the whole of his income tax in the face of terrific temptation.

Mother tries to keep up with world problems, but little Willie's report card is yet the problem of greater interest.

For supper a married man sets what was left from dinner; the single man does, also, but the restaurant doesn't confess it.

When the average man feels temptation, he feels annoyed if Providence doesn't pay him a cash reward the next day.

Financial crisis: A time when all of the farmer's money must be used to relieve the embarrassment of the stock gambler.

"To him that hath shall be given," saith the radical, and laid his tribute at the rich man's door just before it exploded.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

(Copyrighted)

The New Year
I liked the old-style New Year's day.
When friendly calls we used to pay,
An' with our friends we sat about
Till twelve to let the old year out,
An' then with racket an' with din
We proudly let the New Year in;
The oldest heart back then was sterner
By smile's face an' cheerful word,
An' none would pass the day unless
He'd wished his neighbors happiness.

Back then we set the day apart
For special service of the heart,
The most important job we had,
Was makin' other people glad,
An' showin' 'em by word an' deed
That spite of difference of creed,
Or rank or piece of wealth or fame,
They had our friendship just the same;
An' just to make our meaning clear,
We wished 'em all a glad New Year.

No distance was too far to go
Along the drifted lanes o' snow
To greet an old friend, tried an' true,
An' all the old time joys renew;
We'd slip that dandelion wine,
An' smack our lips an' call it fine,
An' eat at every table we made
Some fancy cake the women made,
An' then we'd wish 'em everything
Of joy or glad New Year could bring.

I liked the old style New Year's day,
An' with it hadn't passed away,
No printed card can take the place
Of kindly wishes raised to speak
A pledge of friendship as men speak.

Each other's health an' safety led,
They hope the Year will treat 'em well,
Nothing has equaled, after all,
That good old-fashioned New Year's call.

The Hyphen Vote

Commenting upon the established fact that the German vote, the Irish vote and the Italian vote was cast solidly for Harding for president, the Portland Oregonian says:

It is futile and untrue to talk of the paramount influence of the Irish, German and Italian vote. There are no such votes. There are men and women of alien birth or ancestry who have become American citizens, and they vote as Americans, not as Germans, or Irish, or Italians. At least they should. Certainly they did last November. It was the voice of America that then spoke, and not the voice of Germany or Ireland or Italy.

At least they should vote as Americans, but they did not. They voted as aliens to punish the administration for not complying with the wishes of their native land, and the Oregonian knows it.

Germans voted solidly for Harding because of America's entering the war against Germany, because of the president's part in drafting the treaty of Versailles, which meted out the punishment to Germany for instigating the war, and because they expected Harding to repudiate the peace treaty so that Germany will escape payment of indemnity.

The Irish voted solidly for Harding because they opposed America's entrance into war as an ally of England and opposed the League of Nations because the peace treaty did not confer independence upon Ireland, and because Great Britain was a member of the League.

The Italians voted for Harding because President Wilson opposed Italy's seizing Fiume and grabbing the coast of the Adriatic.

These statements are facts. Wherever the hyphenated vote was strongest, Harding received a record vote, whether it was in Irish New York City or the Italian quarter of the east-side, or in Chicago, the sixth German city. Our own German precincts in Oregon, formerly democratic, voted solidly in the primaries for Johnson and in the election for Harding.

The republicans deliberately fostered discontent and unrest among the aliens and most of the vicious attacks made in the senate upon our allies of the war, were for the purpose of securing the votes of hyphens.

Of course President Harding's course, whatever it be, will not be pleasing to these foreign elements and if he follows, as he probably will, a policy for America, insists on punishing Germany, refusing to interfere in Ireland, and frowns on Italy's imperialistic ambition, he will reap their united enmity as his successor has.

It is regrettable, but nevertheless true, that many of our naturalized citizens still place the interests of their native land above the interests of their adopted country and are organized for united action in politics to this end.

Watch for the Joker

The long controversy between the commercial fishing interests and the sportsmen will be ended if bills prepared by the state fish and game commission becomes laws.

The commission is divided now in two sections, under the bill passed at the special session, with members appointed by the legislature, a game commission of five and a fish commission of three, with a neutral arbitrator. The proposed bills provides for separate commissions to be appointed by the governor and a complete divorce of the two departments. Changes in the game code to harmonize the segregation are also provided.

The new game code provides that the trout season opens May 1. This is an improvement over the present law, which opens the season on April 1, but it would be better yet if the open season was postponed until June 1.

The new code, however, it is reported, still carries the joker in the present code, making it legal to take a "salmon trout" over 10 inches in length the year around. As there is no such variety of fish as "salmon trout" the label is applied to any trout over 10 inches in length, so that a year around open season is provided, in which spawning trout may be taken, and the protection of trout nullified.

Sportsmen really interested in trout preservation and propagation should see to it that this joker is eliminated, and real protection be given the trout.

The Restless Sex

By Robert Chambers, Author of "Barbarians," "The Dark Star," etc. (Copyrighted 1918 by Robert W. Chambers)

The pushing din of the orchestra, the low hum of the lights, the soft glow of the stage, the faint murmur of the audience, the soft glow of the stage, the faint murmur of the audience, the soft glow of the stage, the faint murmur of the audience.

Her bewitched fingers rested on the rail, her slender body pressed against it; she stood with bent head, gazing down into the vortex of the orchestra, her eyes fixed on the glowing depths of the hall of all the Gods.

Her jewel-encrusted fingers rested on the rail, her slender body pressed against it; she stood with bent head, gazing down into the vortex of the orchestra, her eyes fixed on the glowing depths of the hall of all the Gods.

She turned restlessly and went on into the auditorium. A dryad was performing the flames there and a gale of laughter and applause arose from her comrades watching her in a semi-circle.

The Olympians, too, all seemed to have gathered there for a frolic—Zeus, Hermes, the long-legged Astarte, the amazingly realistic Aphrodite, and Eros, more realistic still—all clasping hands and dancing a ring-around-a-rosy while Bacchus and Ariadne in the center performed a breakdown which drew frantic shouts of approval from the watching ring.

Then, in this hilarious circle, Stephanie caught sight of the mad nose and transparent raiment of the button-eyed Goddess of Night, and next her, hand clasping hand, she recognized Cleland as another link in the rapidly rotating ring.

Aphrodite and Eros, hand locked in hand, were singing the song they had made so popular in "The Prince of Argolis" early in the winter:

"Mrs. Aphrodite
Gave her pretty sunny
Toss of golden curls
Her little golden money,
Dressed him in a nightgown—
(Listen to me, girls!)
Love of golden curls
Leads the world astray!
(Listen to me, honey!)
Lay of golden money
Leads the selfish way!"

Restless with laughter, the dryad and goddesses round and round in a dizzy circle, flying dresses and loosened hair fluttered and swayed and glittered in confused confusion before her angry eyes.

Suddenly the mad dance broke up and the fragments, scattering in all directions, sought refuge in the seats.

Stephanie's eyes were fixed on the glowing depths of the hall of all the Gods.

Her jewel-encrusted fingers rested on the rail, her slender body pressed against it; she stood with bent head, gazing down into the vortex of the orchestra, her eyes fixed on the glowing depths of the hall of all the Gods.

Her bewitched fingers rested on the rail, her slender body pressed against it; she stood with bent head, gazing down into the vortex of the orchestra, her eyes fixed on the glowing depths of the hall of all the Gods.

Her jewel-encrusted fingers rested on the rail, her slender body pressed against it; she stood with bent head, gazing down into the vortex of the orchestra, her eyes fixed on the glowing depths of the hall of all the Gods.

Her bewitched fingers rested on the rail, her slender body pressed against it; she stood with bent head, gazing down into the vortex of the orchestra, her eyes fixed on the glowing depths of the hall of all the Gods.

Her jewel-encrusted fingers rested on the rail, her slender body pressed against it; she stood with bent head, gazing down into the vortex of the orchestra, her eyes fixed on the glowing depths of the hall of all the Gods.

Her bewitched fingers rested on the rail, her slender body pressed against it; she stood with bent head, gazing down into the vortex of the orchestra, her eyes fixed on the glowing depths of the hall of all the Gods.

Her jewel-encrusted fingers rested on the rail, her slender body pressed against it; she stood with bent head, gazing down into the vortex of the orchestra, her eyes fixed on the glowing depths of the hall of all the Gods.

Her bewitched fingers rested on the rail, her slender body pressed against it; she stood with bent head, gazing down into the vortex of the orchestra, her eyes fixed on the glowing depths of the hall of all the Gods.

Ritner And Bean Seated

(Continued from Page One.)
A chief clerk for the senate failed to materialize and John B. Hunt was named to that position without opposition.

Woman Is Seated.
For the first time in the history of the Oregon senate a woman now sits among the clerks of that body in the person of Miss Rosina L. Miller of McMinnville, named this morning without opposition as assistant chief clerk.

Other clerks and attaches were named by the senate this morning as follows:

Calendar clerk, Albert R. Goddard of Umatilla county.
Reading clerk, Walter L. Toode of Marion county.

Sergeant at arms, Col. W. G. D. Mercer of Lane county.
Door keeper, H. T. Bruce of Multnomah county.

Assistant door keeper, R. S. McClamban of Multnomah county.
Mailing clerk, L. T. Brown of Douglas county.

Senators Vinton, Moser and Epstein were named as committee on rules and the senate adjourned until 2:25 o'clock this afternoon.

Bean Is Unopposed.
The house of representatives convened in the 1921 biennial session at 10:30 o'clock this morning, electing Representative K. K. Kubli of Multnomah as temporary chairman and Frank Deager of Salem as chief clerk. Prayer by Rev. James A. Evin of Salem as chaplain of the day followed. On motion of Representative Frank Davey of Salem, the following committees were named by the chair to report at 2 o'clock:

Committee on temporary organization—Representatives Gordon, Burdick, Hurd, Jay and Sheldon.
Credentials—McFarland, Hunter, Glover, Sloan and Gallagher.

At 2 o'clock the committees will report, and Representative L. E. Bean will be unanimously elected speaker and the session be formally underway. List of committee appointments will be made late this afternoon.

Among the assured chairmanships are:

Herbert Gordon, Multnomah county, chairman of the ways and means committee.
A. M. Wright, Sherman county, chairman of roads and highway committee.

E. V. Carter, Jackson, chairman of the banking committee.
K. K. Kubli, Multnomah county, chairman of the resolutions committee.

C. E. Woodson, Morrow county, chairman of the revision of laws committee.

Japs Promise To Leave Rio Grande

Brownsville, Texas, Jan. 10.—Tension in the lower Rio Grande valley over the arrival of prospective Japanese colonists appeared eased today as a result of the promise by two Japanese families at Harlingen to return to California.

Members of the American Legion post at Harlingen pledged their aid in recovery of $10,000 which the colonists said they contracted and partly in cash to Z. Yamata for farming property near Harlingen. Yamata is a Japanese resident of Los Angeles.

First Woman Consul.

Tokyo, Jan. 10.—Yokohama claims the honor of having the first woman consul in the world. She is Mrs. Diana Agapeg Ancar, of Armenia, and she is now representing the new republic of the Near East in Japan.

Mrs. Ancar is sixty-one years old and a widow. The foreign office has recently received official notification of Mrs. Ancar's appointment.

Denver Chief Dead

Denver, Colo., Jan. 10.—Chief of Police Hamilton Armstrong, 62 years old, died early today of heart disease.

Eugene—Three Large Shipments of Wood Products

Eugene, Ore., Jan. 10.—Three large shipments of wood products from the Eugene Hande company's plant have been made to San Francisco and Portland within the last few days. Handies are made from ash grown in Lane county and converted for use on shovels, forks, rakes and other implements. Wood formerly hauled to town for fuel is purchased and saved from the green through dry kilns, then lathes, a sandpapering and waxing process finishes the handies, which are shipped in thousand dozen lots.

Immigration Commissioner to Study European Conditions

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—Anthony Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration, department of labor, sailed for Europe recently to study existing conditions affecting immigration to the United States. Mr. Caminetti will visit Poland, Germany and Italy, the Balkans and other immigration centers. One of the main purposes of Mr. Caminetti's trip is to prevent, if possible, the transportation of aliens who cannot be admitted to this country.

Now Showing

ONCE (Just once) TO EVERY WOMAN

LIBERTY

Anthony Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration, department of labor, sailed for Europe recently to study existing conditions affecting immigration to the United States.

Mr. Caminetti will visit Poland, Germany and Italy, the Balkans and other immigration centers. One of the main purposes of Mr. Caminetti's trip is to prevent, if possible, the transportation of aliens who cannot be admitted to this country.

He will study existing conditions affecting immigration to the United States.

Mr. Caminetti will visit Poland, Germany and Italy, the Balkans and other immigration centers.

One of the main purposes of Mr. Caminetti's trip is to prevent, if possible, the transportation of aliens who cannot be admitted to this country.

He will study existing conditions affecting immigration to the United States.

Mr. Caminetti will visit Poland, Germany and Italy, the Balkans and other immigration centers.

One of the main purposes of Mr. Caminetti's trip is to prevent, if possible, the transportation of aliens who cannot be admitted to this country.

He will study existing conditions affecting immigration to the United States.

Mr. Caminetti will visit Poland, Germany and Italy, the Balkans and other immigration centers.

One of the main purposes of Mr. Caminetti's trip is to prevent, if possible, the transportation of aliens who cannot be admitted to this country.

He will study existing conditions affecting immigration to the United States.

Mr. Caminetti will visit Poland, Germany and Italy, the Balkans and other immigration centers.

One of the main purposes of Mr. Caminetti's trip is to prevent, if possible, the transportation of aliens who cannot be admitted to this country.

He will study existing conditions affecting immigration to the United States.

Mr. Caminetti will visit Poland, Germany and Italy, the Balkans and other immigration centers.

THE TALE OF DADDY LONGLEGS

BY ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

A Dangerous Business
Sandy Chipmunk did not tell Daddy Longlegs how he had been tied up in the sack of wheat and had had a ride in the wagon himself. He did not like riding in wagons.

And he had been so glad to escape from the sack and jump into the bushes by the roadside that he had stopped to dance a Daddy's tree before scampering back home.

His suggestion took Daddy Longlegs by surprise. At first he felt a bit timid about riding in a wagon. But Sandy Chipmunk assured him it was not half as bad as it was said to be.

"Come on!" cried Sandy. "I'll show you the way to the road." And having started Daddy in the right direction, he hastened off to the road himself, to wait for the wagon.

Sandy waited by the roadside for a long, long time. And while he was lingering there, Daddy Longlegs was battling with the wind and having hard work to keep his feet. But by hurrying along fences and dodging behind bowlers and bushes and every other sort of shelter that he could find, Daddy managed to reach the roadside at last, where he arrived quite out of breath.

"Hurrah!" Sandy Chipmunk shouted, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

"He can't be half as anxious to reach home as I am," Daddy Longlegs remarked. "And if he weren't, go his fastest after I'm aboard the wagon I hope Johnnie Green will

shout, as soon as Daddy joined him. "Here you are—and you're rattling down the next hill. And old Ebenezer (that's the horse, please remember) he'll climb this rise as fast as he can, because he's in a hurry to get home."

whip him hard." "Johnnie can't do that," said Sandy Chipmunk. "His father won't let him have a whip." "Well, he could cut a switch. I should think!" Daddy Longlegs exclaimed. But Sandy shook his head. "Johnnie's grandmother would not let him do that," he replied. "But you don't need to worry. You will get home soon enough." Soon the two watchers saw the old horse Ebenezer come up the road. And the sent Daddy Longlegs into a fit of excitement. "Here they come!" "You'd better stand in the middle of the road, and sure to stop them." And the mere thought such a dangerous man made Daddy Longlegs pale.

Every Drop of Your Blood Should Be Absolutely Pure

Any slight disorder or impurities is a source of danger, as every vital organ of the body depends upon the blood supply to properly perform its functions.

Many painful and dangerous diseases are the direct result of a bad condition of the blood. Among the most serious are Rheumatism, with its torturing pain; Eczema, Tetter, Erysipelas and other disfiguring skin diseases; general debility, which makes the strongest men helpless, and many others are the direct result of blood.

You can find a large quantity of Jell-O in the drug stores of S. S.