Clothing Stolen
From Clothesline
Oregon City, Ore. Feb. 21—Saturday evening the clothesline of Mrs. E. R. McGahuey at Fifth and Jackson streets, was robbed of several pieces of women's underwear, and the articles taken were of the best materials hung out to dry. The line had been stretched on the front porch and of the washing hung out nothing was taken but the women's underwear garments.
Evidently the belief is a woman, but so far she has eluded all attempts by the officers and residents to catch her, and generally visits several lines in the neighborhood during one raid. No other clothes have been reported missing, however, but the latest case is parallel to that of recent clothes line raids which took place about three weeks ago.

Spring Brings New Styles
IN PRETTY RED CROSS PUMPS AND OXFORDS

Almost every express brings new shipments direct from the east of the new Red Cross pumps and oxfords. These we are marking, basing our price on the new now price scale, as fast as they come in and placing them on sale for early spring purchasers.

According to the expression of eminent shoe authorities pumps will predominate in this season's wear. These will include both patent and kid pumps in plain models, fancy cross straps, and attractive buckle effects. Oxfords will be worn largely in Cuban and low-heeled lasts.

$8.95
Brown kid oxford, Cuban heel, just received from the east $9.50

$9.50
Black kid oxford, Cuban heel, will be popular this season $9.50

To give that dressy appearance, pumps and oxfords, even more than high shoes, require expert fitting. Every member of our sales force is an expert shoe man, and no shoe leaves this house that does not fit the foot. We study the welfare of your feet.

$6.85
Gun Metal oxford, military heel, a good looking shoe for a reasonable price

$9.50
Black kid strap pump, Louis heel, one of the season's newest creations

$9.75
