Salem Men Try Races On Cycles

Smith Brothers Enter 5-Mile Sidecar Run and Break Down; Reuel Third In Race

Salem is making a bid for prominence in motorcycledom, with Reuel Smith and his brother Hiram battling for victory with the Indian champion Burns, Burns, world beater. Such is the story of Harry Scott and the Smith brothers who have returned from the races in Portland Sunday and Monday.

Both brothers entered in the side car race for five miles, but each had hard luck and were forced to drop out of the race. Thus ended Sunday, but undaunted, the Smith brothers put the good parts of one machine together with the presentables of other, and on Monday, Reuel rode for third place on the dirt track close behind the wizard Burns. Part of Burns name as speed-demon comes from his uncanny luck on the track, according to spectators from Salem. In the ten-mile open race he was as good as beaten when a couple of his opponents uncorked a bottle of hard luck and washed away with a breakdown.

Equaling the world's record on a dirt track, Jim Davis on a Harley-Davidson machine turned a mile in 46.6 seconds, for one of the features of the races. He also won the northwestern championship in the 15-mile race in 12:2.3 making an average time of 74 miles an hour. In the 5-mile side car race the dirt track record for the world was approached with a time of 5:11.

The Harley-Davidson took away most of the honors of the meet, but Burns on his Indian rode to a fare-the-well. Ludlow and Davis of the Harley squad were the most notable performers of the races.

Joe Peters, pilot of an airplane that rose to shoot movies of the races, was badly injured when his plane crashed near the track shortly after starting. The plane carried five passengers, including the pilot and his mechanic, and before it was fairly started the motor went bad. Not sufficient headway to control the machine had been attained, and it plunged to the ground, smashing the machine beyond hope of repair. Some doubts of Peters recovery are held but injuries of others were pronounced not to be serious.

It had been planned to drop a rooster from the plane for a general scramble the lucky one who would catch it to receive $100 credit on a motorcycle. But the breakdown put an end to these plans.

Salem observers look forward to next year when the Smith brothers can again try out their luck. They are sure that hard luck cannot await the local stars forever, and with a year's go, the Smiths should be able to put up some performance.

Mrs. G. F. Tracy Dies Of Illness

Mrs. G. F. Tracy of this city passed away quietly at her home after a short period of illness last Saturday. Although she had been very ill for some two weeks her case had not been considered beyond hope and Friday rallied to the extent that she was considered safely past the danger point.

Mr. and Mrs. Tracy celebrated their golden wedding anniversary recently and at the same time their youngest daughter, Merle, was married. Friday a daughter of the deceased, Mrs. Parker, who had been with her for a number of days left for her home in Tacoma, so sure the recovery seemed.

Mrs. Tracy was born in Crawford county, Ohio, April 15, 1852. She was married in 1871, living in Iowa at that time. In 1906 the family moved to Salem where they have remained ever since. Mrs. Tracy was a member of the First Christian church.

Mrs. Tracy leaves five children besides her husband: Albert M. and Ferris G. of Salem; J. Claire of Dallas; Mrs. Effie Weaver and Mrs. Merle Parker of Tacoma.

Workman Injured
Mill City, May 30.—Claude Wilson was painfully injured while working on the steam shovel gang up near camp 14, a large bolt dropping from the top of the shovel striking Mr. Wilson on the top of the head, making a large gash. He was brought to Mill City and attended by Dr. Allen. This is the second injury of this kind Mr. Wilson has had.

Suggested As New Chairman Of Republicans

John T. Adams, of Iowa, who, according to rumors in official Washington, will in all probability, be elected to succeed Postmaster-General Hays as chairman of the Republican National Committee. Mr. Adams was a candidate for the post in 1918, but was defeated by Chairman Hays. Mr. Hays will resign June 8 and the National Committee, which meets in Washington that day, will immediately elect his successor.

West Case Will Be Finish Fight

Marshfield, May 31.—Ex-Governor Oswald West, who claims his services on behalf of Coos county were worth $19,000 more than he was paid for the work he did at Washington, will find a very difficult and stony road to travel before he obtains that sum. The county court is prepared to defend the action Mr. West has instituted in the circuit court, and if the ex-governor persists in pushing the claim, the litigation will not end in a few days. To aid District Attorney Ben S. Fisher in the defense, the court has engaged the firm of Goss, Kendall & Murphy of Marshfield.

Albany, May 30.—Judge Geo. G. Bingham, of department two of the third judicial district, was in Albany to hear the case of the union high school at Crawfordsville. After the attorneys had made a start before the court, it was found that the clerk of the school district involved had not been served with the proper writ, so the hearing was postponed. The case will be taken up during the next session of court here under Judge Bingham on June 6.

George Kraus, Councilman of Aurora, Dead

George Kraus pioneer councilman of Aurora and for sometime the only surviving member of the trustees of Aurora colony, whose charter dated back to 1844, died Sunday evening at the age of 79 years, 8 months and 21 days.

Having served several terms recently on the city council Mr. Kraus has always been active in the affairs of his community. Although the charter was granted earlier the colony, of Aurora did not come into existence until 1856. George Kraus was among the youngest of the trustees of the remarkable company of people who carved homes out of a timbered wilderness.

George Kraus was born in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, September 8, 1841. He came to Aurora from the east in 1863 in largest train of ox and mule drawn wagons among five that started from Missouri with Aurora as their destination.

In 1879 he married Elizabeth Giesy, daughter of the chairman of the trustees of Aurora at that time. Besides his wife he leaves Orletta and Georgia, daughters; Arthur W. and John R., sons; and William, a brother of Aurora. Orletta is at present located in Portland, while the rest of the family are at present in the community of Aurora.

Today at three o'clock funeral services will be held in Aurora in return will be in the cemetery there.

U. of O. Orchestra to Give Home Concert

University of Oregon, Eugene, May 31.—The first home concert ever attempted by the University of Oregon orchestra will be given on the evening of Friday, June 3, in the Eugene theatre. The orchestra, which is a 35 piece organization under the direction of Rex Underwood, has recently returned from a spring tour, a regular feature, routed this year through southern Oregon.

Enthusiastic receptions have marked every appearance of the orchestra both on the campus and on its tour to the south. Under Rex Underwood's direction it is considered to have reached a high point of musical excellence.

J. W. Miller, who replaced Mrs. Ida M. Cummings as school superintendent of Linn county, has also resigned because no money is available from the general school fund to recompense him for money that he has advanced for his personal expenses and postage.

McKenzie Pass May Be Open by June 15

Eugene, May 31.—The McKenzie pass will probably be open for traffic about the middle of June, says J. A. Swartz, of the Lost Creek ranch, which is the last stopping place on the McKenzie highway before the summit is reached. Mr. Swartz says that two forest service men crossed the summit a few days ago and found from six to ten feet of snow but it was melting rapidly. The pass is usually clear by the middle of June.

Seims and Carlson's rock crusher has started operations and the work of surfacing the highway between Blue River and the Belknap Springs road will start at once, says Mr. Swartz.

Marshfield Mails Books to Bishops

Marshfield, May 31.—The Marshfield chamber of commerce is mailing booklets to all the bishops who attended the recent bishops' convention held in Portland with the view of interesting the people in their respective dioceses in the Coos Bay country. The bishops were loud in their praise of Oregon and the Pacific northwest and are in a position to render this and other communities a great service in the way of publicity and it is the purpose of furthering this that the booklets are being mailed to the leaders of the churches.

Believes in Golden Rule

Bend, Or., May 31.—Tom Veder, rancher of Lower Bridge, Or., believes the golden rule should apply to animals as well as men.

Tom, while in the army, was compelled to take his regulation nine "shots" in the arm before being allowed to take a shot at the enemy. But Tom refuses to allow his cherished bows to be subjected to any such treatment. He protested vigorously when Dr. George Trubey, tuberculosis inspector, wanted to inoculate the animals, and if they received their "shots" it will be done only because the law requires it.

Albany Teachers To Swear Allegiance

Albany, May 31.—All teachers in the Albany schools will have to swear allegiance to the flag of the United States and to the state of Oregon when they sign their contracts in the future under a recent law passed in the state by the legislature which went into effect May 25.

This was brought to the attention of the school board recently and the contracts for next year will be prepared by the clerk accordingly.
