$85,000 Tax Rebate Hangs On Suit Result

Upon the outcome of the case of Hoff vs. Inman, argued on appeal before the supreme court Tuesday, depends the disposition of more than $85,000 collected by the inheritance tax department according to J. W. Crawford, deputy state treasurer.

The case involves the deduction of the amount paid the United States on account of federal estate taxes from the estate before assessing the state inheritance tax. State Treasurer Hoff contends that such a deduction is not proper and is upheld in this contention by the decree of Judge Tazewell of Multnomah county.

Should the decree of the lower court be reversed it would be necessary to rebate $35,000 to the Pittock estate and approximately $50,000 to other estates, Crawford states.

Crawford represented the state in the argument before the supreme court with Judge W. M. Calk of Portland appearing for the Inman estate.

Pastor Plans Fight To Kill Divorce Evil

Bird Nest Nearly Causes Second Fire

Albany, Oregon, June 1.—Some innocent feathered offender came near to being responsible for the destruction of the residence of James on Sixth street, Saturday afternoon after one had blown had already been extinguished there. At 2 o'clock fire removed practically all of the roof from the building. One corner of the superstructure remained intact. There, in the eaves, the home of a bird had been built, and there the fire demon took refuge.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon a neighbor of Mr. Richards noticed smoke still coming from the corner of the Richards home. He called attention to the fact and the fire department was again summoned. "The stream from a Pyrene extinguisher was directed against the nest and danger took flight.

Asphaltic Concrete Pavements have made good

Every dot on this map represents a city whose people are riding over streets paved with asphaltic concrete in base and surface.

In California such counties as Kings, Yolo, Fresno, Yuba, Ventura, Orange, San Joaquin, Los Angeles, Solano, San Mateo, Sacramento and Imperial have laid this type of pavement.

In Oregon, the State Highway Commission is constructing a large amount of asphaltic concrete mileage—as have also Clackamas and Jackson counties, Oregon, and Franklin, Pierce, Spokane and Yakima counties, Washington.

What has been successful in other places will be successful in your community.

Profit by the experiences of others. Adopt the asphaltic concrete type of construction for the paving now under consideration.
