Lane County To Have Services Of Miss Godsey

Miss Lillian Godsey, R. N., for several months a public health demonstration nurse in Marion county for the Oregon Tuberculosis Association, has been elected the permanent nurse for Lane county, following the resignation of Miss Mary Brownell.

Miss Godsey would have been retained as the public health nurse for Marion county, but for county Judge Bushey's refusal to place the nursing service under public funds, a plan which was sponsored by a delegation, representative of every community in the county, at the May court hearing.

Public health work in Lane county has made big strides in the past year under the direction of Miss Brownell and the Public Health Association of the county. The best organized Baby Clinic in the state is a regular feature at Eugene under the direction of the nurse.

Miss Godsey was in Salem yesterday and will leave for Eugene this week to take up her new work.

Albany Creamery Plans To Rebuild

Albany, Or., June 7.—The Albany Creamery association, which lost its big creamery in this city recently by fire, has purchased two lots at the northeast corner of Second and Washington streets in the western portion of the principal business district of the city and will rebuild there.

Soon after the fire the directors of the association decided to rebuild on the site of the plant that burned. Later the directors determined to seek a location in the business district.

Printers Wage Difference To Be Arbitrated

Eugene, Or., June 6.—Differences between the publishers of the two Eugene newspapers and the members of the typographical union over wages and hours will be arbitrated, according to a decision reached yesterday.
On May 1 the printers presented a request for an increase in wages to $42 a week for day work and $45 for night and a 44-hour week in place of the existing 48 hours. The employers offered to continue the existing wage scale of $36 a week for day work and $39 for night and to grant the 44-hour week in job shops at the same hourly rate of pay now existing, and retain the 48-hour week in newspaper plants. This offer was rejected by the printers.
The average pay of printers in Eugene at the present scale, including overtime, which is paid at the rate of time and one-half, is said to be under $2,000 a year.

Albany Creamery Association May Retail Products

Albany, June 7.—Reports are current today that the Albany Creamery Association will open up a retail establishment for the purpose of dispensing cream, ice cream and milk at its proposed new building. The site of the building will be on two lots at Second and Washington streets purchased by the association yesterday, according to Wayne Dawson, manager of the creamery.
Construction work on the new building will be started as soon as possible, it is said, and plans are already in the making.

Twelve Churches Cooperate To Aid Bible Study Plan

The value of the daily vacation bible school as a worth while community enterprise is attested by the fact that at least 12 city churches and Bible schools expect to co-operate in this summer's daily vacation Bible schools. There will be three and possibly four of these schools which will begin a term of three weeks just as soon as the public schools close.
Rev. John W. Hoyt of Ashland, northwest representative of the daily vacation bible school association, was a visitor in Salem, Saturday. He was in consultation with Alpheus Gillette, superintendent of the First Methodist bible school enterprise, and recently he was chosen as director of the local daily vacation bible school enterprise, have practically outlined the work for the Salem course. They visited a number of the local pastors and found all in accord with the movement and ready to co-operate.

Mr. Hoyt is on his way to Walla Walla to look up some other work in connection with this educational campaign. He is to return to Salem about June 18, when he will arrange for a brief training school for the teachers who will officiate in the local school.

Numerous Cherry Trees Are Dying

Portland, June 7.—Numerous cherry trees in many parts of Portland are dying. Walter H. Gerke, city arboriculturalist of the bureau of parks, has investigated the situation and finds that the damage is due to the peach tree bark beetle and low state of vitality of the tree, resulting from the big freeze of over a year ago.
Vigorous, healthy trees will not succumb to the attacks of the insect, according to Gerke, but trees which suffered from the cold are very liable to be partly or entirely destroyed.

Gorgeous Mt. Rainier

Mount Rainier is 14,408 feet above the sea-level—the second highest mountain peak in the United States. It is the center of Rainier National Park, Washington—and is situated about seventy-five miles by road east of Tacoma.

This remarkable mountain is of volcanic origin and is now crowned with snow and ice, having the most extensive glaciers to be found in the United States.

The National Parks Highway leads directly from Tacoma to Rainier National Park, and at Longmire Springs—within the Park boundaries—is a Standard Oil service station ready to serve motorists with Red Crown Gasoline.

Wherever you tour in Washington you will see the Red Crown sign on service stations and garages. It is the sign of quality in gasoline.
