Bringing Up Father — By George McManus.

A meeting was held at Eola last Saturday night for the purpose of forming a boys' club for the moral and spiritual uplift of the boys of the community. Harrison Meade, a missionary recently returned from the Hawaiian islands, was elected president of the club. A program was given, including music by an orchestra, a talk by Thomas Brunk, reading by Floretta Brunk, solo by S. Meade and a violin number by E. Emly R. Cromley. Supper was served by Mrs. B. J. Ferguson and others.

Fenders on both cars were bent when an automobile driven by J. W. Pease, 595 North 20th street, moving south on 14th street, collided with a machine piloted by Tommy Golden, headed west on State. No other damage was done, according to the police report.

Something new in Salem—the Gospel tent meeting, conducted by the Scandinavian church and its friends commencing Friday evening at 7:30, on Willamette campus, 12th and Ferry streets. Don't fail to attend.

That a tire, a rim, a rear light and a license plate were stolen from his automobile, was the complaint made to the police yesterday by Clyde Bartholomew, of this city.

Mrs. M. H. Potter of Portland is registered at the Marion. She is one of the judges on the board of examination who is here in connection with the state bar examinations now in progress.

The O. A. C. club of the city plans a picnic tomorrow night at Spang's landing, the group starting at the north end of the capitol at six o'clock.

Teachers May Conduct More Classes Here

Dismissal of the physical training instructor, discontinuance of the practice of using the Y. M. C. A. for physical training work, retention of the manual training departments in the junior high schools, and dismissal of the school physician and nurse, were among the recommendations made to the school board at its meeting last night by George W. Hug, city superintendent.

Mr. Hug's recommendations were made with a view to slashing the budget to a point where the board may keep within its allowance.

A change from the present 70 minute periods to one hour classes also was suggested by Mr. Hug. This would make it necessary for teachers to conduct five periods daily instead of four. Two supervisors may also be dismissed from the schools.

All of the recommendations made by Mr. Hug will be considered by the board at its next meeting.

Chapter Spends $275 In Relief Of Ex-Soldiers

A total of $274.54 has been loaned or given to ex-service men by the Willamette chapter of the American Red Cross during the month of June, according to a report submitted at the board of directors meeting by Mrs. Arthur S. Benson, secretary, yesterday afternoon.

The amount loaned by the chapter was $175 on the notes of the men who needed funds. One of these notes for five dollars has been paid back. The balance of the money amounting to $399.54 was given to the soldiers in orders on stores for clothing, shoes, and sometimes cash when it was necessary.

The chapter has spent $586.90 in making 100 layettes for European children, work on which started early in April. It is necessary, however, that more funds be raised for this matter as the chapter has not yet finished its quota.

At the meeting a letter from W. Frank Person, vice chairman of the American Red Cross, was read regarding the Pueblo disaster, stating that "there are 2025 families in the Pueblo district alone and 139 more in La Junta area who need help in various degrees."

"In the Red Cross relief fund there is now $300,000 in cash. Making due allowance for all supplementary funds of local or special nature, at least $250,000 more is imperative if conditions and means of self support are restored to those who have lost all."

"Let me request that you act promptly in this matter because a dollar at this time is of much more value than more at a later period. The Red Cross is in complete control of all relief with disaster experts at work. It is our belief that every dollar subscribed will provide a dollar's worth of relief."

Klamath Rate Hearing Opens

San Francisco, July 13. — A hearing on protests - the freight rates between Portland and points in Klamath county, Oregon, are too high was held here today before Clyde B. Achison, interstate commerce commissioner. Fred A. Williams, president of the Oregon state public service commission said that the desire is to equalize the rates between Portland and Klamath points and San Francisco and these same points.

Williams said that all freight moving into the Klamath country from Portland and adjacent points must come into California as far as Weed, forty miles below the Oregon line, and it is then taken back to its destination. This makes it a much longer haul than from San Francisco to Klamath points with a consequent difference in freight rates, he said.

E. B. Hall, president of the Klamath county chamber of commerce; W. C. McCulloch and J. H. Lothrop, of the Portland traffic and transportation association, and Hal F. Wiggins, traffic expert for the Oregon public service corporation, were present to testify at the hearing.

Auto Upsets; One Dead, One Hurt, Two Are Jailed

Spokane, Wash., July 13.—Mrs. Florence Lee, a widow, aged 28, is dead, and A. T. Selawson, 22, and V. A. Bowman, 30, are held in jail as the result of the overturning of an automobile in which they were riding early today on the Palouse highway southwest of this city. Miss Alice Murdoch, 21, also in the party, is in a hospital suffering from a broken leg and other injuries.

The police were informed that the steering gear broke while the machine was traveling 30 miles an hour, throwing it over an embankment. Mrs. Lee died at a hospital from a fractured skull and other injuries.

Church's Need Is Social Work Says Vermilya

The most vital need of the church of today is to realize its responsibilities and possibilities in social service, according to Dr. Charles E. Vermilya, superintendent of the Methodist church, who is in Salem in connection with the school for rural and city pastors at Willamette university.

Dr. Vermilya is here to give courses in evangelism. He has been superintendent of work in which he is now engaged for the past eight months, with a territory including 12 of the western states. Before taking his present position he was for years a district superintendent of the Methodist church.

But in the whirlwind of enthusiasm for the new movement there is a danger, he said, of losing sight of the devotional and religious life which is the potential fundamental to keeping alive the zeal for which. "There must be some driving force back of all this endeavor for community betterment, and that force is found in the spirit of Christ. Religion is the product of the energizing influence of the Divine Spirit on the human. The human soul thus motivated goes forth to live out the Christ-like ideas and finds ways and means of applying principles of righteousness."

Emotionalism is an important factor in evangelism, he stated.

Men cannot be moved without a deep feeling of emotion. But the evangelistic work of the church must be backed up with a well rounded church program of social and devotional activity, in order that the fire of enthusiasm may be sustained.

"I think that men will eventually come to the Christian life, he said, "because it is the reasonable and profitable life, just as prohibition has been brought about through the realization that the normal physical life has no place for liquor."

Dallas Knights Install Heads

Dallas, Or., July 13.—At the regular meeting in the castle hall Marmion lodge, Knight of Pythias, installed their officers elect on Monday night.
