"There are only about 3000 bales of last year's hop crop still on hand," said Louis Lachmund, former mayor of Salem, and state senator for Marion county, who came to Portland with Mrs. Lachmund yesterday to attend a matinee of a musical show. "There will be about 53,000 bales of hops grown in Oregon this year. Prices range from 25 cents to 50 cents a pound. Pickers cannot throw vines and leaves into the box when picking, for it will have to be a clean pick if the grower wants a fair market. The hops are not looking as well now as they did a month ago, but we will produce a quality crop at that." - Oregonian.

Bond Interest Costs Tax Payers $6,420,000

The taxpayers of Oregon must offer approximately $6,420,000 as interest on the state's, counties' and municipal sub-divisions' indebtedness reported at $107,400,593, according to an estimate made this morning by James Crawford, deputy state treasurer.

What these figures—admittedly staggering—mean, is perhaps best shown by a comparison with the general fund appropriation, made by the last legislature, to cover the biennial period of 1921 and 1922.

Only $7,294,735 was appropriated by the legislators for the two years, according to figures available in the secretary of state's office.

This would mean that approximately $3,647,367 is needed for the state's business during one 12-months' period.

In other words, the people of Oregon are paying approximately $2,722,633 more in interest on their combined state debts than they put into the general fund which provides for Oregon's various activities.

State officials were this morning speculating as to a remedy.

"There seems to be but one answer," Deputy Treasurer Crawford observed. "Quit voting bonds. It is obvious that an organization of any kind cannot vote bonds, and subsequently vote more bonds to pay the interest on the first issue. It must stop somewhere. Apparently the bond voters must quit until they can catch up with the hounds."

mission, "I submit that we ought not to be asked to produce our testimony now when we are here on the defensive and before the other side has developed its case."

Chairman Williams, at the close of the colloquy, said that the request of Mr. Mott presented a new question not heretofore before the commission and that it would be taken under advisement and determined at the commencement of the afternoon session.

Cousin Outlines Case
Preceding Mott's request E. M. Cousin, attorney for the State Telephone federation, made his statement to the commission, outlining the contentions of the federation. He insisted that the question of lack of competition ought to be taken into consideration in the establishment of reasonable rates by the commission, and pointed out that while the Pacific company had never made application for an increase in rates during the period when there was competition in the Oregon field it had, as soon as that competition had been ended, come before the commission for an increase. He attacked the system under which the company's valuations had been determined, and insisted that the depreciation ought not to be counted in the establishment of reasonable rates.

Sustar Case to be Appealed

While not formally filed as yet the notice of appeal of Peter Sustar from the decision of the county court giving him six months in jail and a fine of $500 for the possession of two quarts of liquor, is in the hands of the county clerk awaiting the signature of Judge Bingham of department No. 2 of the circuit court, who is in Portland and who refused a writ of review of the case last week.

Sustar was arrested some time ago by a special Anti-Saloon league operative whom he charges with promising to get him off with a $50 fine if he would plead guilty to bootlegging. Judge Bushey gave the maximum sentence allowed by the state law when Sustar reached Salem about 10 o'clock at night on the day of his arrest.

Burton Will Plead Tomorrow; Bail Of $2500 Not Raised

Richard Burton, a former resident of Salem, whose association with Miss Myrtle Egan, 15-year-old Salem girl, yesterday caused a grave statutory charge to be filed against him, will enter his plea in the justice court tomorrow morning. Arraigned this morning before Judge Unruh in the justice court, Burton's request for 24 hours in which to consider his plea, was granted.

Burton, who was arrested yesterday at Corvallis, first came to the attention of officers during the time that Miss Frankie Edwards, who eloped with the Rev. Fred Royston, Salem minister, was in jail here. At that time, officers said, Burton offered to marry Miss Edwards "to get her out of trouble."

Burton was this morning unable to furnish the $2500 bail demanded by Judge Unruh for his release, and he is at present held in the county jail. The complaint which caused his arrest was signed by the district attorney.

During part of the time that Burton was a resident of Salem, he lived at the Egan home, it was said. He is about 24 years of age. While in Salem he was an employee of a state institution.

Mt. Angel Sued For $10,000

Suit for $10,000 damages was filed against the city of Mt. Angel in the circuit court by Clara B. Hougham, who with Matt Horst, owner of a ranch near that city, filed a second complaint asking for an injunction prohibiting the use of a certain stream which runs through the farms of both plaintiffs as the terminals for sewers.

In the Hougham complaint it is stated that the city of Mt. Angel constructed a sewer in 1918 for the purpose of carrying off the surface water from the streets and the sewage from private residents to the stream having its source on the Horst ranch and running through that of Mrs. Hougham.

The stream was used by the plaintiff to water her stock and was not in the corporate limits of Mt. Angel, but with the continued use by the city the water of the stream has become polluted until it has endangered the condition of the cattle belonging to Mrs. Hougham and the health of the families residing near it.

The plaintiff further claims that because the stream is not within the city limits of Mt. Angel that its use as an emptying place for sewers is unwarranted and unlawful, furthermore, that it is not wide or deep enough to be used for that purpose.
