What's New On The Market

With the wholesale price of cantaloupe down to three dollars per crate, there is no reason why the retail price per melon should be more than ten cents. Watermelon has taken a drop on the wholesale price also and is now a cent and a half per pound, which ought to warrant a drop in the retail price as soon as the merchants are rid of those on hand.

Pacific and Washington prunes were offered on the market this morning at four and five cents a pound. They are the first prunes to be offered this season and are in very good condition. Yellow prunes were also offered for the first time this season at four cents.

Nice local green peppers are selling for twenty five cents a pound. They are not very large, but at the pound price are very reasonable.

Flour looks like it might take a slight rise within the next few days.

The butter and egg prices have not changed but look uncertain.

Only One Thing Now Lacking--Money

"I have doctored nine years for stomach and liver trouble and spent thousands of dollars, but instead of becoming cured of these ailments, my bloating and pains and attacks became worse. I was persuaded a year ago to take Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and have never suffered since taking the first dose. I wish I had the money back I spent for other medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. J. C. Perry, D. J. Fry and druggists everywhere. (adv)
