Wood Cutter Is Dead From Unknown Cause

Suffering from injuries supposed to have been received accidentally while at work in the woods four miles north of Independence, a Scandinavian named Anderson, died last night about 8:30 o'clock as he was being rushed to a local hospital. He was in a dazed condition when found and never rallied enough to tell how the accident occurred, but he continued to hold his hand to the back of his head where it is supposed he received some injury to the spine.

No signs of serious injury are apparent on his body, and an autopsy will probably be held in an endeavor to determine the cause of his death, according to Coroner Rigdon.

Whether the dead man has a home or any relatives is not known. He had been working for about a month on a wood cutting contract for J. T. Merrill. Last night when he failed to return from work a search was made and the man was found near where he had been cutting wood.

Cantrell to Talk Here of Phases of Irish Question

Edward Adams Cantrell, lecturer of Los Angeles, who enjoys a nation-wide reputation as a public speaker, will lecture on "The Truth About Ireland, from the American Viewpoint," at the armory Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.
 Mr. Cantrell, who is neither Irish nor Catholic, will answer the queries: Is the Irish question a religious question? Why is Ireland in revolt? Why the Irish question in America? What shall we do?

Patent Right Abuse Charged To Phone Firm

Flagrant misuse of its patent rights in assessing a charge of four and one half percent against associate companies for the use of certain patented equipment in addition to the profit accruing through the manufacture of that equipment was charged against the American Telephone and Telegraph company by Major Garrison Babcock, consulting engineer, who is assisting the city of Portland in the telephone rate rehearing here.

Profits from patented articles, Babcock explained, were ordinarily collected in the form of additions to the cost price although he admitted that there were other ways of collecting such profits. But, he declared, when a patentee so manipulates this patent right as to complete control of the commodity it is clearly guilty of a violation of the patent laws.

Attorney McNary for the telephone company objected to what he termed an attempt on the part of the witness to argue the case. There was no record he declared when such a procedure had been permitted by any court or tribunal in the land.

Chairman Williams of the public service commission reminded counsel that "we are not following precedent in this case; we are establishing it," and ordered the witness to proceed.

Under the coaching of Attorney Tomlinson, Babcock proceeded to pick to pieces a document prepared by the telephone company enumerating specific items of service performed by the American company for the Pacific company under the four and one half percent agreement. Two thirds of the items in the edocument, he pointed out, were sales services while others involved only the furnishing of government reports which are always open to the public.

Resident On Turner Road Passes Away

William A. Bones, for the past 13 years a resident on his farm three miles south of Salem on the Turner road, passed away at his home early this morning at the age of 72 years. He had been ill for some time before his death.

The deceased is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Martha Winkler of Vancouver, Wash., and Mrs. Emma Standifer, Mrs. Mollie E. Munding, Mrs. Cora Scott, Mrs. John Biever, all of Salem, four sons, James M., Bones, Archie L. Bones, Charles F. Bones, all of Turner, and Vester N. Bones of Salem, and a brother, J. W. Bones of Perrydale.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock from the Rigdon chapel. Interment will be made in the City View cemetery.

Court Adjudges Boy Delinquent

Adjudged a delinquent child, continuance of the case until Monday when the judge will pass sentence was the result of the hearing before Judge Bushey of the juvenile court this morning.

Stevens told the judge that he had found the boat while in swimming, and that it had been floating under water. He took the trouble to bail it out and have it brought to his home near Dallas. When he was approached by Jerman and told to return the boat, he stated that he thought it was his because he had found it, and said that he telephoned the sheriff's office to find out if he was right in his possession. The sheriff's office explained that the boat might have been one used by two escaped convicts who had escaped the penitentiary about the time the trouble arose.

 District Attorney John Carson, pointed out to the court that it was necessary by the laws of Oregon to have all property found registered with the county clerk.
