M. Barr had agreed to take the job of plumbing on the new building, no discussion or action was taken on this matter.

Organizer Here
P. W. Dowler, organizer for the carpenters, whom the labor council had requested the national building trades headquarters send here, was present at the meeting, but failed to discuss the situation on the building because of lack of information.

In speaking of labor conditions over the country Mr. Bowler stated that there was less unemployment in Oregon and Washington than in any other part of the United States, but that the situation in Idaho, and in the eastern part of the two northwestern states was becoming more and more acute.

Union Membership Good
One remarkable factor was present during this period of unemployment, he stated, and that was the holding up of the memberships of the different unions. Formerly, during such periods, the unions had lost strength.

"Building trades over the country are going through a spasm of wage reduction," stated the speaker. "A reduction in wages does not stimulate building. The back of the open shop movement has been broken in the east because of the lack of tradesmen immigrating from European countries who have heard of the wage reductions here."

Petitions to Pave North Capital Are Being Circulated

Following a meeting held in the city hall last night, residents of North Capitol street announced that petitions will be circulated in the hope of securing sufficient signatures to convince the city council that North Capitol street should be paved between its present improved portion and the fair grounds road. The end of their street is paved, its residents feel, Pacific highway traffic soon will all find its way into Salem over North Summer street for which paving bids already have been asked by the aldermen.

Fred Erixon, who is prominent among those working for the proposed improvement, said that virtually all residents of North Capitol street favor the move for a better street.

The petitions were put into circulation today and this move will be followed by other necessary action, according to Mr. Erixon.

Berlin Puts Ban Upon Spiritism

Berlin, Sept. 14.—Public demonstrations of hypnotism, spiritualistic seances and other experiments dealing with the occult are now forbidden by the police throughout Germany, because many crimes have been traced to unscrupulous hypnotists, who have used their subjects to commit unlawful acts.

J. E. McClintock, of Roseburg, has been appointed to the position of cashier and auditor at the state fair. This is McClintock's fifth term in this office.

Ship Fights Way to Feed Eskimos

Montreal, Que., Sept. 13.—Up to Enkinoiland, fringing the Arctic, lookouts are anxiously scanning the horizon to the south for a first glimpse of the Nascopt. This steel-ribbed vessel, of the Hudson Bay company, is fighting its way through the ice-infested waters to victual the north against the rigors of another winter. She will return loaded with the annual fur catch.

Yankee Given Mexican Pipe Line Permit

Mexico City, Sept. 13.—Clay T. Yerby, of Los Angeles, California, has been granted a concession to construct an oil pipe line from Puerto, Mexico, on the gulf to Salina Cruz, on the shore of the Pacific, according to announcement by J. Flynn, representative in Mexico City of Mr. Yerby. It was said the pipe line would follow the Tehuantepec railroad and that the concession gave Mr. Yerby the right to use federal lands, terminals and port facilities.

It is estimated the cost of the work will be $10,000,000 gold, and it is pointed out that by means of the pipe line, the time of transporting oil from the east to the west coast of Mexico, will be cut down by eleven days, and the distance covered will be 2300 miles less than through the Panama canal. Not only will the pipe line route provide cheaper fuel for industries in the Mexican Pacific states, but Mexican oil will be placed within easy reach of Pacific and Far East fueling stations.

Judge Proves an Apt Pupil at Toddle Top

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 14.—Judge Andy Calhoun, of the local police court, became acquainted with the "toddle top" when eight young men were arraigned before him on charges of gaming. He took the top and examined the metallic hexagonal closely, gazing at the symbols thereon.

"P1, T2, P3, T3," he read aloud as he turned the top in his hand. The eight young men watched him closely as he then twined the top for a spin on his desk. When it stopped spinning and fell the star looked up at him.

"What does that mean?" he queried.

"That mean 'take all,'" someone answered.

"Twenty-five and costs," he smiled back and called the next case.

Dry Law Aids Named.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 14.—F. A. Hazeltine, editor of the South Bend, Wash., Journal, today received appointment as general supervisor of federal prohibition agents from Major Roy Haynes, federal prohibition commissioner. Mr. Hazeltine, who is here attending a district conference of the Methodist church, announced he will accept the post beginning November 1.

League Waits For Results Of U. S. Note

Geneva, Sept. 14.—Decision not to intervene in the mandates negotiation pending the result of negotiations between the principal mandatory powers and the United States was reached today by the special commission of the league of nations. Lord Robert Cecil, representative of the Union of South Africa, recently presented a resolution that the two principal classes of mandates for former German colonies be immediately defined and expressed regret for the delay in their definition.

Herbert A. L. Fisher of Great Britain, told the members that negotiations were at the moment in progress between the chief mandatory powers and the Washington government and that it would therefore be inopportune for the commission to intervene before the negotiations had been concluded. The commission decides that the result of the negotiations be awaited.

It was decided, however, to send a letter to the council of the league, upon which devolves the duty of defining the terms of the mandates expressing regret at the delay.

Straw Hats Favorites Among Nude Patagonians

Los Angeles, Sept. 14.—In a sheltered bay on the bleak shore line of the Straits of Magellan members of a colony of naked Patagonians are wearing American straw hats with the temperature hovering below the freezing point according to Captain K. A. Ahlin, of the freighter West Note, in port here with a cargo of coffee and hides from South American ports.

It was when the steamers stopped recently in a bay on the north shore of the Straits of Magellan for favorable weather conditions that a colony of the naked Patagonians came to the ship in dug-out, Captain Ahlin stated. Despite the chill air and snow on the ground, he said, men, women and children hadn't a stitch of apparel on them, but didn't seem to mind the weather. One woman sat in a boat half full of water and nursed two babies in the freezing atmosphere just as if they were comfortably clothed.

Gifts of clothing were thrown to the natives, but these were spurned. All the visitors seemed to want was tobacco. Finally the captain and members of the crew dug up some straw hats and tossed them overboard. These were eagerly grabbed, and when the steamer left the natives headed back to shore garbed in straw hats.

Blue tests are now suggested as a means of finding out whether people are engaged in work suited to their health and temperament.

Propaganda For British Charged In Text Books

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 14.—The annual encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans today heard a report of the resolutions committee charge that "British propaganda" was evident in revised editions of a history used in the public schools.

The report stated that the book omits historical facts, such as the Boston tea party, Lexington and Bunker Hill; that it eulogizes Benedict Arnold and sacrifices historical facts in favor of international relations between the United States and Great Britain.

Other resolutions condemn the Ku Klux Klan and demanded support of all former service men to legislation making profiteering in time of war a felony.

Bend is solidly behind the proposal of The Dalles-Wasco county chamber of commerce to put an interstate bridge across the Columbia at The Dalles.

Bourne Improving. Washington, Sept. 14.—Senator Jonathan Bourne is recovering from an indisposition which has kept him in bed for the last two weeks. The trouble is with a foot and ankle from which he has suffered for some time. The daily report that he will be out in a day or two.

Forty carloads of the 1921 crop of prunes, aggregating 3,143,000 pounds for future delivery, have been sold by the Oregon Growers Co-operation association.

Daring Bailiff Serves Warrant on Bee Hives

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 14.—"Oh, it's tough to sip the honey from the little honey bee," chirped "Big Bill" Donnelly, execution bailiff of the municipal court, the other day, when he received a writ to levy upon one hundred hives of bees as the property of Leo H. Benninghof, against whom a judgment of $279.24 had been obtained.

When Donnelly learned that he was up against attaching one hundred hives of lusty, healthy honey makers in the full flush and warmth of their busiest season—he first hunted up a complete bee-levying outfit. It was home made and cumbersome, but "Bill" thought it might protect some of the more tender parts of his anatomy from the peevish workers. A heavy helmet, a face-shield of window screening and a toga of heavy cloth—the bailiff had to practice hours before he became letter perfect in donning and wearing it.

Thus armed and equipped, he served his execution warrant. "I have met the bees, and they are mine," was the only report he was willing to make upon his return.
