

Only 700,000 People Now In Palestine

London, Sept. 22.—There are only 700,000 people in all Palestine, a population much less than that of Galilee alone in the time of Christ, says Sir Herbert Samuel, the British High Commissioner there, in a report just made.

Twenty thousand immigrants arrived in Palestine in the seven months between September 1920 and May, 1921, he reports.

Sir Samuel attributes the scarcity of the population to lack of employment.

The financial condition of East Palestine and Central Europe, and internal difficulties within the Zion organization of the United Kingdom, says the report, have prevented the Zionist movement from receiving, as yet, any large sums of money for development or settlement. As a consequence, there had been much pressure to admit Jewish immigrants, but there had been little expansion in opportunities for employment, he declared.

The water supply for Jerusalem has been found to be insufficient, and the government is bringing into use some ancient reservoirs of vast capacity, named the Reservoir of Solomon, but of unknown date, and the Herodian, situated about five miles away.

The garrison of the country has been reduced to 5,000 combatant troops, imposing a charge of £100,000 Sterling on the British Treasury, or at the rate of 500 pounds of every fighting man.

More Suicides Than Bachelors Married Men

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Suicides increased 34 per cent during the first seven months of 1921 compared to the same months of 1920, according to figures published by Coroner Peter M. Hoffman. The suicide toll was 1,000 for the seven months, with the month of May highest with 130 deaths.

Three times as many men took their own lives as women. In age suicides ranged between thirty and forty years, while the married men was two to one over the bachelors. Almost one-third were married, with shooting a close second.

Temporary insanity was the cause in the most cases, with insanity, due to ill health, a second.

Study Speed of Alaska Glaciers

Juneau, Alaska, Sept. 21.—The speed of Alaskan glaciers is being studied by Professor William S. Cooper of the University of Minnesota. He is making a special examination of Muir glacier at Glacier Bay.

Muir Glacier has receded 60 miles in the last 127 years. When Vancouver visited the glacier in 1794 he found the ice extended to the mouth of Glacier Bay.

Later John Muir left his scientific observations of the glacier, and 115 years ago Professor Cooper marked out areas there for study. He plans further observations at five-year intervals.

Fortified with these records Professor Cooper hopes to determine the time that has elapsed since many parts of the earth now free were covered with ice.

Your Heating Engineer—you used to call him Steamfitter

"During the first winter nearly one-half of their number died from exposure."
—ENCYCLOPEDIA BRITANNICA

JUST three hundred years ago they landed on Plymouth Rock. They were a courageous company—as sturdy and stout as the best of us.

But nearly half of them died from exposure.

The land to which they came was the same land in which we live; the winter was no more severe than our winters now.

But nearly half of them died from exposure.

Almost no one in America dies from exposure today. And why? Because of the service of a group of quiet, unassuming men. Working without special notice or praise, the men whom you call Steamfitters and Plumbers have made the newest nation the healthiest and best-warmed nation in the world.

They have done a wonderful work for America; and yet their work is hardly more than begun. Statisticians say that 17½ million homes in America still have no heat except the heat of old-fashioned stoves.

ARCOLA—the Heating Engineer's wonderful new gift to the small home

FOR years every Heating Engineer has longed for a hot-water heating outfit that would warm the small home as perfectly as the larger heating plants of the AMERICAN RADIATOR COMPANY warm mansions, cathedrals and even the White House itself.

ARCOLA—a wonderful new invention developed after years of experiment—is the answer to that hope.

ARCOLA is unlike any heating equipment you have ever seen. It is radiator and boiler and hot-water heater combined to burn any kind of fuel. Set in the living-room, dining-room or kitchen, it radiates healthful warmth to every corner. American Radiators, connected with it by small pipes carry its warmth to every room upstairs and down. The kitchen tank, too, can draw on its deep fire-pot, providing an abundance of hot water for washing and bathing.

See ARCOLA today in the store of any Heating Engineer displaying the red and yellow card at the right.

ARCOLA is not only a great invention for the small home; it is a gift to the small home in a very real sense.

For, in the fuel it saves, ARCOLA is guaranteed to pay for itself.

If every man who can install a heating plant should work every day, it would take a generation to give modern healthful heat to those 17½ million homes.

An almost overwhelming task! But think of the overwhelming economy! Every IDEAL TYPE A HEAT MACHINE substituted for a wasteful furnace or boiler means that one family's fuel bill is reduced one-third.

Every ARCOLA, supplanting a furnace or old-fashioned stoves, slashes the fuel bill of another home.

Of all the services rendered to the modern home there is none which pays for itself more quickly or more surely than the service of the Steamfitter and Plumber.

Call your Steamfitter or your Plumber in now and have him go over your house and report; his counsel may save you money. Make it a point to consult him twice a year as you do your Doctor or your Dentist. And do not be surprised if the old name over his store has been taken down and a new one hangs in its place.

For the men whose science and skill have robbed winter of its terrors and removed the breeding-grounds of disease, have outgrown the names by which you have been accustomed to call them. Their work has become a profession: the Steamfitter and Plumber of yesterday are today the Heating and Sanitary Engineers.
