Of Interest To Women

Mr. Kiltz Weds Miss Thompson

Miss Allie Thompson and William Charles Kiltz, Jr., were married last night at nine o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Thompson, 455 Broadway street, when the service was read by the Rev. W. C. ... before a large group of ... and relatives. The marriage of Miss Thompson is of special social interest in the city, as she is a member of one of Salem's oldest and best known families, and she has been extensively known since her engagement announcement July 9.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Thelma Thelmsen, matron of honor, and Cecil J. Esby, a fraternal brother of Mr. Kiltz's was best man. The wedding march was played by Mrs. W. Melvin Thompson, and preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Leslie Scott, of Portland, sang "At Dawning," accompanied by Mrs. Plimpton.

The bride's gown was of silver tulle, made on simple, straight lines with small sash and full length veil, and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. The only ornament was a lovely diamond and platinum pin, the gift of the groom. Mrs. Thelmsen's dress was of Nile green metal mesh and she carried a huge arm bouquet of chrysanthemums, shaded from mauve to deep lavender. Mrs. Plimpton wore a dress of real tulle with panner hip drops of orange and turquoise blue tulle, with accents of Cecil Brunner roses. The bride's mother wore a gown of turquoise blue tulle, embroidered with silver over blue satin with corsage of mauve asters.

The home was done in purple and lavender, roses, gladioli, asters, and other blossoms being used in urns, and huge jardiniere, censured of candles burned throughout the rooms. An arch of pink and green, at the base of which on either side were huge bunches of roses, formed an attractive background for the service.

Mrs. Kiltz's going away tallies was a Hickson model, of navy polka with small blue hat and emerald scarf. Instead of wearing her bouquet, as is the usual custom, Mrs. Kiltz gave it to Mrs. Gabrielson to be placed on the grave of Mrs. Robert Chaunoy, Bishop, who was so dearly loved in Salem and one of Mrs. Kiltz's dearest and closest friends.

Following the service, a reception was held. Presiding over the coffee urns and cutting the cake were Mrs. John J. Roberts and Mrs. McKinnle Hofer, and assisting about the rooms were Mrs. Thomas Livesley, Mrs. Walter L. Johnson, Mrs. C. D. Gabrielson, Mrs. William H. Burghart, Jr., Mrs. Ronald C. Glover, and Mrs. Isabel J. Fry, Jr. Master Charles Kay Bishop greeted the guests at the door.

Mrs. Kiltz, who has always lived in Salem, received her early education in the schools of the city. She spent several winters with her mother and sister in California and she and her sister attended boarding school near San Francisco. She was a student for one year at University of Oregon and affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta.

Mr. Kiltz is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Charles Kiltz, of Vancouver, B. C., and is interested in the lumber business. He was graduated from the University of Oregon, receiving his B. A. degree, and is a member of Kappa Sigma. He played right end on the University of Oregon football team in 1908-09.

Grades for Wives Set by Experience

Chicago, Sept. 23.—There are three grades of wives, according to Ambrose J. Rose, ninety-one years old, who was just granted a divorce from wife No. 3. The grades are "pretty good," "just medium," and "no good at all." Here is the way Rose fit the scale to his own wives: "My first was pretty good, the second medium and the third no good at all." The fourth, he insisted, would be "impossible."

New York Society Startled By Shooting and Suicide

Mrs. Grace Laws

John S. Borland

Mrs. Mildred Hanan, heiress to the millions of the late Alfred G. Hanan, shoe manufacturer, was shot and fatally wounded by Mrs. Grace Laws in Brooklyn, N. Y. Mrs. Laws committed suicide immediately after the shooting. The affair has stirred New York society, as both Miss Hanan and Mrs. Laws were well known. The shooting and suicide occurred in front of the home of Miss Dorothy Gottschalk. Miss Hanan, with John S. Borland, New York importer, had driven Miss Gottschalk to her home after a dinner party at the Hanan home. Mrs. Laws, who was a relative of Miss Hanan by marriage, waited for the party to leave Miss Gottschalk's home and opened fire on Miss Hanan. That Mrs. Laws was a victim of drugs and alcohol, which had unbalanced her mentally, was proved by the examination of her body by physicians. In a letter to a friend, Mrs. Laws said, in part: "I can't stand this sordid, tinsel life and longer. The Hanan's are too fast and furious for me. I have been drinking too much liquor, and there is nothing but conversation on all sides." Mr. Borland admitted to having paid attention to both women during the past few months, but denied that jealousy had ever been expressed by Mrs. Laws. The police believe that Mrs. Laws had been crazed by liquor, which caused her to commit the act. The above diagram shows where and how the tragedy occurred. Both Miss Hanan and Mrs. Laws were divorced. Miss Hanan obtained a divorce in Reno last year and resumed the use of her maiden name.

What's New On The Market

By Rex Stewart
Extra fancy tomatoes were offered on the market this morning for $1.65 and $1.75 a bushel. Housewives who have not canned this vegetable, but are still thinking of doing so and have no opportunity to buy direct from the grower, had better take this opportunity and buy now.

Silverside salmon dropped a cent a pound today on the retail price of a whole fish, bringing it down to 10 cents. The quality still remains good and there is some demand. Delicious lady-finger grapes have just been received by commissioned houses in a shipment of fruit and vegetables from California. They have not received distribution as yet, but will be on the market tomorrow for about 30 cents a pound. They are excellent eating and make a fine appearance in a table fruit dish. Reports from larger centers state that coffee is now the highest staple on the market and a rise in price is expected some time in the future.

Tomorrow at noon the building will be dedicated and following the services the Aid society of the W. R. C. will serve a basket lunch on the fair grounds, if the weather permits. To this all old comrades are invited and the members of the Aid society are asked to come with well-filled baskets. Official hostesses for the week are Mrs. Lizzie W. Smith, Mrs. Mary Briggs and Mrs. Helen Southwick, and they are being assisted by committees appointed each day by the president.

Man Admits He Shot Rancher At Clatsop Plains

Astoria, Sept. 29.—Frank Bay Wednesday confessed to having shot John Janson at a Clatsop Plains ranch Monday night, after Janson positively identified him as his assailant. Bay was arrested in Astoria a short time after the shooting, but the officers kept his capture a secret until two other men, C. E. Nickademas and Frank Bradley, were arrested and taken from a Portland bound stage at St. Helens early Wednesday morning. Sheriff Nelson declares that he is closing in on the gang, which is believed to be a bootlegging ring. Bay declared that he, Nickademas and Bradley and the fourth man whom the officers are seeking, drove to a cache of liquor. Bay searched for the pistol used by Bradley, who gave it to him upon reaching the ranch. Bay told the officers that he went to

Ladies Win Praise At Horse Show

The ladies' roadster class opened the Night Horse Show last night, which drew the largest audience in the history of Salem horse shows, even standing room being at a premium shortly after the opening. The fourth event of the evening also featured women in the ladies' three gaited saddle horses, and in all the jumping events women were prominent. Mrs. Zedee J. Riggs, of Salem, appeared in last night's show when she rode her horse, Peavine Star, in the fourth event.

The young women of the Portland Hunt club contingent are doing admirable work this year, and it is said of them that they are showing a greater degree of ability than at any other time in the history of the club. Those riding are Mrs. Edward Grelle, Mrs. Fred A. Martin, Miss Pauline West, Miss Elizabeth Bacon, Miss Margaret Ellen Douthy, Miss Gene Skene, Mrs. Katherine Greer, Miss Lella Ruby and Doris Oxley McCleave.

J. D. Farrell, dean of western horsemen, was a guest of the judges last night in the show ring. Ex-Governor Oswald West is appearing in the saddle classes and is in daily attendance at the show, and Natt McDougal is having great success with his "Sterling Duke."

Margaret Ellen Douthy, twelve year old rider, who on the opening night won many admirers by her sweetness and excellent horsemanship, was thrown from her mount in last night's first jumping event, when her horse fell in jumping the third hurdle. She fell in the sawdust on her head and was badly bruised about the forehead. She showed remarkable presence of mind and held tightly to the reins, while her audience held its breath, watching the effect of her horse. She was quickly on her feet and was assisted out of the arena. Her injuries were not serious and she will appear again tonight.

Miss Doris McCleave remains a favorite of horse show enthusiasts and merits the recognition she is receiving. She appeared in practically every event last night and was applauded at each appearance. In the ninth event, the water hurdle, she rode three of the McCleave entries and made excellent showings for all. Miss Pauline West also received acclaim for her work in this event when she rode "Princess Pat"

The Christian church of Monmouth was recently the recipient of a gift of $2,500, donated by Mrs. Eliza Hawley on behalf of herself and husband, the late J. H. Hawley. Fire Sunday caused by a cigarette stub dropped in rubbish, destroyed the slaughter house and pens of Smith Bros. at Champoog.
