

World's Series Opens

CROWDS IN LINE AT DAWN

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 5.—New York gloried today in an exclusive baseball family feud—a world series between the Giants and Yankees fought out in its own backyard. Easily 38,000 folk came out here to the old Polo Grounds to see the New York Giants, pennant winners of the National league, and the New York Yankees, champions of the American league, in the quarrel for the baseball championship of the universe.

Noon time found the upper reserved stand only a quarter filled and all camera were easily accommodated while there were still yawning gaps in the open stands behind the outfield. Downtown speculators were reported selling reserved seats at prices that would have shocked a profiteering landlord.

In Line All Night.
Some there were who stood all night in a shivering line to get the best seats in the open stands. On the crazy knobs of Coogan's Bluff that looms behind the big concrete stands it looked as if New York's army of unemployed had taken early positions to view the game through the interstices of the stands.

A smart shower fell early today with a rapid clearing, followed by a cold wind. The early comers shivered and shook and padded their coats with newspapers to keep out the searching breeze.

The playing field glowed brightly in the sun and the damp spots on the outfield were soon baked out. A fast playing field was thus assured.

May Walk Ruth.
"I hear the Giants pitchers intend to walk me in all the pinches," said Babe Ruth, as he popped his head out of the doorway to peek at the early bids that perched in the outfield seats. "That's one way to stop me hitting, but they better do some figuring on Meusel. That kid can soak 'em, too." The Giants' defense, they agreed in a club house talk today, centered around Babe Ruth's bat.

"If the Giants can stop Ruth from hitting," said Johnny Evers, former manager of the Chicago Cubs, who has been looking the Yankees over to aid the Giants in their plans, "the series should be won by the National leaguers. Ruth won't hit in the pinches. The Giants will let him walk."

Movie Men Busy.
The opening day had all the trills and furbelows that has gone in these events of yesteryear. The usual brass band near the Giants bench piped its merriest melodies, sometimes blowing sour notes while dodging foul balls during batting practice. Moving picture operators darted here and there filming every bit of interesting movement—"Babe" Ruth hitting imaginary home runs, the two Meusel brothers, "Home Run" Kelly of the Giants swinging at a fast one and Carl Mays throwing up his submarine ball.

DOVER NO AGENT OF HARDING

Reputed Status of Tacoma Man in Mexico Denied; Personal Representatives Nil.
Washington, Oct. 5.—President Harding has no personal representatives anywhere," was the statement authorized today by George B. Christian, secretary to the president, when attention of the White House officials was called to reports published in Mexico City by the newspaper Excelsior that Elmer Dover of Tacoma, Wash., had arrived in Mexico City as the representative of Mr. Harding.

Dover Again in Mexico.
Mexico City, Oct. 5.—Reports that Elmer Dover of Tacoma, Wash., had been named personal representative of President Harding in Mexico, which were current some time ago, were revived here today by the newspaper Excelsior. The information "obtained with the greatest difficulty" from high Mexican sources, according to the newspaper, indicated that "overtures from the state department in Washington, expected to pave the way for speedy recognition of the Oregon government by the United States, were being brought to Mexico City by Mr. Dover, who was expected to arrive here this afternoon."

Dr. Dover was said to have been given an autographed letter to President Obregon by Mr. Harding, this being the fourth in an important series of personal communications between the two executives.

Report Sounds Official.
The Excelsior, in its report gave the impression that by instruction from President Harding, all negotiations concerning American recognition had been committed to Mr. Dover's hands. The newspaper's statements, which bore the official stamp, or which appeared to be at least semi-officially inspired, were not in accordance with general belief here that George T. Summerlin, United States charge d'affaires, had been designated sole spokesman and representative of the United States government in the negotiations preliminary to recognition. Mr. Summerlin said last night he had received no instructions from the state department relative to Mr. Dover's visit to Mexico.

Heralded Special Envoy.
"Mr. Dover has been placed in a highly important position," the Excelsior declared, "being sole intermediary between the national palace and Washington. He was designated by the American state department and President Obregon to be escort and financial adviser of Thomas W. Lamont, who will arrive here today and who probably will be introduced to President Obregon late this week. Private telegrams received from Mr. Dover indicate he has not only succeeded in his mission in obtaining recognition, but that in all probability he will remain here as representative of the international finance committee and take full charge of arrangements for the resumption of the payment of the Mexican foreign debt."

"Mr. Dover will act as Mr. Lamont's spokesman and the New York financier will not receive newspapermen while in Mexico City. Mr. Dover, who has acted as consulting attorney for the Mexican embassy in Washington, is said to have made all arrangements for Lamont's trip and to presented him officially to a Mexican delegation at Laredo, Texas, on Monday."

Pen Is Crowded to Capacity, Says Warden in Report
The population of the penitentiary is increasing at an alarming rate, according to Warden L. E. Compton, who in a report to the state board of control today shows a total of 396 prisoners on September 30. This figure, Compton's report points out, is 71 in excess of the number for which the last legislature made provision in its biennial appropriation. Compton predicts a population of 500 at the prison before the close of the present biennium if present conditions continue.

A similar condition exists at the state hospital for the insane whose population is now 1816 or 16 in excess of the provision made by the last legislature. This institution, Superintendent Steiner reports, is crowded to capacity and Multnomah county has been instructed to commit its insane in the future to the eastern Oregon hospital at Pendleton in order to alleviate this crowded condition.

Lone Negro Holds Up Eight People
Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 5.—A posse today was searching the woods around Lake Worth, a pleasure resort near here, for a lone negro bandit who last night held up eight members of a house party and escaped with $1500 worth of jewelry and $21 in cash after abusing his victims and attempting to attack a seventeen year old girl whom he used as a shield as he left the house. The screams of the girl's mother, however, caused the bandit to flee to the woods.
