FAMINE COVERS RUSSIA

Immense Hunger Circle from Moscow to Constantinople; Many Perishing. Samara, Russia, Oct. 7.—A month's journey from Constantinople to Moscow by way of the Caspian sea and the Volga region reveals an immense hunger circle culminating in intensity at Kazan. It is difficult to say in Constantinople, Tiflis, Baku and Astrakhan or in the Sarakov region. In each region there is a constant scramble for bread with the whole undivided daily purpose of every individual, whether rich or poor, to stock up a slender store of provisions against the approaching cold weather. Nowhere is there more than a two months' supply of food. Despite the famine, the curious fact stands out that every where it is possible to obtain a good meal if the traveler has money.
