

SALEM TO GET MEET

Forest Grove, Or., Oct. 10.—Hope that the list of appointments would be read last night at the end of the evangelistic services of the 10th Oregon annual Methodist Episcopal conference vanished when the cabinet, composed of Bishop William O. Shepard and his three district superintendents came out of a closed session just before the services opened and announced they had not completed the list.

Avison Gives Sermon.
The sermon in the morning was delivered by Rev. R. N. Avison, the new minister to succeed Rev. C. K. Carlos at the church in Forest Grove. It was to have been preached by the bishop, but on account of the duties pressing on him and due to his slight illness, Dr. Avison was substituted.

The ordination of two deacons and four elders during the afternoon was an impressive and beautiful ceremony. The six men were ordained by Bishop Shepard, assisted by Rev. W. W. Youngson, Rev. E. E. Gilbert and Rev. S. A. Danford, three three district superintendents. The two men to be ordained deacons were P. M. Bienenkopf of Salem and F. Audley Brown, a circuit preacher in the southern district.

The four new elders are Alexander Hawthorne, West Salem; John D. Woodfin, Myrtle Point; Rev. Kimball K. Clark, a former Congregational minister admitted yesterday to the Methodist conference, and preaching at Dayton, Or., and Rev. S. Uemera, the pastor of the Japanese Methodist church of Portland.

Appointments Made.
Appointments and elections to offices made at the same session were Rev. W. W. Youngson, Portland, and Rev. J. O. Goltra, Salem, as trustees of the Kimball school of theology; Rev. E. E. Gilbert, Salem, as official visitor to the Kimball school.

Rev. Blaine E. Kirkpatrick made an impromptu address Saturday morning on what he had seen at the annual institute of the Epworth league, and declared he had talked with ministers who referred to the organization as "something for young people only," and disparaged it on the supposition that it was for the purpose of having good times. He said the members of the league learned more about church work in a week of meeting during the summer than the entire year of Sunday school attendance. "Furthermore," he added, "the expressions of purpose and aim in church work which I have heard at the institute meetings have inspired me to a greater extent than any other thing in my whole life. If the church must prosper, we must take care of the younger generation."

The statistical report on Sunday school attendance showed a total membership of 25,425, divided among the districts as follows: Portland, 11,339; Salem, 9344, and southern, 7842.

Salem Gets Conference.
Salem was chosen as the location for the 1922 conference. Rev. Blaine E. Kirkpatrick of the First church of that city extended the invitation and urged its acceptance on account of the stimulation it would give to start about the same time, for Willamette university, located there.

He said the ministers coming to Salem and seeing the university, studying its needs and realizing its advantages, would give them an interest in the affairs of the institution which would send them back to their posts enthused and eager to secure the pledges for the proposed endowment.

The conference was held in Salem in 1919, but pastors from Eugene and Medford both withdrew invitations to their towns because of the wisdom of the suggestions of Dr. Kirkpatrick, and the vote to hold the 1922 conference in Salem was unanimous. The state house is the probable meeting place of the next session.

Gresham Man Develops New Walnut, Claim

Gresham, Or., Oct. 10.—Walnuts far superior to any that have ever been grown in this section of the country were brought into the office of the county agricultural agent by H. A. Lewis last week. The nuts, which Mr. Lewis calls Rogue Mayettes, were grown from seed which came from France. The nuts are uniform in size and quality, large and between the Mayette and Franquet in shape. The shell is exceptionally smooth and thin and the meat is said to be very sweet.

large and well formed. Another feature of the new variety is the hardness of the tree. There has been no sign of blight, according to Mr. Lewis, and the severe freeze two winters ago did not affect it in the least.
