Willamette university is seriously considering taking three Russian students from the University of California in response to the general plea sent out by the president of the latter institution. However, before taking final action upon the matter President Doney has written the California university for further instructions.

An order issued by the public service commission Wednesday, authorizes the construction of a crossing in the town of Lowell, Lane county, at grade with the tracks of the Southern Pacific company and vacates two grade crossings now existing which will be eliminated through the relocation of the county road.

Chain Stores Gain 25 Per Cent. Mail Order Houses Lose 37 Per Cent.

J. C. Penney Company, the operators of a country-wide system of chain stores, did 25 per cent more business during the first seven months of this year than during the corresponding months of 1920, while Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co., the two leading mail order houses of the country, suffered a loss of 37 per cent in the same period, according to figures obtained by the Daily Garment News.

E. C. Sams, president of the J. C. Penney Company, when asked why it was that in that period of depression the Penney stores had increased their sales so tremendously while the business of the catalog house had so greatly fallen off, ascribed the fact in part to the poor business conditions.

"When business is flush," he said, "people are not so particular where they buy and do little shopping around. When business is bad they are anxious to find out where they can obtain what they want at the lowest price. Because we have pursued policies which permit us to sell at rock-bottom prices J. C. Penney Company has prospered through the depression."

The chief point in the policies of the Penney stores that brought this about he said were:

1. That the Penney stores on January 1st took a $2,000,000 loss on their inventory to make it possible to base selling prices on replacement values.
2. That the Penney stores have devoted an increasing amount of money to arouse interest by the public in the values offered them.
3. That the executives of each of the Penney stores is interested

Willamette university faces the predicament of having intense rivalry toward the winning of an interclass trophy, which by custom is awarded that class winning the highest number of points in the whole year in interclass athletic and forensic contents, and being without any trophy to award the winning class. This because the class of 1921 took the old trophy away as private property. The stipulation has been that any class winning the cup for three consecutive years wins it permanently. This the 1921 class did. The chairman of the interclass rivalry committee expects, however, to be able to secure from some Salem house a suitable trophy by the time this year's award shall be made.

As the result of recent election the officers of the Willamette university band are: Avery Hicks, leader; Glen Chandler, manager, and Edgar Brock, librarian. The band now numbers 18 members. These men are: Anderson, Glichrist, Bolton, Hisey, clarinets; Reigel and Satchwell, flutes; Reed, piccolo; Chandler, Guperud, Metzler, Chapin, cornets; Beck and Brock, altos; Thompson, trombones; Warren, baritone; Hicks, bass horn; Berry, bass drum; Bullock, snare drum. Forrest Ginn is drum major.

At the Willamette university moot court Tuesday night Allen Carson won his first case from B. Beddingfield and J. Coulter. The moot court is a weekly practice court of the Willamette college of law where Juniors and seniors in law are given opportunity to argue and plead cases in accordance with the prevailing form of the regular courts of the state. James Crawford, alumnus of Willamette university and a practicing attorney in Salem serves as judge. Juniors and seniors in law take turns acting as attorneys and freshmen act as witnesses and jurors.

Lausanne hall girls are to have a new living room. This will be on the second floor of the hall, and in addition to the visiting and living room on the ground floor. The second floor living room will be served exclusively for the girls and will not be open to visitors. The university will equip this room with magazines and daily papers and a piano. The piano has already arrived.

Realtors To Investigate Flax Question

Investigation as to what can be done to promote the flax industry of the state and also to interest private capital in taking over the state flax plant, was decided upon at the regular meeting of the Marion County Realtors association this noon at the Marion hotel.

The action followed a statement by L. G. Hayford, president, who said that the state was contemplating closing the state plant, and a motion was made to endorse its continuance, but afterward rescinded until investigation should be made by a committee appointed of A. C. Bohrnstedt, Hugh Magee and H. C. Brown.

It was pointed out by Mr. Bohrnstedt that there is a large acreage in this county adaptable to flax growing and that there was no question but what the flax industry had been a success. The committee will report its findings at some future meeting and flax experts will be called in to discuss the matter for the realtors.

Fred O. Brockman, secretary of the Northwest Realty association, stated that Salem was the sixth Oregon board to join the association in a body, and urged that the entire local organization be present at the Eugene convention on October 29.

Luther J. Chapin, buyer for the King's Produce company, delivered a talk on the commodities of the company. Apples, he said, was the largest crop handled this year, amounting to 10,000 tons and 1 to 1 shrinkage. Prunes were next with 1000 tons and a 3 to 1 shrinkage, the crop being excellent this year with the fruit containing a large amount of sugar. Loganberries were third with 1500 tons, the company paying 4 cents a pound and the growers making money at that price, the cost of production being about 3 1/2 cents. The company handled 1200 tons of beans, 500 tons of peaches, 500 tons of apricots, 223 tons of cherries, 200 tons of pears.

Mr. Chapin further stated that the company was contemplating operating a factory in California for their peach, apricot and spinach pack, which could not be secured here in large enough quantities.

Salem Woman In Sensational Car Wreck, Not Hurt
Officials at the state school for the feeble-minded were notified this morning that Mrs. Laura Breen, a cook at the school, was not as seriously injured as at first reported when the Portland-Salem stage in which she was riding plunged over a 50-foot bank, leaped across a raft of logs and landed in the middle of the Clackamas river Tuesday night.

The stage fell right side up in the river and in only a few feet of water. The accident occurred at a jog in the road in front of the C. C. Garlick place. The driver, P. VanDeatta, apparently lost control of the big car he was piloting. Mrs. Breen and two men who sustained minor injuries were taken to Portland. Mrs. Breen was but slightly shaken up and did not receive a broken arm as at first reported.

Father Asks Habeas Corpus Proceedings For Care of Boys
Charging that their four children were committed to the state feeble minded school on pretended orders, Frank and Isabelle Councilman, residents of Eugene, have filed a petition for habeas corpus proceedings in the circuit court of this county.

The petition states that the children were committed through the order of the Coos county court to the Boys and Girls Aid society in Portland and from there sent to the feeble minded school. The parents attack the order from the Coos county court, turning the children over to the state, on the grounds that they signed no papers for the transfer, and that the children are not feeble minded. In the original order of the Coos county court the parents are charged with inability to feed and clothe the children property. The names of the children as given in the petition are Claud, 11, Albert, 9, Clarence, 14, and George, 17.

Died.
