

TROPHY FOR BEST HERD

This is the most expensive trophy ever offered for any class of livestock in the west, probably, and back of it stands one of the dearest little girls you can find anywhere.

The trophy is insured for $1000 and is of sterling silver. It stands 28 inches high and is 20 inches in width from handle to handle. The diameter of the bowl is 14 1/2 inches, and the depth of the bowl is 10 1/2 inches. It is the Matador Segis Walker trophy, given by Carnation Stock Farms, Seattle, Wn., for the best breeder's young herd of registered Holsteins, and the Carnation Stock Farms will not compete.

The young miss is Betty-May Barnés, six years old. She is the granddaughter of O. M. Plummer, general manager of the Pacific International Livestock exposition, where the trophy will be awarded. It will be hard to give the trophy a more beautiful background than it has in this picture.

The trophy requirements are as follows: The herd must consist of one bull under two years of age, two heifers, one year and under two, two heifers under one year, all except the bull to have been bred by exhibitor and two or more breeders must compete. The trophy must be won three times before it becomes the permanent property of any winner. It will be given during the exposition at Portland, November 5 to 13.

Mr. Plummer says emphatically that the trophy goes to the winner, but Betty-May does not.

Man, 76, Is Father of 33 Children

Independence, Mo., Oct. 29.—Manna C. Bruner, 76, in "daddy" to thirty-three children.

Bruner is one-quarter Creek Indian and three-quarters negro and makes his home in Independence, Mo. He is reputed to have the second largest family of any man in the Creek Indian nation.

Bruner says that he has been married three times; his first two wives are dead.

The children range from youngsters of thirteen to middle-aged men and women. Twenty of them are girls and thirteen are boys. Twelve of the sons are overseas veterans of the world war.

The H. C. of L. didn't worry Bruner as far as providing for his family was concerned. He formerly lived with the Creek nation in Oklahoma. The government allotment of $14 a month for each man, woman and child made the provision problem simple for the veteran Indian.

Bruner served in the Union army in the Civil war.

Soviet May Pay Portion of Old Empire's Debts

Riga, Oct. 29.—Official confirmation that the Russian soviet government has agreed, under certain conditions, to recognize the foreign debts of the imperial Russian government, was received here today through the Rosta official bolshevik news agency.

The Radovan fruit dryer at Medford burned to the ground last Sunday, causing a loss estimated at $10,000.

Apple To Reign Supreme Monday

Monday is Halloween day. It is also National Apple day and King Apple will reign supreme. The entire nation will celebrate by eating an apple, or perhaps two, and Salem will come in for her share of the fruit that is making the northwest famous.

Salem clubs meeting on that day are planning to serve special apple dishes and big, delicious apple pies, apple dumplings and baked apples will adorn the tables of restaurants and homes. Everyone will have a chance to see just how good apples are for the local merchants are stocking up with liberal supplies in anticipation of the day.

Last year National Apple day was observed in all parts of the country and a special week in which attention was called to the apple aided materially in increasing the use of apples and in reducing the large supply of fruit. Observation of the day again this year will give wide publicity to the northwest apple, which, on account of the shortage of apples in the east, is entering more markets than ever before.

Thelma Perry

work—leaves them no time for anything but work outside of school hours, according to Mrs. Kays. She says that the girls rose at 6 o'clock every morning and that after breakfasting were required to sweep, dust or scrub until time to go to school. Often they barely had time to change their clothes and get to school on time, she says.

Upon their return from school in the afternoons they were again made to mop, scrub and dust. Mrs. Kays declares, until dinner time, and following the evening meal were required to read or sing for the patients in the old people's ward before attending chapel. The time between chapel and 8 o'clock, when all of the children were supposed to be in bed, was devoted to the odd tasks which the girls had not had time to accomplish during the day.

Mrs. Kays says that the only clothes supplied the girls during the time she was there were the cast off garments of other people. Upon one occasion, she says, Thelma Perry was required to attend school wearing the discarded shoes of one of the sisters.

Bear No Malice.

Neither Mrs. Kays nor Mrs. Hoyt bear any malice toward the Deaconess hospital or its officials. Mrs. Kays and Mrs. Hoyt were well treated during their period of employment. Neither of the women, according to their statements, had read any of the stories which appeared in The Capital Journal. There is no trace of bitterness in their indictment of the hospital's system. They simply believe that there should be some changes.

Both Mrs. Kays and Mrs. Hoytsworn statement to Mrs. Mowry are women of limited means. Mrs. Kays is a mother. Both are of the opinion that the girls committed to the hospital are in an unwholesome environment.

Mrs. Hoyt and Mrs. Kays were dismissed from the hospital because, they were told by officials, financial conditions made necessary a reduction of the hospital's force. They left the hospital early in March.

Statement Not Solicited. Mrs. Kays volunteered her some time ago, and it was from the Perry girl's mother that The Capital Journal learned of Mrs. Kays' whereabouts.

Mrs. Kays was at first reluctant to have her name published in the newspapers. It was after a Salvation Army meeting that she finally determined to make a statement.

"After all, we should do what we can to make the world better, if we are Christians," she smiled. And, to repeat, there you are.

We have no excuses to offer for the material, workmanship, performance, or price of the 490 Chevrolet.

We can look a man squarely in the eye when we sell him this car for it is right in every way.

And more than this we know that the 490 Chevrolet, at the price—the new and better Chevrolet—is the most economical method of transportation in the world.

It is an undisputed fact that the annual depreciation on cars selling from $1,500 and upward amounts to more than the cost of the 490.

"We Do Not Advertise"

Such is the response of the down-and-outer when approached by the advertising solicitor of the newspaper.

When pushed further the non-advertising merchant usually pretends that he can sell cheaper because he does not have to pay advertising bills.

Every now and then one of these down-and outers listens to the arguments of the advertising solicitor, puts on a trial campaign, gets satisfactory results and becomes a regular growing concern.

If the down-and-outers would only take the trouble to study the story of the successes of the advertising retailers in their town they would quickly get into the game and do more business.

The store which has won success through advertising would as soon consider the possibility of discontinuing to advertise as to try to do business without clerks.

Advertising is not an expense, but a stimulus to sales, paid for by the consumer.
