

COOLIDGE TALKS FOR HARDING

Vice President Carries Message From Chief To Legion In Convention

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 1.—Nothing is closer to the heart of President Harding than to make the relief for incapacitated war veterans absolutely complete; no man not in the service has a deeper appreciation of what that service meant, of the sacrifices made by the veterans, of the obligations incurred by the country and no man will go further to minister to the true welfare of those who have been in the service and their dependents than the president of the United States, Vice-President Coolidge told the national convention of the American Legion here Monday.

"He will never sacrifice you for his own welfare. He will sacrifice himself for your welfare. He will do all that can be done to prevent the need of your again sacrificing yourselves for your country's welfare," Mr. Coolidge said.

The vice-president reviewed what has been done so far toward relieving the incapacitated veterans; paid high tribute to the valor of America's armed forces, and declared the Legion represented a "new national consciousness."

He made a plea against sectionalism, which he said had been largely wiped out by the fighting forces of war, and predicted a great future in the nation's life for the American Legion.

"In recognition of the solemn obligation to you and your countrymen of economy and peace, a conference of certain great powers, called on the initiative of the president of the United States, is about to assemble in Washington," he continued. "It proposed to search for a solution of problems arising from the convergence of many different nations in the Pacific and to provide by mutual agreement a limitation of armaments. It proposed no burden; it promises relief at home and a better understanding abroad. If it can be accomplished its blessings will be reflected from every fire-side in the land."

New Telephone Company Formed

The Central Oregon Telephone company, organized for the purpose of operating a telephone and telegraph business in the vicinity of Burns, Harney county, filed articles of incorporation with the state corporation department here Monday. The corporation is capitalized at $25,000 with the following incorporators: Charles K. Peterson, J. R. Jenkins and P. G. Smith.

Articles were also filed by the Elk City Water company of Elk City, Lincoln county, capitalized at $1200. The incorporators are J. C. Dixon, M. W. Small and Charles Allen.

A certificate filed by Moore & McGill, Inc., of Portland shows an increase in capital from $10,000 and $15,000. The U. S. Metals company, a Washington corporation capitalized at $150,000, has filed a declaration of intention to operate in Oregon. The company owns the Bay Horse mine near Huntington, Baker county, and names P. H. Miller of the Bay Horse mine as its attorney in fact for Oregon.

CORPORATION DISSOLVED

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 1.—The Ishpeming Mining Company, operating under West Virginia charter but with headquarters at Evanson, Ill., and licensed to operate in the State of Missouri, has been dissolved as a West Virginia corporation and has surrendered its charter to the secretary of state. Edward H. Hall is president of the concern.

Marcus Show of 1921 Is Double in Size

The Marcus Show will be the attraction at the Grand Wednesday, November 9, matinee and evening.

In all, there are over one hundred persons concerned in the activities. Charlie Abot, long a favorite with the Marcus brand of extravaganzas, has been elevated to stardom. He and the celebrated Marcus Peaches continue among the foremost reasons for the popularity of this diversified entertainment.

The present edition is the most pretentious that A. B. Marcus has provided in over a decade as an entrepreneur of glibly harlequinades. Over one hundred thousand dollars has been expended in equipping this attraction. There are more than a score of scenes ranging from an idyllic chicken farm to a replica of the New York Century room.

Reports have it that the music of the new show is of light opera calibre. Mr. Abot in addition to his presence as fun-maker-in-chief is likewise responsible for the melodies. Jack Laif, of short story fame, concocted the book and lyrics. "California" is one of the musical hits of the production. It has already found its way to the phonographs and from its reception thus far its vogue seems to be a promise of country-wide popularity.

BULLION RECOVERED

London, Nov. 1.—It is believed that a large part of the bullion which went down in the Laurentic off the Irish coast during the war has now been recovered. The authorities will not disclose the amount raised, but it is anticipated that the work will be completed next season.

Oregon Leads In Prevention of Auto Thefts

Only a certificate of ownership clause is required to make the Oregon automobile registration law practically theft proof, according to B. W. McCay, manager of the theft bureau of the Pacific Coast Auto Underwriters' conference with Secretary of State Koser and other state department officials. McCay was accompanied by Roy W. Nelson in charge of the Seattle office of the bureau and Joe Keller in charge of the Portland office.

Thanks to the numerical engine record in use in the automobile registration department in the secretary of state's office here, McCay declared, the tracing and recovery of stolen cars has been made comparatively easy in Oregon. This record, he explained, in spite of its value has been adopted by but few of the states in the union, as yet.

Oregon, he declared, leads the nation in the reduction of automobile thefts. In Portland alone, he explained, automobile thefts have been reduced from a total of 1528 in 1919 to 450 in 1920.

All automobile insurance companies have been operating at a loss due to the great hazards surrounding automobiles, according to McCay who declares that adequate laws are the only hope of their provisions in a correction of this condition which spells disaster to them.

Oregon Is Well Represented At A. L. Convention

Kansas City, Nov. 1.—Oregon is strongly represented for the third annual convention of the American Legion when it convened here Monday.

In the preliminaries participated in by the convention delegates, Oregon won her share of important committee positions. State Commander Lane Goodell, of Portland, was selected by the Oregon men as chairman of their delegation, with Arthur Murphy, Portland, the choice for floor leader. In the matter of general convention committee appointments, the Oregon men won places as follows:

Edward J. Eivers, credentials; Arthur A. Murphy, resolutions; Earl H. Goodwin, time and place for the next convention; James Morris, Americanization, all of Portland; Harry L. Kueck, Pendleton, constitutional amendments; Walter L. Toose Jr., McMinnville, permanent organization, also legislation; Ben Dorris, Eugene, rules also organization; Dr. J. W. Sifton, Hood River, general welfare; Geo. A. White, Salem, finance; Ross H. Hoskins, Astoria, naval affairs, and D. C. Evans, Dufer, military affairs.

Grange Master Is Enjoined By Order of Court

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 1.—William Bouck, deposed master of the Washington State Grange and an emergency committee of grange members who issued a call for a special convention held here October 13 were temporarily enjoined in a supreme court order issued Monday from using the title "Washington State Grange," in connection with the organization effected at the convention.

The convention adopted resolutions to the effect that "Bouck" was the legal head of the grange in Washington despite the action of the national grange in ousting him for alleged disloyal utterances at the convention of the state grange at Colville, Wash., last June.

The court held the call for the special convention was not issued in a proper manner no date was set for hearing upon a petition for permanent injunction filed by regularly elected officers of the state organization.

While aiding her granddaughter in the birth of twins, Mrs. Sarah Lowman, aged 71, a pioneer of Columbia county, fell unconscious across the bed and expired.

Nelson Talks On Teaching At W. U. Chapel

J. C. Nelson, principal of the Salem High school, spoke Monday morning at the chapel of Willamette University. He emphasized the dignity and the importance of the teaching profession.

Speaking of the seeming unconscious but nevertheless existent prejudice that in general is found against the profession he found his reason for this prejudice in the fact that teachers have too much been mechanical and not progressive thinkers. "The world has plenty of respect for the banker. Why?" asked Mr. Nelson, and then he answered his own question, "Because the banker stamps his job with his personality and contributes his own processes of constructive thinking to the work he turns out."

"The teacher has an unlimited opportunity to do good without advertising," said Mr. Nelson, "because he is dealing with minds that are plastic and easily influenced." The teacher who is an artist in his profession keeps alive the ideals of civilization and teaches the youth of the nation to testify to the reality of things unseen, he said.

Mr. Nelson concluded by advising, "Ask yourself if you can make yourself useful as a teacher, and if you can, enter the profession and then never apologize for being a teacher."

Railroads Reduce Freight Rate On Pumpkin Flour

Folks who live in the middle west and east will have something to be thankful for this year. The railroads have granted a material reduction in the freight rates on pumpkin flour.

A letter received by the public service commission here Monday states that an investigation, prompted by a request from the commission, reveals the fact that pumpkin flour which has heretofore paid the first class rate really comes in the third class and that the change in rates will be immediately applicable. The flour is a dehydrated product manufactured in Salem, Portland and The Dalles.

Books Once Owned by Waller and Lee In Varsity Library

Willamette university has been able to enrich its library with two historical books which are very valuable to Willamette in that they were once possessed by A. F. Waller, the founder of Waller Hall, and by Jason Lee, Fred Lockley of Portland chanced to find the books while rummaging through old secondhand books in Portland. He immediately wrote the university that the relics could be secured by the expenditure of one dollar. The university quickly remitted the necessary dollar and now have the books.

The books are histories of the Jewish people written by Flavius Josephus, the Jewish historian. Each bears the identification "Oregon Mission Library," a library that was in existence when Willamette university was founded in the early forties. A. F. Waller's name is written in ink upon the fly leaf of one book, and Jason Lee's name is written in the same manner in the other book. The books were printed in 1824.

It was time to wake up, all right

MY BRAIN was busy.
BUILDING AIR castles.
FOR I wasn't sleepy.
FINALLY I dozed off.
AND PROMPTLY dreamed.
THAT I was awake.
BUT WOKE right up.
AND FOUND I was asleep.
THEN I got thinking.
OF A wonderful formula.
FOR MAKING cigarettes.
I PLANNED it all out.
SO MUCH Turkish tobacco.
BLENDED JUST so with Burley.
AND OTHER Domestic leaf.
AND I knew that blend.
WOULD MAKE a hit.
I COULD just see.
CROWDS OF happy people.
THRONGING INTO stores.
TO BUY that cigarette.
THEN LIGHTING up.
SMACKING THEIR lips.
AND SAYING, "Oh, Boy,
IT'S THE exact copy.
OF THAT "Satisfy" blend."
AND THEN I came to.
AND SAID to myself.
"THIS TIME you're dreaming.
FOR SURE.
WAKE UP, you darn fool.
WHY, THAT "Satisfy" blend.
SIMPLY CAN'T be copied."

THAT'S a fact—the "Satisfy blend" can't be copied. It's our own secret—putting those good tobaccos together in a way that gives you every last ounce of their fragrance. You'll smack your lips over Chesterfields. And remember—you can't get "Satisfy" anywhere else.
