Delegates of Three Nations Arrive Today

New York, Nov. 1.—Delegates to the Washington conference on limitation of armaments from Italy, Great Britain and China arrived in American waters today on the steamship Olympic from Southampton, and were expected to land shortly after noon.

Included in the party were three members of the Italian delegation—Senator Carlo Schanzer, Senator Luigi Albertini and Vittorio Rolandi Ricci, Italian ambassador to the United States—Lord Lee of Fareham, first lord of the British admiralty, Srinavasa Sastry, India office delegate and Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese minister to Great Britain.

Foch Addresses Legion Session

(Continued from Page One.) amongst you, valiant soldiers of 1918, to live again our glorious memories. Three years ago, on the first of November, 1918, the entire American army in France took up vigorously the pursuit of the defeated enemy and did not halt until the German surrender. "Hour of glory for the American army, a proper culmination for a military effort, prodigious alike in its intensity as in its rapidity. One and all you have had your share in it. You may well be proud, in responding in haste to the call to arms of your government, in equipping, training and organizing yourselves as rapidly as possible, you had in view only the purpose to take your place as soon as possible in the line of battle.

Recites Difficulties. "In numbers, eighteen months after the declaration of war by the United States on Germany, the American army had passed from effectiveness of 9500 officers and 125,000 men to 180,000 officers and 3,500,000 men. "Effort of organization: In the month of March, 1918, you had in France but six divisions, six months later you had forty-one, of which 31 engaged in battle.

Effort in instruction: In order to have officers, non-commissioned officers and men rapidly trained you multiplied in American as France your schools and camps, which became centers of prodigious activity.

Admirable effort also in transportation. You swept away every obstacle which interfered with bringing your units from the centers of instruction to the ports of embarkation.

Accomplishments Listed. "In France, you improved the ports of embarkation, created new installations, increased the traffic of the railroad system by work of all kinds and multiplied your storehouses and hospitals.

Your shipyards were organized for intensive production in such a way that when the war ended you utilized for your ocean transportation almost four millions of marine tonnage, instead of 94,000 available at the beginning of the war.

And meanwhile your splendid war fleet, thanks to its vigilance and its fine military qualities, protected with an efficiency to which I am happy to pay tribute here, the transportation of your troops and material.

A prodigious effort on the part of your entire nation's intelligence, will power and energy; a prodigious effort which has filled your associates with admiration and gratitude and confounded your enemy.

This splendid spirit of an entire nation we find again on the battlefields of France where it was blazoned in the admirable virtues of bravery and heroism.

Yankee Spirit Praised. "It was the spirit of the second and third American army divisions which one month later took part in the battle of the Marne and distinguished themselves immediately in the operations around Chateau Thierry and in Belleau Wood.

Again it was the spirit of those five divisions which, on the 18th of July, participated in the victorious counter offensive on the Tenth and Sixth French armies between the Aisne and the Marne and contributed in great measure to that victory.

Finally it was that spirit which animated all the American army when on the 24th of July, General Pershing formed your splendid units under his own direct command.

Honors Are Hard Won. "After St. Mihiel it could now inscribe proudly upon its banner the name of the Argonne. "On the 16th of October, this great task finished, it joined hands with the Fourth French army in the defense of Grand Pre. "In consequence of this the enemy's resistance was severely shaken; the moment had arrived to give him the final blow. "On the 1st of November, just three years ago today, the first American army again attacked and, in a splendid advance, reached Buzancy, penetrating the German line for more than ten kilometers.

Pays Tribute to Spirit. "The St. Mihiel operation was nearly ended when the American army attacked on a new front. On the 25th of September it was engaged on the right wing of the vast allied offensive. The point of direction assigned to it was Meurville on the Meuse. Deployed from the left bank on the Meuse to the eastern confines of Champagne it had three army corps in line on a front of nearly forty kilometers.

Nothing could discourage or check your army. It threw itself with generous ardor into the immense melee. The task was rude one but it was carried out to a thorough finish.

Fighting without respite night and day for a month, advancing in spite of the pitfalls and the counter attacks of the enemy, it succeeded, by pure force of tenacity and heroism, in liberating the wild region of the Argonne.

Before it stretched the region of the Argonne, formidable emplacement of the German defense, a wooded terrain, rugged, difficult in its very nature and rendered more so by all the defensive organizations which had been accumulated there during the last four years.
