ARMY OFFICERS MUST PASS BLOOD TEST OR BE RETIRED

For the first time since 1917 examinations of blood test took place on Governors Island recently. Failure to pass the examination meant retirement from the army. The photograph shows an officer being examined by Lieutenant-Colonel Edward Rich, M. C., and Major H. L. Kraft. Captain Oscar Nettles M. C., is taking notes. These three men are the chief examiners who will pass on the 300 officers who are undergoing the test.

Poor Business Attributed To Low Exchange

London, Jan. 25.—The evils of inflation and disorganized exchanges have created an almost uniform monotony of distress. On the one hand we have countries whose depreciated and fluctuated currencies make foreign trade almost impossible, while on the other hand there are the relatively stable countries who are suffering almost equally through the shutting down of normal markets.

That is how Viscount Churchill described the financial situation of Europe at a meeting of the shareholders of the British Overseas bank.

"The result of all this," he said, "has been a drop in prices, and particularly a discrepancy between the prices of raw materials and finished products which has had disastrous consequences.

"As always in these times of crisis bankers have to stand as a buffer between their clients and the full force of the depression."

The bank has many connections with Poland, as had many other banking concerns in Great Britain, and in his mournful chant on the distressful conditions in Poland, Lord Churchill was voicing the complaints of bankers on the whole.

"Conditions in Poland continue to be unsatisfactory," he continued. "In spite of the real efforts towards reform which have been recently made by the government finances have continued to shrink further into the morass produced by heavy expenditure, insufficient revenue and consequently rapidly increasing inflation.

"This particular phase has to be regretted, as within the country itself substantial progress has been made during the last twelve months.

"Before Poland can be pulled together the problems of pruning down bureaucracy and militarism and of increasing the efficiency of the tax collecting will have to be solved. Given a form of government finance they might rely with confidence on the energy of the agricultural and industrial sections of the country to restore prosperity to Poland.
