

KENYON BILL ON COAL WARS DIES LACKING SPONSOR

By H. K. Reynolds
Washington, April 20.—Just before William S. Kenyon, of Iowa, quit the United States Senate to become a federal judge he caused considerable apprehension in labor circles here and elsewhere by the introduction of a bill to establish a National Coal Mining Board to maintain peace in the coal industry.

Before he made the formal proposal to the Senate, Kenyon outlined his plans for the sanctioning by Congress of an industrial code applicable to coal mining and incorporated his set of rules in his bill. When the bill was tossed into the legislative hopper Kenyon was chairman of the Senate committee on Education and Labor and the measure naturally went to his committee, where, in the ordinary course of events, it would have rested for a brief period and would have been reported back to the Senate to be discussed pro and con, defended and maligned, until it was disposed of by being passed or definitely rejected.

But Kenyon's gone and the bill is gathering dust in the archives of the committee, which has been without a permanent and official chairman since the retirement of the Iowa senator. Unless someone with Kenyon's ideas of how things ought to be looked after by the government in the coal mining industry comes forward to rescue his bill and to sponsor it on the floor of the Senate it is likely to die a natural death along with hundreds of other measures which never get any further than the brief item in the newspapers to the effect that "Senator So-and-So today introduced a bill providing for the so-forth and so on—"

BICYCLE RACE IN STORE WINDOW TO BE FEATURE

A bicycle race in a store window! This unique event will be the leading feature of the Davis day celebration to be held by Lloyd E. Ramsden, well known local Dayton bicycle dealer, on April 22. Elaborate preparations for the entertainment of visitors are being made. Open house will be held, and all past, present, and prospective bicycle riders are invited to visit the store. A number of special features have been arranged and there will be something of interest to everyone. Souvenir racing caps will be given all contestants in the bicycle race, and a handsome jersey sweater will be awarded the person reeling off the largest number of miles in a certain stipulated time. According to Mr. Ramsden, Davis day is a nation wide event and is observed annually by progressive dealers representing the Davis Sewing Machine company, Dayton, Ohio, world's largest manufacturer of bicycle. A silver loving cup will be awarded by this company to the bicycle dealer having the best celebration. The war was the biggest crime wave in the world's history, and the crime waves are troubling the world today are merely the following ripples. Says Husband Tried To Sell Her to Poet For Only $10,000

Newark, N. J., April 20.—Pretty and petulant Mrs. Emma Popovice has encountered a "quill" on the sea of matrimony. And a poet is the cause of it all. John Popovice, her husband, offered her for sale, she alleges in a petition for separate maintenance filed here. A poet was the prospective "buyer." "John has been cruel to me ever since we were married," declares Mrs. Popovice. "He struck me, pinched me and called me names. I am suing for separate maintenance because he tried to sell me for $10,000." But John Popovice has his version of the affair. "I didn't offer her for sale," he asserts. "I told the man he owed me $10,000 for stealing my wife's love away from me. He wrote her love letters and poetry. I have a pocketful of them. "I'll say that I have been a gentle, loving and forgiving husband."

They are herculean athletes presenting many sensational gymnastic stunts, showing strength and ability. A virile drama of the southwest with a civil engineer as its hero instead of the typical bandit or cowpuncher, is "Cold Steel," the J. P. McEwan production which will be the chief attraction at the Bligh theater for two days beginning Friday.

GOVERNMENT TO QUIT OPERATING STEAMERS SOON

By T. N. Sandifer
Washington, April 20.—Uncle Sam's role as ship operator is nearing an end. Beginning at the end of June he will commence a gradual withdrawal from the shipping game, which he began as a war measure and which he has continued to play until today he is well on the way toward being the world's leading merchantman on the sea. This, in effect, is the program of chairman Albert Leaker, of the Shipping Board. He has announced that with the start of the new fiscal year in July will come the beginning of the end of the United States' long stewardship of the new merchant marine. The withdrawal will not be sudden, however. Depending on possibly improved world conditions and government aid to shipping, it will take about two years for the government to wind up its immediate connections with the shipping industry which it brought into being.

Wants Ships to Pay

The general trend of the government's efforts has been toward guiding the new shipping industry into paying methods and bolstering it up where it needs it. This will follow until private enterprises can take firm hold and keep the ships moving and the money coming in. The goal in the minds of administration leaders has been the restoration on a modern scale of the days when the famous American "clippers," bearing commerce to every port, were the envy of the rest of the maritime world. With the aid of the ship subsidy plan, which it is hoped will be adopted by congress, and the expected improved economic conditions shipping authorities believe that the huge merchant tonnage of the United States may yet become one of America's most active assets. The first big step toward this goal was the drafting of the ship subsidy or government aid plan. The next step has just been taken in the first concerted effort on the part of the Shipping Board to dispose of the fleet. Once the major part of these ships are under private direction and holding their own with their foreign competitors the Shipping Board will feel that its mission has been largely accomplished.

HUBBARD MAN INJURED WHEN TRUCK TURNS OVER

Canby, Or., April 20.—A. C. Schlabsch, 70, well known farmer of Hubbard, Marion county, suffered but a few scratches on the face Monday when his auto truck went over a 30-foot embankment on the highway near Coalca rock. Schlabsch fell asleep while driving his car down a grade, when his car went over and landed up-sidedown near the Southern Pacific railroad track. The accident occurred near a curve when there was no rail guard. A torpid liver needs an over-hauling with Herbine. Its benefits are immediately apparent. Energy takes the place of listlessness, appetite returns, and the hour of rest brings with it sound, refreshing sleep. Price, 60c. Sold by Dan'l J. Fry.
