LABOR LEADERS HELD AS BOMBING RESULT

DISMISSAL OF TEACHER MAY START FIGHT

Julia Iverson, instructor at Lincoln school for nine years, dismissed, petition disregarded.

Julia Iverson teaches little second graders. She is in one school now—the Lincoln—for nine years. It is probable that many Salem people do not know Miss Iverson, despite the nine years. Despite her reported excellence as a primary teacher. There are, however, those who know her. During her long period of active duty she has won the friendship of hundreds of pupils and the respect of scores of parents whose children have received their early training from her. Her supporters—in the district immediately surrounding the school in which she has worked—are numbered by hundreds. Miss Iverson is not to teach here next year. Disregarding a petition signed by 425 patrons, the school board, at its meeting last night, voted on the recommendation of Superintendent Geo. H. Simeral, to re-employ Miss Iverson. The motion, made by Director L. J. Simeral, was voted on favorably by Directors Paul Walker and Walter Winslow. Directors H. H. Olinger and George Johnson opposed the move. Mrs. John Harrison, head of the delegation from South Salem which was in attendance at the school board meeting, declared this morning that the district which she represents is not through with the matter. E. A. Rhoten, president of the (Continued on Page Five.)

RECRUITS FOR CITIZENS CAMPS ARE NOW OPEN

Applications for the citizens military training camps to be held in this area this summer are now receivable by Major James S. Dusenbury of the U. S. Army, instructor of the Oregon national guard, with headquarters in the adjacent general's office located in the United States National bank building.

A letter received from the commanding officer of the ninth corps stated that it is necessary to have as many enlistments for these camps as possible, since future appropriations by congress for maintaining depends largely upon the response made by the public. "It is very essential," said Major Dusenbury, "that these camps be filled, for the number of applications received is indicative of the attitude of the American people toward civilian military training."

With this in view Major Dusenbury has been requested to assist applicants in every possible way in obtaining application blanks and information concerning the different courses to be given at Camp Lewis and Fort Worth, Wash., this summer. This information can be obtained by writing to Major Dusenbury in care of the Adjutant of the Oregon national guard.

Second Attempt To Gain Labor Support For White Defeated

A second attempt to take the Salem labor vote into the camp of Colonel George A. White, gubernatorial candidate, failed miserably last night at the meeting of the Salem Central Trades & Labor council. At the beginning of the discussion, C. W. Brant, president of the council, employed in the office of the Statesman, took the floor. Motion to Pass Lost. The attitude of the council with regard to White had been misrepresented, and that body had neither endorsed or repudiated him at its last meeting, Brant said, and insisted that the resolution, brought to the last meeting by White's campaign manager, be yanked off the file spindle and read again. It was, Brant put a motion to "approve" the motion, with the exception of the last sentence whereby the endorsement to White would be given.

FLAT DENIAL TO STILLMAN CHARGE MADE

Wife declares accusations of intimacy with Indian guide are all falsehoods.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 10.—Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, taking the stand in her own defense today in the trial of the divorce suit, instituted by James A. Stillman, New York banker, denied she had mis-conducted herself with Fred Beauvais, Indian guide, as described in testimony by witnesses previously called by the plaintiff. She denied that she and Beauvais had acted improperly in November, 1917, at the Blackburn house at Grand Anse, Que. George Adams, a workman, months ago was reported to have sworn he saw Mrs. Stillman and Beauvais in improper postures in the Blackburn house. Today Mrs. Stillman testified that both Beauvais and Adams slept in the kitchen while she occupied one of the front rooms. She also swore that nothing improper occurred during her visit to Canada in March, 1918, it was said. She related events of the trip she and Mr. Stillman took in Canada in October, 1917, and told of having Louis Beauvais and his wife, the parents of the guide, as their guests at a cottage one night. The elder Beauvais recently testified in Canada that at this time the banker gave up his own room so the Beauvais couple would have a place to sleep.

Daughter May Testify

New York, May 10.—Miss Anne Stillman, returning today on the Olympic from school in Paris, was non-committal on the question of whether she would take the stand for her mother. She was met at the pier by her brother, Bud, who was reported to have come from Poughkeepsie, to induce his sister to become a witness for the defense. Miss Stillman would only state that she planned to divide her summer vacation equally between her parents.

SALEM TO PLAY BANKERS TEAM

A picked team from the Bankers league of Portland will meet the Salem Senators on the baseball diamond at Oxford park, Sunday, according to Manager Jack Hayes of the local team. The lineup of the Senators will be practically the same as that last Sunday, with perhaps a change or two, for Hayes does not know just what men will be available. Salem has been extremely fortunate in winning the first four games of the season in spite of the substitutions made by the vacancies left by Reinhart and "Mike" Miller. Keene has been hitting as near 100 per cent as any ball player could hope to hit without being in the major leagues. His six home runs in four games have brought Salem out of one or two tight holes.

GOLSTEIN DOES NOT WANT PLACE

Washington, May 10.—Nat Goldstein, whose recent nomination as international revenue collector at St. Louis has been the occasion of much senate criticism, has asked that his nomination be withdrawn. Goldstein's request, made in a letter to President Harding and read in the senate by Senator Spencer, republican, Missouri, who recommendation of the appointment, was declared by Senator Spencer to "end the incident," indicating that the president would meet Goldstein's request.

HELPED GIRL HERE TO ESCAPE, CLAIM

Sherman Douglas, 20, who was captured by a sheriff's posse near here Monday night while he was attempting to elope with Miss Esther Planting, an inmate of the state industrial school for girls, will in all probability be charged with aiding in an escape, Lyle J. Page, deputy district attorney, said this afternoon. Douglas, who was taken into custody near Marion, is at present held in the Marion county jail. Douglas and Miss Planting were riding on a single horse when they were overtaken by officers. The girl was returned to the industrial school. She is 18 years of age.

Tears Come Hard For Juvenile Star, But Binney Coaxes Them

Governor Olcott and Mayor Halvorsen Make Initial Appearance in Filming of Journal Picture This Morning; Scene Shifts To Capitol Grounds Next.

With both Governor Ben Olcott and Mayor George Halvorsen registering prominently in the foreground, more than 200 residents of Salem this morning appeared in one of the scenes of "Listen, Look and Laugh." The scene, in which Governor Olcott, Mayor Halvorsen, Mrs. W. Carlton Smith, Mrs. Arthur Rahn and Nancy Thielson were the principals, was filmed at the Southern Pacific depot at 10 o'clock. This afternoon another scene—a lawn fete in which many state house employes are used, will be taken on the capitol grounds, weather permitting.

MOORE MUSIC STORE IS SOLD TO H. L. MOORE

Involving a sum said to be several thousand dollars, Hurlie L. Moore, senior partner in the firm of Moore & Dunn, has purchased the music store operated by W. W. Moore at 415 Court street. Both men are well known business men of Salem and the county. Hurlie L. Moore, at present candidate for the legislature, has been in business in Woodburn for the last 20 years, being senior partner in the firm of Moore & Geer, druggists. Last July he, with Dunn, established the Moore & Dunn music store located in the basement of the Masonic building. He still retains his interest in both places. W. W. Moore has been in business in Salem for the last 12 years. He was proprietor of the department store of Worth & Gray before he sold out to the present proprietors, who purchased it last summer. Following the sale of this store, Mr. Moore purchased the music store, which he has just sold, from Miss Myrtle Knowland. He is owner of the building in which the store is located and that occupied by Worth & Gray. Regarding his future plans W. W. Moore stated that he intended to still remain in Salem looking after his other interests, but is contemplating a trip to California as soon as summer vacation commences. The store will be in charge of Miss Myrtle Knowland.

SEVEN BID FOR POLK PAVING JOB

Portland, Or., May 10.—Following opening bids on road work and listening to a delegation from Malheur county asking for state aid, the state highway commission this afternoon was to confer with truck owners and operators and logging men, to work out plans for the use of the state paved highways by heavy haulers. Seven bids were submitted for crushed rock surfacing 34.75 miles of the Coos Bay-Roseburg highway. Seven bids were submitted for the Monmouth-Benton county line section of the West Side highway. The contract for the Holmes Gap-Rickreall paving was let yesterday to the Oregon Contract company for $135,168.

The necessity of supporting the national guard as a means of national defense was emphasized by Col. C. E. Dentier, of the regular army in his address before the Rotary club this noon in the Marion hotel. Thaucy Olcott, famous tenor, was a guest of the club at luncheon today, telling a few of his humorous stories following his introduction by Governor Ben W. Olcott.

DEATH OF TWO POLICEMEN IS LAID TO TRIO

Notorious Chicago Labor Executives Captured in Raid; "Big Tim" Murphy Involved.

Chicago, May 10.—The police today raided the building trades labor headquarters and arrested three of Chicago's biggest labor leaders—Big "Tim" Murphy, Fred Mader and Cornelius Shea—in connection with bombings and shootings which early today resulted in the death of two policemen and serious injury of a third. Murphy, known as Chicago's "labor czar," is out on bail after having been sentenced to 7 years in the penitentiary in connection with the $400,000 union station mail robbery. Mader is president of the building trades council, while Shea heads the teamsters' union. Orders for the immediate arrest of the men were issued today by Chief of Police Charles Fitzmorris after he had questioned more than a score of union workers taken into custody in connection with the bombings and shootings. Among the twenty-three unions and officials arrested was John Rafferty, also charged with implication in the mail robbery with Murphy and an intimate friend of the latter. Rafferty was identified by witnesses as a member of a squad which bombed two buildings early today and which is believed to have killed the policemen. The bombings with the resultant killings were believed by the police to have been in protest of the Landis wage awards in the building trades and part of a general labor warfare against employers of building tradesmen. The bombs were set off in two buildings and numerous other structures were stoned.

BRITISH NOT TO AID ROBERTSON

Washington, May 10.—British embassy officials after a final conference with Alexander E. Robertson, British war veteran and suitor of Miss Mary Culbertson, daughter of Senator Culbertson of Texas, declared action of the embassy on Robertson's charges of kidnaping by private detectives would amount merely to watching court procedure which Robertson has instituted. The British veteran laid before embassy officials today further information to support his charges that because of his affection for Miss Culbertson, he was kidnaped by private detectives who attempted to railroad him out of the country. Indications were seen in the statement issued last night by R. Leslie Craigie, first secretary of the embassy after the initial conference with Robertson, that the war veteran had to some extent at least, impressed embassy officials with his story. The statement said: "The embassy is inclined to consider that certain aspects as presented call for further investigation."

SOVIET ANSWER TO BE REVISED

Genoa, May 10.—(By Associated Press)—The Russian reply to the allied memorandum, which was ready for presentation this forenoon, was not delivered to the allies, as expected, as at the last moment, after a conversation between foreign Minister Tchitcherine of Russia and Schanzer of Italy, it was decided the reply would have to undergo some alteration. M. Tchitcherine left Genoa at 2 p. m. returning to Santa Margherita nearby to consult the other members of the Russian delegation. It was not expected, therefore, that the reply could be presented until tomorrow.

Butcher Knife and Axe Duel Weapons; Man and Wife Dead

Sarnia, Ont., May 10.—A duel to the death between husband and wife armed with butcher knife and axe in the presence of their three small children, today was being investigated by a coroner's jury, which has viewed the bodies. The duelists were Joseph Lambert, 33, and his 29 years old wife, who staged their battle yesterday in their farm house in Elkton, a few miles from Port Huron, Mich. Edward, aged 4, who was in the house with two younger children, told the prosecutor of the tragedy. "Both the governor and the mayor did exceptionally well," declared Harold J. Binney, producer-director, this afternoon. "I am immensely pleased with their work and with that of the others who have appeared in the picture." Sponsors who saw a second scene, staged on State street at Liberty this morning, were amused at the manner in which Mr. Binney succeeded in getting from little Nancy Thielson a facial expression which he desired. Nancy was supposed to be angry—judiciously angry and to be weeping copiously. But Nancy didn't feel angry. Nor weepy. Nor indignant. Mr. Binney showed her what he wanted. He explained again. He demonstrated. He almost wept himself. Nancy was undecided; sober-faced. She glanced nervously at the large crowd of curious people who were watching her every movement. Again Mr. Binney began to explain what her facial expressions should be. Sympathy Does Trick. Then, suddenly, Mr. Binney ceased giving orders. "That's all right," he told the little girl. "You don't have to do it. I know you're rather tired of this." He put one arm around her. Sympathy proved too much for Nancy. She began to cry. Quickly Mr. Binney got out of the scene. "Now, shake your fist," he shouted at her. "Shake it—look here—shake our fist at me!" Nancy, crying as she was supposed to cry, waved a small fist in the direction of Mr. Binney. "Camera," bawled Mr. Binney. The machine began to click. "That was good," he observed later. Crowd Appreciates Ruse. Members of the crowd glanced at one another. "Pretty slick," said one man. Mr. Binney came to Salem with the hope that, in the production of The Capital Journal's picture, he might find here some talent which he might later use in his Portland studio. Mr. Binney, who had 14 years in Los Angeles as motion picture actor, author, director and producer, was drawn to the northwest by its wonderful scenery. Forty-three persons have been signed for parts in "Listen, Look and Laugh." The picture, which is a two reel comedy-drama, is to be completed this week and will be shown next week at the Bligh theater. Principals in the picture are as follows: Gertie L. Gettum, Miss Nancy Thielson; Heza Grafer, Carl Hinges; Lotta Getdough, Mrs. Arthur Rahn; Ike N. Gettum, Frederick Thielson; Mrs. Ike N. Gettum, Mrs. W. Carlton Smith; Cashon Hande, Mayor George Halvorsen; Kent B. Founde, Chief of Police Moffitt; Willie Knabbum, J. O. Hooker; Hixonor, the governor, Ben Olcott.

CANNED GOODS MARKET DEMANDS OREGON PRUNES

A heavy demand for all canned goods is prevalent in the eastern states because of the fact that there are but few fruits left in first hands, according to E. Sergeant of New York City, senior member of the firm of Sergeant & Butler, who is in the city in conference with the officials of the Oregon Growers Cooperative association. "There is a particular demand for your Oregon prunes," said Mr. Sergeant. "I know nothing of the loganberry situation for our firm does not handle them and I understand that your market lies in the east. Eastern dealers have never taken very enthusiastically to the loganberries. "While New York is not buying heavy in futures New England is making large purchases of canned goods. The market for canned goods is perhaps due to the fact that quotations have been offered while those of dried fruits have not." Throughout the east and middle west Mr. Sergeant said that there was a prospect of a heavy fruit crop which would mean low prices with which the finished western product will have to compete. He intimated that this might do some injury to the market and demand for western goods. General business conditions east of the Mississippi are good and have taken an optimistic turn. Money can be secured at low rates of interest, though in the sections affected by the coal miners' strike the business men are letting their stocks run down in anticipation of hard times.
