

FRUIT PRICES ADVANCING IS DALLAS REPORT

Dallas, June 21.—With the exception of loganberries fruit prices seem to be on the increase. Royal Anne cherries lead. Those having any quantity of this fruit can get almost any price up to 10 cents a pound. The reason for this rapid advance is now known. The crop is a comparative failure in California. Knowing this before the growers were advised the buyers got contracts from most of the growers at from five to eight cents a pound. It is claimed that a few have sold as high as 10 cents. These sales are understood not to include the holdings of the members of the association, and if this is correct, the members of this organization stand to get the top price. These cherries are used for maraschino purposes.

Prunes are also increasing in price. It is predicted by those who are holding out that the price for 40-50s will go above 10 cents a pound within the next month, and possibly higher at picking time. If this prospect holds out the prunes men will have a most prosperous year. The reason given for the rapid advance in the price of prunes is that the crop of France is a failure, and that other countries have but a small crop.

There has been a considerable increase in the price of strawberries, but the growers did not profit. Lack of rain caused the vines to dry up long before the usual time, with the result that most growers had but from a quarter to half a crop.

Loganberries seem to be the exception. The tendency in their price seems to be down, instead of up. Blackberries are in heavy demand and promise to bring a good price, but it is predicted that logans may go as low as three cents a pound. The reason for this is that the canners have on hand some of last year's crop. The red logan, with its superb flavor, does not meet with popularity in the east and middle west, it is claimed.
