Insurgents

Irish republican army insurgents this afternoon occupied the town hall at Rathmasia, a southern suburb of Dublin.

Operations Extended. Dublin, June 30.—The free state troops engaged in the operations against the irregulars in Dublin were apparently turning their attention today to meeting the insurgent measures in the outlying parts of the city, taking up positions in dozens of buildings here and there, fortifying them strongly.

The city is rapidly becoming a huge fortress with hundreds of snipers firing almost continuously and the peril to people in the streets hourly becoming more acute.

Talbot street, where in front of Morgan's hotel two lorries containing soldiers speeding toward the north wall were fired on by the mutineers, shortly after noon today, is becoming one of the greatest danger points. The fire from the hotel was maintained throughout the morning in the direction of the Nelson pillar, where the Free Staters occupy an opposing position.

Irregulars Active. The irregulars, in their scattered outposts, are displaying renewed activity. In Marlborough street they are occupying a number of houses and have made them resemble fortresses by cutting loopholes in the walls.

The insurgents also are in occupation of 12 hotels and a number of public houses, school buildings, business premises, etc. Several of these are in Parnell Square and other vantage points in central Dublin.

The newspapers appeared this morning but in abridged form. The street cars are continuing operations outside the danger zone, but because of the many snipers about the city, these zones are numerous. The Dublin fire brigade had 21 calls yesterday.

COUNTRY CLUB TO PLAN LARGE IMPROVEMENTS

With the $19,000 fund nearly raised, members of the Illhoes Country club will meet tonight in the Commercial club for the purpose of discussing contemplated improvements in their present building and grounds.

The present club house, located five miles southwest of Salem, was built in 1915 in one of the most picturesque spots of the surrounding vicinity. There are 57 acres of land in connection which is used for a golf course.

The building is in need of repair and the membership since the formation of the club has grown to such an extent that it is found necessary to add tennis courts and other accommodations, among which are a keeper's cottage to be fully equipped to serve lunches and dinners. Employment of a professional golf instructor for members who wish to learn the game or improve their playing is also being contemplated.

Further improvements call for a playground for the children of members of the club and the installation of electric lights and power through the cooperative efforts of the farmers of that vicinity and the club.

The road leading to the club house also must be taken care of and a water system for maintaining the grass greens installed. The fairways need some attention, shrubbery and trees planted, in order that the club might be as large as possible an asset to the city of Salem.

The committee in charge of the funds now has on hand nearly $8200 and expect to raise the remaining amount by tonight.

SONG SHOP OPENS HERE SATURDAY

Tomorrow morning "The Song Shop-Jeff's" one of the newest and most up to date houses offering a complete line of sheet music and one-of-a-kind gift novelties will be formally opened to the public. E. T. Busselle, consulting engineer with offices at San Francisco and Salem, has spent some time in visiting the leading art stores in various cities and has been picking the best of the ideas from each and incorporating them into the Salem shop.

A feature of the place will be that all articles are to have the price tag attached and a person is at liberty to look over the assortment and choose for himself what he wishes. There will be no talkative clerks to try to sell something the purchaser does not wish to buy.

The gift feature is unique in itself in that it is the plan of the management to make them as varied as possible so that it will be impossible for there to be a duplication. American goods will be carried almost exclusively.

The Song Shop is also handling the reproducing piano, "The Ampico," the Cheney phonograph, Gennett records, and a complete line of up to date popular music. A piano player will be at the shop to play any pieces desired to be heard. A magnavox attachment has been secured and concerts which can be heard for several blocks will be given daily from 11 to 12 a. m. and from 4 to 6 p. m. It is also likely that evening concerts will begin soon.

"Jeff," who formerly occupied the place now used by the Song Shop, will continue his business of doing all kinds of photographic work on the second floor.

LANDIS LECTURE TERMED INSULT

Washington, June 30.—Clark Griffith, president of the Washington American league club, today in a statement took exception to the reported lecture recently given by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, baseball commissioner, to members of the New York and Boston American league club, declaring he considered Judge Landis' remarks "that the ball players must not gamble, bootleg or carouse around at night, a direct insult to 98 per cent of the ball players of the country."

Noting that Judge Landis talk to the Yankee and Red Sox had been announced as the first of a series of similar talks, President Griffith declared "there will be no lectures of the above mentioned kind perpetrated on the players of the Washington club."

PACKED HOUSE VIEWS OPENING OF CHAUTAUQUA

A capacity house witnessed the opening performance of Salem's chautauqua season last night at Willamette field, with Paul Fleming magician extraordinary, making his appearance on the Ellsboro-White circuit for the first time in this city.

Tonight Frances Ingram, noted contralto of the Metropolitan opera of New York and the Chicago Operatic association, will appear with her troupe. Miss Ingram has been acclaimed as a star in musical circles and besides her unusual voice has a charming personality.

The performance of Paul Fleming last night included a number of sleight of hand tricks, an exposure of the methods used by spiritualistic mediums, and a demonstration of actual mind reading.

Mr. Fleming made no pretense of having a connection with the spirit world, but his conduct of supposed spiritualistic state writing was much better performed than the usual stunt of the professed medium who must enter a trance, and sometimes even demand darkness, and music and perfumed atmosphere.

Nothing like that with Mr. Fleming. He keeps up a rapid fire conversation, in which he himself does most of the talking, all through his performance and some times his monologue is even better than his tricks. But he puts it over and gets by in fine style.

It's easier to work in the rain than to play in it. Therefore, we're pulling for another dry Sunday.

We will offer a few Specials in Groceries and Meats for Saturday And Remember! Be sure and get a drink of ice cold punch. It's free. Everybody invited. CAPITAL CASH MARKET, 456 State Street

BELLIGERENT TRIO IS HELD

Accused by the police of being drunk and disorderly, Harold Hatch, J. H. Jones and K. S. Edgar, all of Salem, were arrested here last night by Chief of Police Moffitt and Patrolman Georg White. The trio was taken to the police station but Jones and Edgar later dismissed. All were cited to appear before Police Judge Earl Rice in the police court this afternoon.

The men were inclined to be of a disposition to fight, according to the police.

The forty-ninth annual encampment of the Chackamas county Spiritualist Religious association will be held at New Era from July 9 to August 6.

WOERNDLE SAYS CHARGES FALSE

A general denial of the charges of disloyalty to the United States government filed against him by the state bar association, is made by Joseph Woerndle, Portland attorney, in a demurrer filed with the supreme court today asking for a dismissal of the disbarment proceedings instituted against him by the grievance committee of the state bar association.

The disbarment proceedings are based upon the same charges brought against Woerndle in the federal court and on which charges he was acquitted. These charges include the securing of a passport for his own use which was given to one Hans Boehm, alleged German spy, for use in escaping from this country.

The demurrer declares that the court will now set a date for a hearing of arguments in the case.

SPEEDERS ARE FINED HERE

Two men, arrested on speeding charges, paid $10 fines when they pleaded guilty to the charges in the police court yesterday afternoon.

They were Earl Hedrick, 522 north High street, and N. W. Zeller, 890 Cross street. Both were arrested by Motorcycle Patrolman Parrent.
